Governor Must Go to Trial.

Legislature by Overwhelming Majority Decides on His Impeachment.

Second Defeat of Executive Disposes of Remaining Technicalities.

Attorneys Will Try to Show that Charges Constitute No Offense.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) Sept. 22.—Gov. William Sulzer must go to trial. This was decided by the High Court of Impeachment tonight when, by a vote of 51 to 1, its members overruled the motion of the Governor's counsel to dismiss the proceedings on the ground that he was unconstitutionally impeached by the Assembly, because that body was in extra session when the impeachment was brought.

Senator Gottfried H. Wende of Buffalo, Democrat, an ardent supporter of the Governor, cast the solitary nay, while seven members of the court were absent.

The Governor's defeat was the second that has marked the battle waged by his attorneys to annihilate, as far as possible, the impeachment proceedings. Last week the court thwarted their attempt to prevent four members from sitting as members. Their remaining ammunition consists of arguments to prove that certain of the offenses charged against the Governor are not impeachable. These arguments will be heard tomorrow. Tonight's vote was taken in secret session, after an afternoon devoted to speeches by the opposing attorneys.

San Francisco Woman Held in St. Louis for Wearing Soldier's Khaki.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22.—A woman giving the name of Mrs. Florence Bradford of San Francisco was arrested here today for wearing male attire. She wore a soldier's khaki suit. She said that she had relatives in Kansas and Arkansas and was seeking a man she called "Jim," who had promised to marry her. "Jim" went to St. Louis, she said. Having little money, she said, she borrowed the suit and a ticket to St. Louis from a discharged soldier.

Treasury Figures Show Twenty-five Million Dollars Above the Government Estimate.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOKIO, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The national balance sheet for the last fiscal year shows a revenue of more than 50,000,000 yen ($25,000,000) above the estimates and expenditures of almost 8,000,000 yen ($4,000,000) below the estimates. There is consequently a surplus of about 58,000,000 yen ($29,000,000) concerning which an animated discussion is now in progress. There is a difference of opinion as to whether the money should be used in replenishing the funds of the navy, education and riparian works departments or in redeeming public bonds.

FOREIGNERS BESIEGE BANK.

Police and Private Detectives Keep Back Mob With Difficulty at Pittsburgh, Pa.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Sept. 22.—Police and private detectives today withstood with difficulty a mob of angry foreigners who believed their savings had been swept away when the Victor Bank, a State institution at McKee's Rocks, a suburb, was closed by a State bank examiner. Officers of the bank said that Samuel Blier, the cashier, had disappeared last Thursday, and until the books of the institution could be examined its condition could not be ascertained.

The depositors are chiefly foreigners, whose savings vary from a few dollars to thousands.

Pro and Con.

TIGHTENING THE LINES FOR PHILIPPINE ISSUE.

Democrats Plan to Fulfill Their Promises of Independence at an Early Date.

Americans With Great Investments in the Islands Show Grave Concern Since Firing of the First Shot in the Campaign that Is Expected to Press to the Fore With Gov.-Gen. Harrison's Report on Slavery.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lines are being formed for a bitter struggle over the question of the liberation of the Filipino people from American rule.

On one side will be the opponents of such action equipped with material to show that the inhabitants of the Far Eastern Islands are unfit for self-government and that to abandon them would be a crime against civilization.

On the other hand, led by such men as Secretary of State Bryan and Congressman Jones of Virginia, chairman of the House Philippines Committee, are others prepared to convince the country that conditions in the islands are ripe for independence, and for this government to remain in possession would be repugnant to republican ideals and disastrous to American interests.

THE FIRST SHOT.

The first shot in the campaign against independence was fired when the reports of former Commissioner Worcester and Auditor Phipps were made public describing the existence of a condition of slavery and traffic in human beings.

TO COUNTER IT.

The way to an answer to this charge was paved when Secretary of War Garrison cabled an instruction to Gov.-Gen. Harrison, soon to arrive at Manila, to make a thorough investigation and an early report. Mr. Harrison's statement of facts and views thereon are expected to be submitted in time for presentation to Congress when the regular session convenes in December. If Mr. Harrison finds the prevalence of bondage he will be directed to stamp it out at once.

It will be contended by those opposed to independence that the existence of slavery in the island makes it the duty of the United States to remain in control. The Democrats ask why slavery has not already been abolished in view of the fact that since 1898 the islands have been governed by American officers. The slavery aspect of the matter, however, is only one of many to which those fighting independence will call attention in the campaign they have inaugurated. They say the sovereignty of the United States is established in the islands, is accepted by the inhabitants and is acceptable to them.

This is denied by Congressman Jones and men who agree with his view. They claim that the highest aspiration, the one great overmastering desire of the Philippine people is to see their country independent.

It will be argued that if the United States withdraws from the islands they will suffer from a period of chaos, for the reason that the mass of the people are unfit for self-government. Moreover they are divided into numerous groups speaking from ten to fifteen different dialects and have no common medium of communication. To this the reply is made that the Filipinos have had experience in government for nearly 100 years, that there are many highly educated and thoroughly cultured Filipinos and that education has spread rapidly, especially during the years of American occupation.

CENSUS FIGURES.

According to the latest census, the population of the Philippine Islands is 7,700,000. Of these almost 7,000,000 are classified as civilized, and the remaining 700,000 are described as uncivilized. The latter comprise the Moros, Igorrotes and the Bukidnon. It is asserted that the Moros may be regarded as a negligible quantity in considering the capacity of the people for self-government. This likewise is true of the other wild tribes.

The plan of those who desire to grant independence to the Philippines is to establish a liberal and autonomous government at once in the islands and eight years thereafter to grant complete independence.

In return for this great boon the Filipinos are to agree to permit the United States to have naval, coaling and cable stations, to assume and carry into effect the treaty obligations of the United States with Spain, to guarantee that no higher tax shall be levied on the property or business of American citizens than is levied upon natives; to bind themselves to pass no law or enter into any agreement giving trade advantage to countries other than the United States, and to permit American citizens free dom of access to the islands for business and missionary purposes.

This suggested protection of Amer-

URGE SMALL FARMERS TO AVERT MEAT FAMINE.

Packers in Convention Declare Industry Is in Most Precarious Condition in Its History Due to Decrease in Ranges, Increase in Demand and Pernicious Practice of Slaughtering Heifer Calves Indiscriminately.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—The responsibility of averting a future meat famine was put up to small farmers today by speakers of the eighth annual convention of the American Meat Packers' convention here tomorrow. All agreed that if the decrease in meat production of the last ten years is not stopped, the question of the meat supply for the people of the United States will be most serious. Among the remedies suggested by the speakers were:

Every small farmer should raise at least two beef steers a year to offset the decreased production of the great ranches of the West.

The remaining ranges should be cut up in farms to put all farmers on an equal footing.

Development of the hills of New England with their bountiful springs and prevailing shade as a beef producing country.

Substitution of corn for cotton in the Southern States and the consequent development of the hog and cattle production.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORT.

The report of the Executive Committee sounded the first note of the danger of a famine.

"The American meat-packing house situation and that of consumers of meat products in this country are both in a condition more precarious than at any other time in our history," the report stated.

"We are facing conditions in the production of meat food products which would have been thought impossible ten years ago. The shortage of live stock, which has been impressed upon us as packing-house producers for several years, has been intensified during the last year. Our population is growing at its normal rate. We have passed the point where demand has overtaken production and we are now on a basis which shows that demand exceeds the supply of meat food products to such an extent, that we have abnormally high prices for meat food products.

"The farmers are not furnishing nearly a sufficient number of animals to keep the packing-houses in operation on anything like full time and this results in heavy losses, owing to lack of volume of business. And there seems to be no prospect of relief. Despite the higher prices for live stock of all kinds, statistics show that the farmers not only are not increasing their production of meat-food animals, out that such production is decreasing at an appalling rate."

Among other causes for the shortage of meat, the report pointed out, were the loss of meat-food animals through preventable diseases and "the unthinking slaughter of calves and especially heifer calves."

PURE FOOD LAWS.

The committee appointed to confer with government officials regarding pure food laws, in its report, challenged the wisdom of the Federal government dictating what ingredients shall be used in meat products.

"Our principal difficulty has been

THOUSAND CHILDREN, ON STRIKE, SUSPENDED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SYRACUSE, (N. Y.) Sept. 22.—One thousand pupils of three Syracuse high schools were indefinitely suspended late today, following a strike this morning as a protest against new hours of study—9 o'clock in the morning to 2:30 in the afternoon.

The striking pupils, many of whom were girls, escaped through windows and side doors, paraded the business streets and held indignation meetings. At Technical High School one boy attempted to address a number of strikers from the top of a barrel, but was pulled down by the police.

The pupils demand a return to the old hours, from 8:30 a.m., to 12:30 p.m.

DE RICHELIEU AND BRIDE ON WAY TO LOS ANGELES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Duc de Armande de Richelieu, direct descendant of one of the oldest families in France, accompanied by his bride, the Duchess de Richelieu, formerly Miss Eleanor Douglas Wise of Baltimore, are guests at the Fairmont hotel, having arrived last night by steamer from Seattle. They have been touring Canada and the Northwestern United States, where they visited Yellowstone Park and other national landmarks.

The Duc and the Duchess are still honeymooning and say their visit is merely for sightseeing and pleasure.

From San Francisco, after a four-days' visit, they will go to Los Angeles, thence to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, and then on to New York, from which port they will sail home to France.

The marriage of the Duc and Miss Wise was the result of one of the most notable international romances of recent years. The Duc fell in love with Miss Wise while she was studying music in Paris, and was wedded to her last February. The Duchess is a daughter of Admiral Wise of the United States Navy, and a striking beauty.

The Duc is a direct descendant of the family of the famous Cardinal Richelieu of the court of Louis XIII of France. In the Almanach de Gotha he is listed as Marie Odet Jean Armande de Chapelle de Jumilhac, Duc de Richelieu, Duc de Froncas and Marquis de Jumilhac.

COLD WAVE IN THE EAST.

CHICAGO NEVER EXPERIENCED AN EARLIER ONE.

Death Knell of the Straw Hat Is Sounded in the Middle West and Cries for the Janitor to Turn on the Heat Are Rending the "Crisp" Air.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The weather fans adopted a new vocabulary today.

From the refrigerated canneries, the office boys brought forth armfuls of dusty packages, labeled "Chill wind," "crisp air," "shrinking mercury," "cold snap," "sleigh bells," "snow shovel," "blinding blizzard," etc., etc.

"The Weather Bureau promises relief," was one phrase which was not retired. After a summer of hard work, it is believed that great use will be found for it during the coming winter.

Today's temperature was 38 degs. above zero. Nowhere else in the forty years of records in the archives of the Weather Bureau does it appear that September ever produced so low a temperature at so early a date. In other words, it was the coldest earliest day in September on record and also the earliest day of that coldness. That's how it broke the record.

That was the tip for the weather fans. It necessitated the chronicling of the fact that the last straw hat had been shied up into the attic and the ulster and ear muffs exhumed from the cedar chest. It would have been ethically unprofessional to have forgotten to contrast the ice man's exit and the coal man's entrance.

California Beginner in Aviation Drives Machine from Marshfield, Or., and Will Continue from Florence Down the Coast on His Way to Lincoln County Fair.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MARSHFIELD (Or.) Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] On one of the most daring feats of aeroplaning in the country, Edward Steele, driving a hydro-aeroplane, today started on the longest over-the-ocean trip ever attempted on the Pacific Coast and covered close to fifty miles of his scheduled 100-mile jaunt when he landed at Mapleton in Lane county at 10 o'clock, halted by a heavy wind, having made the trip without mishap in close to 50 minutes.

Steele is so enthusiastic over his trip that he anxiously is awaiting daybreak so he can go to Florence on the coast and then turn north for Newport and Yaquina Bay, which he hopes to reach before noon tomorrow.

Aviator Steele is driving the machine owned here by Gorst and King, who have operated it for exhibition and passenger work in and about Coos Bay points. Steele is on his way to the Lincoln county fair, where he is scheduled to give several exhibitions, and it appears that he is about to accomplish one of the most daring feats in aeronautics if he reaches Newport.

Before leaving here Mr. Steele told of his outlined plan to rise to an elevation of about 3000 feet and thus escape the treacherous air currents along the shore line which he was

SALARIES BY UKASE.

New Rule for the Corporations.

Federal Government Decides to Limit the Earnings of Company Officers.

Internal Revenue Order to Be Made a Part of Income Tax Clause.

Alleged Plot Uncovered to Extend Inquisition to Private Affairs.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Further inquiry into the government's activity in corporation internal affairs today demonstrated that the dictation of salaries of executives is a small part of the investigation. Attempts to dictate book-keeping methods were cited today, and also rebuffs from the secretary underlings when the bureau chiefs at Washington made a decision.

AN INSTANCE.

One instance when such a reversal took place was the protest of the United States Brewing Company, a national association with offices in the First National Bank building. It was the custom of the brewers to write off about 20 per cent annually as depreciation in bar fixtures. Inspectors for the bureau of corporations informed the brewers such a depreciation percentage was absurd, and that 10 per cent, or, at most, should be a maximum. This caused the visit to Washington of a delegation, which included President Percy Andrae and Vice-President Maurice B. Landerberg of the United States Brewing Company. They held a conference with the internal revenue and Treasury officials, and the result was an agreement that 20 per cent depreciation could be written off as the brewers had maintained.

DISMAL FEATURE.

A dismal feature for every one concerned, if the inquisitorial practices be permitted to continue, was seen by Levy Mayer of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian and Platt, general counsel for the brewing interests, today.

"Under the law corporations are subject to visitation and inspection at all times by any deputy or inspector," said Mr. Mayer.

"It is, of course, impossible for those subordinate officials, or their superiors, to have expert business, commercial, manufacturing, and financial knowledge of the endless number and kinds of corporations. Those officials make reports, which, in effect, and practice, involve passing upon most complicated and important questions.

"Guided by those reports, assessments and income taxes of corporations are frequently arbitrarily increased. Whether the increase be right or wrong, it must be paid; otherwise, the corporation's property is seized by the government. There is no defense known in law against making the payment. It is only by subsequent technical proceedings in the offices of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and the Secretary of the Treasury and in the courts that the increase in tax, if illegally exacted, can be recovered. These processes frequently involve years of delay and entail heavy expense.

"But this difficulty is not a marker to what the trouble will be when the new income tax law, which applies to individuals as well as to corporations, becomes effective. When that law is in force all deductions made by corporations and individuals whose income exceeds $3000 yearly, whether those deductions be made for expenses of conducting business, salaries, losses, depreciation in values, maintenance, repairs, improvements, etc., will all be subjected to the supervision, direction and control of officials of all ranks and degrees.

"I can see in the near future," Mr. Mayer concluded, "more work for lawyers, more burdens for courts, more fees to be paid by willing or unwilling clients and, of course, a big increase in the roster of Federals officials. This is rather an attractive vista, but only from a possible professional standpoint."

CORRECTIVE MEASURES.

In explanation of the attempted forcible readjustment of corporation salaries as told, the Federal officials at Washington announced the following corrective measures would be enforced, justifying their action on alleged attempts at tax dodging:

(1.) The Commissioner of Internal Revenue announces that the government will supervise the fixing of salaries by corporations so that they may not escape taxation on their net incomes through the payment of excessive salaries to directors and stockholders who would have to pay only the individual income tax.

(2.) The Congressional conferees on the tariff bill will insert a provision in the income tax sections granting the Commissioner of Internal Revenue full power to prosecute all corporation and income tax dodgers.

OSBORNE'S STATEMENT.

W. H. Osborne, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, says that salaries commensurate with duties performed would be allowed directors and stockholders of corporations. He will grant to the various income tax collectors the right to judge whether a salary is commensurate with the duties performed or not. If not, the excess determined upon will be charged to HUERTA TO HEAD CABINET OF DIAZ ADMINISTRATION.

Maneuvering of Mexican President Has Put Wilson in Difficult Position, as It Is Now Certain General Will Dominate the Next Regime in Southern Republic as Completely as He Is Doing at Present.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Huerta of Mexico is creating a condition which will make it extremely difficult for the Wilson administration to refuse recognition to the government of Gen. Felix Diaz, which will be organized as a result of the elections to be held next month.

This feature of the Mexican situation is one which is giving the administration the most concern. There is no longer any doubt that Huerta will not be a candidate to succeed himself, and that he will carry out his pledge to hold elections the middle of next month.

Thus his record will be perfectly straight, for when he assumed the provisional Presidency he announced he would not be a candidate for the permanent office, and later he issued a call for the Presidential elections in October.

WILSON'S DEMANDS.

In the demands made by President Wilson upon Gen. Huerta he required him not to be a Presidential candidate, and to arrange for free and fair elections. While not giving any satisfaction to this government, Huerta has adhered to his original programme, and thus has met the expressed views of the United States. He has now said the army will not be allowed to interfere in the elections, and that he has no candidate. Nevertheless, it is certain as anything can be in Mexico that Diaz will be elected. In return for this favor Diaz will give Huerta the most responsible position in his Cabinet, so that the new administration will really be dominated by the present provisional President. If the United States dared to do so, it would frown upon the candidacy of Diaz. It has said that Huerta shall not be a candidate, and the provisional President cleverly turned this to his advantage by declaring that the American government was exercising the power of a protectorate over the Mexican people, and if its views were heeded the Mexican people would cease to be independent.

This statement of Huerta would be further confirmed if representations were made against the Diaz candidacy. Under the circumstances President Wilson and Secretary Bryan can do nothing but sit back and await the result of the elections.

GOMEZ'S CANDIDACY.

Vasquez Gomez says, however, that while he will be a candidate, he is not going to enter any campaign for election in Mexico as long as there is fighting going on and President Huerta is in power. A fair election under the present conditions would be quite impossible, he says.

Dr. Vasquez Gomez was once an adherent of Madero, but parted company with him soon after he took office as President of Mexico. Last year he announced his candidacy for the Presidency. Pascual Orozco, the leader of the revolution in the north last year, was reported to have refused to recognize Vasquez Gomez as revolutionary President.

WILSON IN WASHINGTON.

Henry Lane Wilson, Ambassador to Mexico, whose resignation will take effect on October 14, has returned to Washington from his home in Indianapolis, and will be here for several days. The Ambassador visited the State Department today, but did not see Secretary Bryan. He said his business was wholly personal.

Ambassador Wilson refused to discuss for publication any views of the Mexican situation as it has developed since his resignation was accepted. It is known, however, that his opinion of the wisdom of the policy of the Wilson administration in its attempt to adjust the Mexican situation has not changed in the least.

When asked about the report that he was to take the lecture platform and thus discuss the Mexican situation with criticism of the policy of President Wilson, the Ambassador said that while he was thinking of delivering lectures on Mexico, they would be purely academic in character, and would not contain any discussion of policies. He said that under no circumstances would he think of revealing any information which he might have secured solely through his position as Ambassador. The Ambassador said he also might return to Mexico to attend to certain personal matters some time this coming winter.

Americans Who Left Mexico Under Orders of State Department Demand Protection of Property.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Perkins has called the attention of the State Department to protests of Charles F. O'Brien, Los Angeles, and others at San Jose, who say they left Mexico under orders from the State Department, leaving valuable property behind, and asking what is the position of the department in connection with this matter. The latest protest, wired from San Jose, is as follows:

"Complying with urgent demands of Consular Agent Vail of Guaymas to leave Mexico immediately, our manager and superintendent abandoned our property in Yaqui Valley, Sonora, Mexico. We have grains and hay in warehouses, value $45,000; implements and machinery, $16,000; livestock, $9000; buildings, $8000; furnishings, $2000. Warring forces had respected American life and property before this demand to vacate.

"We ask that you use your influence to have the State Department take immediate action to protect our property until our representative, ordered out by the government, can return; besides our property, over two and one-half millions of destructible property belonging to Americans abandoned under like circumstances in Yaqui district.

PLAN CAPTURE OF MONTERREY

REBELS' DIPLOMATIC CORPS IS CALLED IN CONFERENCE.

Presence of Carranza Is Needed Immediately to Conduct Campaign Owing to the Lack of Cooperation on Part of the Constitutionalist Division Commanders.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PIEDRAS NEGRAS, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Members of the Constitutionalist diplomatic corps were called into conference with the field officers this afternoon to devise plans for the capture of Monterey. Troops already have been mobilized for this purpose and it is planned to invest the city in a manner similar to that adopted at Torreon.

Owing to complications that have arisen the last few days, word has been sent to Venustiano Carranza at Hermosillo that his presence is needed to conduct the campaign, owing to the alleged lack of co-operation on the part of the division commanders.

If permission is granted Don Venustiano to pass through American territory, it is expected that he will arrive within a week. Despite the completion of preparations for a decisive battle, the troops scattered through the southern and central parts of the state have been held in check for reasons not made public, but which are said to be in line with orders received from the commander-in-chief.

According to reports received this morning, the only line of railroad running to the border which has remained in control of the Federals has been cut near Jarita Junction, fifty miles west of Laredo.

About four and a half miles of track was torn up by means of a locomotive captured by the Carranzistas after a skirmish with the Federals guarding the branch line from Jarita to Columbia. The Constitutionalists believe that all rail communications between Monterey and Laredo will be interrupted for several weeks, owing to the lack of material to make repairs.

Several members of the United States secret service are on the ground investigating the manner in which the Carranzistas obtain arms and other contraband despite the strong border patrol that is now maintained.

No further actions have been taken by the authorities at Washington to enforce treaty stipulations regarding the collection of a head tax and Consul Blocker is awaiting information before again taking up the question with the Constitutionalist leaders.

FRIGHTFUL WORK BY THE REBELS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LAREDO (Tex.) Sept. 22.—Fifty persons were killed when rebels dynamited a passenger train on the Mexican National Railway six miles south of Saltillo, Tex., on Friday afternoon, according to official reports to Mexican Federal headquarters in Nuevo Laredo today. The train was then looted and the surviving passengers robbed, it is said.

Forty Federal soldiers and ten second-class passengers comprised the official death list. The number of injured was not given.

W. W. Mervain of San Francisco, the only American on the train, is said to have escaped injury, but was robbed.

Two dynamite mines were set off by electricity, it is said. The first-class coach was only derailed, but the baggage, express and two second-class coaches were blown to pieces.

REBELS IN HERMOSILLO TO FORM NEW REPUBLIC.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NOGALES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The rebels are taking steps in Hermosillo to form a new republic comprising the northern tier of Mexican States, Sonora, Sinaloa, Chihuahua, Durango, Coahuila, Tamaulipas, Nuevo Leon, San Luis Potosi. Venustiano Carranza will be the provisional President of the new republic, with Hermosillo as capital, and the new republic will ask for the recognition of the United States. Carranza is now forming his Cabinet. Representatives of the rebel junta are here on their way to Hermosillo to form part of the new Cabinet. The States in question comprise more than a third of the area of Mexico and are rich in mineral and agricultural resources. The rebels say they will count on the sympathy and assistance of frontier Americans and the present administration.

Numbers of Americans favor the move, saying that eventually the States mentioned will join the United States. The sentiment of 99 per cent. of the Mexican people opposed secession and practically the whole population, including men, women and children, will rise up and prevent the dismemberment of the Mexican republic in the pronouncement.

Telegrams have been received from different parts of Mexico stating that even school children have asked for arms to prepare for this emergency.

Venustiano Carranza will arrive in Nogales, Sonora, on the 26th inst.

Juan Sanchez Azcona, rebel Secretary of the State of Sonora, and Ignacio L. Pesqueira, former rebel Governor, arrived in Nogales, Sonora, tonight.

When the time came for the court to give its decision Presiding Judge Cullen announced that he did not feel inclined to use the power granted him under the rules to be the first to express an opinion.

ORDERS COURT CLEARED.

"My brethren," he said, "you will appreciate that the point which has been discussed goes to the very foundation of this proceeding. If decided in one way the proceeding must necessarily stop. You have the power to clear the court for private consultation under the rules."

This was done on motion of Judge Collin, but the vote was later announced in a brief public session and the record of the proceedings was immediately made public. It shows that a tentative roll call on the motion was taken immediately and that the presiding Judge delivered a long opinion on the points at issue when his name was called, thirteenth on the list.

Judge Cullen's opinion in substance was that the provision of the Constitution, which limited the acts of the Legislature in extra session to such subjects as were recommended to it by the Governor should be given a reasonable construction. It upheld the contention of the prosecution that the provision referred to the Legislature as a whole and not to the Assembly as an independent body.

"So construed," Judge Cullen said, "these subjects all relate to what the Legislature as a body can do, and not to the power vested in one branch of the Legislature."

THE ROLL CALL.

The legislative roll call brought from Senator Wende the only negative vote. The call was followed by a viva voce vote and then with a final roll call, with the same result. Wende explained his vote in a brief argument, in which he held that when the Assembly adjourned sine die some weeks before reconvening to bring the impeachment articles, "they foreclosed their right to act upon any question of impeachment when called together in extraordinary session."

Attorney Louis J. Marshall continued the argument which he did not finish when the court adjourned on Friday, in which he held that the Governor was unconstitutionally impeached.

"With all solemnity," he said, "we express confidence that this tribunal will not be swayed from a proper and due regard of the mandate of the Constitution by the unworthy suggestion that to do so is to permit a technicality to triumph. To dismiss the articles of impeachment which have been presented to this tribunal, for lack of jurisdiction would not be a triumph of technicality. It would be a victory of the Constitution and the law. It would be a vindication of that sacred instrument to which we all owe fealty."

Answering the argument that the Assembly exercised not a legislative but a judicial function, Mr. Marshall held that an impeachment was equivalent to an indictment and the Senate exercised no other function than that of a grand jury.

JUDGE PARKER REPLIES.

Judge Alton B. Parker, on behalf of the Assembly Board of Managers, replying to the contentions of Attorney Marshall, argued that the Assembly and not the Legislature was the impeaching body; that its act was a judicial and not a legislative function, and that the Governor has nothing to do with the subject of impeachment.

In answer to the first claim of the defense that the Assembly had no power to institute the impeachment proceedings, Judge Parker said:

"Such impeachment is not, in any sense, a legislative, but a judicial subject, and proceeding. This is not an act of a legislative body. It is not the expression of legislative will. It is in no sense a rule or guide, after the manner of a legislative act for the control of future conduct, but a complaint, an accusation and calling to an account by a quasi-judicial tribunal of a person for past misconduct. It is of the precise nature of a proceeding of a grand jury in the finding of an indictment. Nor is there any more connection or relation between an impeachment by the Assembly and a session of the Legislature than there is between such session and the ordinary proceeding of a grand jury in the finding of an indictment."

"The Assembly, whether assembled under constitutional provision or call of the Governor, has no power of impeachment. The sole power to institute the proceedings is vested in and belongs to the Assembly exclusively and alone, a body entirely separate and apart from the Legislature as a whole. The Assembly does not constitute the Legislature any more than a single planet does the solar system.

"The Governor has nothing whatever to do with the subject of impeachment. The sole power of impeachment is vested in and belongs to that body or tribunal called the Assembly. And this without limitation or restraint whatever as to the time, circumstances or place, whether at a session of the Legislature or otherwise, except the bare condition that impeachment shall be by vote of the majority of the members of the Assembly elected.

"In short, the objection to the validity of this impeachment, stripped of the verbiage by which it is surrounded, rests, as it must rest, on the perfectly palpable absurdity that the Assembly is not an Assembly when the Legislature is in session—a proposition not only without foundation but point blank contrary to every word and inference to be drawn from the Constitution in relation thereto."

HATRED OF AMERICANS.

Missionaries From the United States Offend the Chinese by Turning Informers on Them.

PEKING (China,) Sept. 22.—Although the British and French missionaries who had taken refuge in Fu Chow have returned to their mission homes in Hingh Wa and Sien Yu in the province of Fo Kien, the American missionaries remain here because the Chinese authorities declare they cannot guarantee their lives.

Americans are especially disliked by Gen. Hwang Liang, who during the anti-Manchu revolt proclaimed himself the sixteenth Ming Emperor. Hwang Liang had encouraged the replanting of the poppy in the province. The American missionaries informed the government of this and urged military action.

After the poppies had been uprooted Hwang Liang's followers regained control of several districts where they persecuted or assassinated a number of Christian converts. When the town of Hingh Wa was attacked by Hwang Liang the missionaries took refuge in Fu Chow.

The American legation has vainly urged the Chinese government to protect American citizens in China with the aid of the military. At the legation it is considered that the Chinese officials are taking advantage of American friendship in various pending cases in which the legation cannot obtain satisfaction.

EAST SIDE IN MOURNING FOR ITS FAMOUS BARD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The little shop of Eliakum Zunser in the dark basement at No. 156 East Broadway was closed today. Eliakum, bard, Eliakum, the sweet singer, whose folk songs are sung by millions of Jews the world over, is dead.

To the small flat where he lived at No. 171 East Broadway, overlooking Seward Park, many persons went to stand today by the plain coffin and speak of him whose songs had made them weep and laugh; of him who in the days of intellectual darkness that had settled on the Jews in Russia fifty years ago, was the first to shed light about him by his writings.

He was born in the village of Vilna, Russia, on the second day in Cheshwan, October 28, 1836.

He wrote his first verses at the age of 13. His fame soon grew, and he became known as "Eliakum, the wedding bard." He was married, and seemed to be on the road to an honored and happy life. Ten children were born, when in 1871 the cholera came and wiped out his family. First the children died, and then his wife, and over her grave he wrote:

"Here rests a loving woman, young in years,
Woe the loss!
Her ten children hath she buried in her life,
And childless she descended after them."

His great grief ripened his song, and his best songs were written in the period just succeeding. He wrote also one of the first Yiddish dramas, "The Sale of Joseph." He married again, and another period of happiness came that brightened his work. He was then recognized as the father of Yiddish literature.

The riots, in which many Jews were slain and plundered, came in 1882, and more songs were written by Zunser in an effort to hearten his people. He wrote them "The Pyramid" and "The Eternal People."

Finally he became so popular as the Jewish national poet that the government looked with suspicion at his influence over the masses. He came to America in 1890.

On his arrival in this country he went first on a concert tour through the largest cities of the East, where he sang for his people the songs he had written for their oppressed brothers in Russia. Then he settled in New York.

The funeral will be held in the Educational Alliance rooms Wednesday morning, and it is expected that it will be one of the largest ever held on the East Side.

NAME MILLIONAIRE'S WIFE IN DIVORCE NEGOTIATIONS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. Joseph A. Blake, the noted surgeon who was at the head of the Presbyterian Hospital, and professor of surgery in the College of Physicians and Surgeons until he resigned both positions last June, is living apart from his wife, Mrs. Catharine Ketcham Blake, and, according to George Gordon Battle, who returned to New York today from Europe, negotiations for a legal separation have been carried on by Mrs. Blake.

Mr. Battle said:

"Efforts have been made to reconcile doctor and his wife, and I, as her legal representative, have done all I could do to bring them together. Mutual friends of both have been appealed to to help straighten things out, but these efforts have been unavailing."

Mr. Battle said that a very prominent society woman, wife of a millionaire, had been mentioned by Mrs. Blake in connection with the legal proceedings. Mrs. Blake told him that this woman was one of the causes of the disagreement between herself and her husband, but not the sole cause.

Blake is one of the best known of American surgeons. He was born in San Francisco fifty-three years ago and took his bachelor degree from Yale in 1885, where he also earned degree of Doctor of Philosophy a year later. Dr. and Mrs. Blake were married in 1900 and have two sons. She was Miss Catharine Ketcham.

THAW MEETS HIS MOTHER ON EVE OF NEW HEARING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CONCORD (N. H.) Sept. 22.—On the eve of the proceedings which are expected to decide whether Harry Thaw shall be returned to the Matteawan asylum, he was joined here tonight by his mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, and by his brother, Josiah.

"I have come to give Harry the support of his mother's presence in his fight to keep away from the madhouse," Mrs. Thaw said.

It was the second attempt of the fugitive's mother to meet him since his escape from Matteawan. Although in feeble health, she had made the long trip from her home at Cresson, Pa., to Montreal a few weeks ago in the expectation that Harry would be brought into court there. But the unexpected action of the Dominion immigration authorities in banishing him from Canada, which resulted in his coming to this State, made her journey there fruitless.

Harry greeted his mother and brother affectionately just outside his rooms, and then the party retired to the apartments which had been reserved for Mrs. Thaw. There they spent much of the evening, while downstairs the large staff of Thaw attorneys went over their plan of campaign. Tomorrow's proceedings are based upon the request of the State of New York for the extradition of Thaw on a charge of conspiracy in connection with his escape from Matteawan.

The only point definitely set tonight about the hearing before Gov. Samuel D. Felker was that it will be held in the Senate chamber at the State House, beginning at 11 a.m.

ican interests will not satisfy the men who have put their capital and brains into the commercial development of the islands.

Up-to-date systems of lighting and street transportation have been inaugurated in the city of Manila in which millions of American money is invested. Americans are building harbor works at Manila costing $4,000,000 and harbor works at Iloilo and Cebu. Railroads have been built and others have been surveyed. An American bank is operating. American lumber firms, printing establishments, cocoanut factories and other industrial establishments have been established. American lawyers, physicians, dentists and merchants are found everywhere.

These Americans are bitterly opposed to the abandonment of the islands. Their frame of mind is similar to that of the army and navy. Millions have been spent by the government for fortification of Manila and other strategic points. The navy holds that possession of the islands is far more desirable than the possession of a few bases.

Two Old Ladies From North Carolina Drop in on President at White House.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two old ladies with scant gray hair and old-fashioned poke bonnets wandered timidly into the executive office this afternoon.

"Can we see the President?" one of them asked the President's doorman. "We knew him when he was a little boy."

In the crowded office to which they were ushered they said they were Misses Ellen and Eliza Bellamy of Wilmington, N. C.

"Yes, we've lived in Wilmington nearly all our lives," said Miss Ellen. "We knew the President when he was a bright little boy and loved to go bicycle riding. We knew his family, too."

"Once," broke in Miss Eliza, "I sat up with his mother nearly all night when she was sick. Tommy—that's the President, you know—was dreadfully worried."

Just at this moment the President appeared in the doorway. He looked carelessly about until his eyes fell upon the two old ladies. Then, smiling, with outstretched hands, he came forward, and while politicians and other important personages waited about fifteen minutes, the Chief Executive exchanged reminiscences in a corner with his visitors.

The report declared that the action of the government in changing the character of labels on canned goods, after they once had been accepted by the government, cost the packing industry $250,000 annually.

Speakers at the national convention of butter and egg men urged the need of national legislation to regulate the storage of these products, in order to avoid repeated charges of price-raising and monopoly.

"This conference should advocate national legislation on the subject of shortage," J. L. Homigman of New York said in an address. "If every State has its own laws with regard to the length of time we may keep eggs and produce, we will soon have a condition like those caused by the present divorce laws."

SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 22.—Five plants are being constructed in Southeastern Alaska for the collection and shipment to eastern markets of fresh fish by way of Prince Rupert, B. Three large Chicago packing-houses, which have not hitherto been interested in Alaska salmon packing, are said to be negotiating for canneries.

RENO (Nev.) Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Divorced Saturday after charging his first wife, Anna T. Ster, with desertion and infidelity, Mathias F. Ster, formerly of Los Angeles, secured a marriage license today almost before the ink on his decree was dry. He gave Wadsworth, Nev., as his residence. His wife to be is Mrs. Zelma P. the net earnings of the corporation and so taxed.

SIMMONS WILLING.

Senator Simmons, chairman of the Congressional Conference Committee, now considering the income tax section of the tariff bill, stated that conferees would grant the Commissioner of Internal Revenue full powers to prosecute dodgers.

"We are going to make it impossible for them to dodge by the usual ruses," the Senator said.

TO GET ITS DUES.

Commissioner Osborne says he intends to see that the government gets its just due from both the income and corporation tax provisions. The internal revenue collectors who will have charge of the income tax collection will profit much by the experience of their predecessors in collecting the corporation tax authorized by the present tariff law. The first year this provision was in effect a great majority of the corporations made fairly accurate returns and were taxed accordingly. Statistics at the internal revenue office, however, show a startling decline in taxable income since that year. The difference between the fiscal years ending June 30, 1911, and June 30, 1912, was nearly $22,000,000.

Investigation by the government showed that in many cases this decrease was due to the fact that the directors and stockholders were paid large salaries for little or no work done. These salaries were not taxable under the corporation tax law. Thus, the net earnings of previous years were eaten up in huge salaries paid those in control of the corporations.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue took a hand and ordered some of the high salaried officials to appear before him, forcing many of them to disgorge following their admission that their salaries were not commensurate with the work performed, and adjusting the salaries to a commensurate rate. It was impossible to make a general ruling, however.

In 1911, according to the commissioner's report, all mercantile, coal, lumber, grain, produce and other dealers, not classed as producers or manufacturers, reported a total net income of $385,140,595. There were 58,223 corporations reporting. In 1912 62,680 dealers in the same classifications reported a net income of but $363,306,865.

GRADUATED SCALE.

Under the proposed law a corporation will be taxed on a graduated scale, the same as an individual. If the individual who draws dividends from the corporation has an income which exceeds the exempt limit, he will be taxed again. Thus, if one man owns practically all the stock in an incorporated company, which clears $40,000 a year, the net income of that corporation will be taxed. Then, when the owner draws his $40,000 profits he will be taxed on his income. A simple method to avoid this double taxation would be for the owner of the concern to vote himself a salary covering more than the profits, leaving the corporation without a net income, and placing only one tax on his salary.

To prevent this ruse the Congressional conferees will probably insert a provision in the bill giving the Commissioner of Internal Revenue the right to prosecute such dodgers and all other dodgers. To prevent a party of stockholders from pooling interests and paying the profits over to several stockholders in the shape of salaries, for later distribution, another provision will be inserted in the bill in all likelihood.

LONG BEACH PASTOR INJURED.

The Rev. G. W. Grannis With Thirteen Others, Hurt in Train Wreck on the Great Northern.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EVERETT (Wash.) Sept. 22.—Fourteen passengers on Great Northern Overland train No. 4 were injured, two seriously, near Mukilteo, south of Everett, this morning, through the breaking of an axle of the tender of the locomotive. The collapse of the axle was followed by the ditching of the locomotive, tender and baggage car.

Before a flagman could be sent back to post a warning signal, westbound Overland No. 3 came along at full speed on the other track. Some of the wreckage of the locomotive and baggage car lay on the other track, and the Seattle-bound train crashed into it. Most of the damage was in east-bound train.

All the passengers were brought to the hospital here. The baggageman of the east-bound train was seriously hurt.

CURRENCY BILL SHOWS FLAWS

More It Is Studied the Worse It Appears.

Need of Amendment Seen by Senator Reed.

Untermyer Looses Battery of Sharp Criticism.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—An attempt to hurry along consideration of the currency bill in the Senate Banking and Currency Committee today at the end of a day of desultory questioning of Samuel Untermyer, who was counsel for the Pujo Money Trust Committee of the last Congress, Senator Shafroth of Colorado tried vainly to get an agreement to close the hearings on Saturday, October 4. Senators Reed of Missouri, Bristow of Kansas, and Weeks of Massachusetts declared against any attempt to limit the consideration of the bill.

Senator Reed said hearings were bringing out points of the bill which showed the necessity for amendment and that he was in favor of hearing every one who had any important suggestions to offer. Senator Bristow insisted that the small country banks should be heard, and Senator Weeks said that he had requests from the Massachusetts bankers who wished to appear.

Senators Hitchcock and Bristow throughout the day insisted that the bill should confer on member banks in the system, as a matter of right, the authority to go to the Federal reserve banks and demand the discount of their paper. Mr. Untermyer opposed this, and also condemned a scheme proposed by Senator Bristow whereby the regional reserve banks would be eliminated and the member banks allowed to go directly to the government to secure currency on their commercial paper.

The lawyer agreed with Senator Nelson that the reserve notes should be made redeemable in gold and not "in gold or lawful money," as provided by the bill.

Mr. Untermyer said the bill guaranteed to the banks entering the system a monopoly of the banking business of the country.

"In that respect it is more onerous than any banking system in the world," said he. Mr. Untermyer added that by using his "vast oriental imagination" he could conceive of a situation in which the Federal reserve board, by fixing the discount rate, could bring about a panic of easy money for political purposes. He said he believed the minimum limit, of ½ per cent. discount rate was too low.

Senator Bristow declared the small country bankers would be unfairly treated under the bill. Mr. Untermyer and Chairman Owen endeavored to show that the country banks would be able to hold and use their reserves to much better advantage than they now do. Mr. Untermyer declared that by making commercial paper a liquid asset, the bill would lead away from New York millions of country money now placed there in loans on stock exchange collateral, the only collateral at present easily converted.

Senators Reed and Weeks led Mr. Untermyer through a discussion of much of the material embraced in the Pujo money trust report relating to the concentration of credits.

Weeks objected to Untermyer's reference to Lee Higginson & Company of Boston as an instance of a concern exerting a "Morgan influence" over banks. The witness insisted that he believed the bill would operate to dissipate the concentration of control of the financial system.

Mr. Untermyer suggested an amendment to restrict the powers of State banks entering the system to conform to the powers conferred on national banks by the bill. He declared flatly against long-term securities as a basis for currency. Even government bonds, he said, as a currency basis, were "unsound and unscientific." He attacked the definition of "commercial paper" in the bill.

"That is not commercial paper at all. Commercial paper, according to European standards, is an evidence of the sale or purchase of merchandise."

THE REAL AND UNREAL

The value of newspaper advertising is not the outgrowth of the mere distribution of a paper, but it is dependent upon the extent to which a newspaper is read, and the character of its readers.

If promiscuous distribution be all that is necessary to make the advertising columns of a paper profitable to its advertising patrons, a thoroughly circulated handbill would get the same results.

The confidence of its readers, and their ability to purchase advertised articles, are what make one newspaper productive of better results to its advertising patrons than another.

The Times is the only newspaper in Los Angeles that does not make a practice of permitting agents, newsboys and dealers to return unsold copies of its issues. Neither does it issue a Sunday paper Saturday night, send incomplete editions to out-of-town patrons, pad or misbrand its editions or resort to any other subterfuge to deceive its advertisers or inflate its circulation.

The Times prints only enough copies to supply its actual patronage and its circulation has less waste, and is more stable, permanent and genuine than that of any other newspaper in Southern California. The journal is read and is believed in by all sorts, classes and conditions of people, and it thoroughly and completely covers the richest of all fields for the advertiser.

Times advertisements are eloquent and effective salesmen, and no successful advertising campaign can be conducted in Los Angeles and Southern California without their assistance.

The widespread popularity of The Times among big and live advertisers is shown by the regularity with which it exceeds all other local newspapers in the volume of display and classified advertising printed, and in the number of separate patrons.

Don't be deceived by exaggerated and misleading circulation claims, but test the pulling power of the various mediums which solicit your patronage, and you will then follow the great majority of live advertisers and concentrate in The Times, which surpasses all its competitors in both quantity and quality of circulation.

British Consul Attempts to Protect Teachers.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—State Department officials said today that the reported seizure of the American mission school at Koritsa, Albania, by Greeks, would raise a diplomatic question, as the status of American institutions in Albania has not been determined under the new territorial delimitations growing out of the war between the Balkan allies and Turkey and the later conflict among the allies themselves.

Under a convention with Turkey, made when that nation exercised sovereignty over Albania, Americans, in addition to their rights under treaties of commerce and travel, were given extra territorial rights, which protected, among other things, educational institutions.

No official report of the seizure of the school had been received today, but the State Department is prepared to protest to the Greek government vigorously for the protection of Americans and their property in Albania, under the new political order.

VIENNA, Sept. 22.—The Greek authorities at Koritsa, in Albania, seized today the American mission school there, where instruction is given to nearly 400 Albanian girls. The information reached here in a telegram from Avlona, the principal seaport of Albania on the Adriatic Sea.

The Greeks also have arrested and persecuted a large number of Albanians who recently returned to Koritsa from America and other foreign countries, releasing them from detention only when Albanians promised to join the agitation for the incorporation of the district under the Greek flag.

The British Consul at Monastir has entered a vigorous protest with the Greek government on behalf of the Americans. Last week Greek officials at Koritsa endeavored to take forcible possession of the American mission school building, but the housekeeper in charge refused to hand over the keys. The Greek soldiers beat her mercilessly and then carried her off to prison.

Federal Judge In Kansas Holds Commercial Feature of Mann Act Must Be Proved.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WICHITA (Kas.) Sept. 22.—An interpretation of the Mann white slave act by Federal Judge John C. Pollock, that seemed at variance with that of Federal Judge Van Fleet of San Francisco, in the Maury Diggs and F. Drew Caminetti trials, caused Lee Baker of Peabody, Kas., who was arraigned here today on a white slavery charge, to change his plea from "guilty" to "not guilty."

Judge Pollock said the Mann act applied only to commercial features of the interstate transportation of women. Baker, through his attorney, had pleaded guilty, when the judge asked:

"Do you base this plea on the interpretation of the law in the Diggs case?"

Baker's attorney replied that he did, and said he had expected the same ruling in this case.

"Under the law as I construe it," the judge said, "the commercial feature must be proved. It was not the aim of Congress to prevent the personal escapades of any man. If the government cannot prove this man took the girl to another State for a commercial purpose, I shall instruct the jury to acquit him. The jurisdiction of the government in cases of this kind is based on the commercial laws."

Baker then pleaded not guilty and the case went to trial.

Band of California Nobles of San Francisco Will Give Series of Concerts in State.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OAKLAND, Sept. 22.—Announcement was made today of plans formulated at a meeting here yesterday for raising funds for the pilgrimage of California Nobles of the Mystic Shrine to the Imperial Council of the Order at Atlanta, Ga., next May. Representatives of the temples at San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland attended the conference, which mapped out details of a band patrol tour of the State next month. The band, consisting of 120 pieces, drawn from the bands of all four temples, will give a series of concerts for the purpose of raising between $75,000 and $100,000 to defray the expenses of the Atlanta trip and to wage a campaign to secure the 1915 council for San Francisco.

Complaints Against the Bell Company Are Rolling in to Atty.-Gen. McReynolds.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Complaints against the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which is urging Atty.-Gen. McReynolds to investigate the so-called Bell telephone trust, continue to flood the Department of Justice with information regarding the telephone situation.

To emphasize the significance of protests from independent telephone interests and the attention they warrant, one complainant pointed out that there were 20,000 independent telephone companies in the United States, with an aggregate capital of $300,000,000, and with almost as many subscribers as their big rival.

The Attorney-General has not yet reached a decision whether he will await a conclusion of the Interstate Commerce Commission's telephone inquiry or institute an independent investigation at once.

TO OBVIATE TRADE WARS.

Wilson Would Keep Contracts Made by Taft.

Tariff Tinkers Confronted by Unforeseen Perils.

Europe May Impose Penalties on United States.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Apprehension lest the Democratic tariff bill lead foreign nations to impose tariff penalties against the United States as soon as the new law goes into effect caused administration and Senate leaders today to plan the introduction of a joint resolution in congress making specific provision for the continuation of existing relations with all countries until President Wilson has time to negotiate new trade agreements.

The seriousness of the situation that will confront the administration was impressed upon Chairman Simmons of the Senate Finance Committee today by State Department officials. It was pointed out that the trade relations established by President Taft's proclamations under the Payne-Aldrich law of 1909 would terminate as soon as the new law becomes effective, and that the United States then would face the possibility of having higher tariff rates applied against its exports by many countries. While the tariff law would give the President authority to negotiate trade and reciprocity treaties, it would also require him to apply special penalty rates against any countries discriminating against the United States.

To prevent the possibility of trade wars, the State Department is now drafting a join resolution, which will provide that existing relations shall continue for four months.

This will not keep in effect the tariff rates of the Payne-Aldrich law, but will assure to foreign countries that the new penalty provision of the Underwood-Simmons bill will not be applied to them until a reasonable time has been allowed the President and the State Department to negotiate new trade treaties. Practically all nations having any foreign commerce will be asked to enter into such pacts.

At the White House and later at the State Department, Senator Simmons pointed out to administration officials that it would be impossible to insert the provision desired as an amendment to the tariff bill because the introduction of any new matter is precluded while the bill is in conference. The provision will be put through Congress as a separate act, supplementary to the tariff law.

Senate amendments to the tariff bill would authorize the President to assess extra duties on coffee, tea, fish, chinaware, silks, laces, jewelry, sugar and many other items coming from countries not treating the United States as a "favored nation."

While the joint resolution could not prevent other countries from imposing higher tariffs against the United States, it is expected that it will induce them to withhold action, temporarily, at least.

DISPUTED POINTS.

Disputed points between the Senate and House in the tariff bill narrowed today to such chief features as the income tax, the tax on cotton futures and the general administrative provisions.

Democratic managers expected to send the conference report to the House by Thursday.

President Wilson told callers today that his conferences with leaders led him to believe all differences would be smoothed out and he would sign the bill this week.

"I've got my pen sharpened," said the President.

Democratic leaders from the South are said to be agreed on the cotton futures tax compromise proposed by Representative Lever and indorsed by Postmaster-General Burleson and Senator Hoke Smith.

Instead of the high Clarke tax, it proposes a smaller tax on cotton, for which the government has fixed standards. The cotton exchange men, however, are protesting against it.

Chairman Simmons said he had not discussed the cotton future tax with the President, but indicated the Senate managers would not yield to the House on their amendment.

DISCOUNT DUTIES.

Chairman Alexander of the House Merchant Marine Committee, with Representatives Jones of Virginia, Small of North Carolina, and McGillicuddy of Maine, asked the President to favor an amendment to the tariff bill giving a 5 per cent. discount in duties to imports in vessels wholly built in the United States, no matter where owned. A House provision for a 5 per cent. discount for goods in American-owned ships was struck out by the Senate on the protests of many foreign governments that it was a discrimination in violation of their treaties. The President did not commit himself but indicated that if the new amendment did not conflict with treaty rights, he would favor it.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Navy Department has awarded a contract for a survey cruiser to Wilson Bros., at Astoria, Or., for a sum some $5000 less than the Mare Island Navy Yard offered to build it for. The Home Industry League of California has written to members of the State delegation in Congress urging that they get busy and secure a reconsideration of the award so that the job can be given to the Mare Island Navy Yard, alleging that better work can be done there.

Some of the delegation have replied that the lowest bid was accepted and that nothing can be done about it.

California Organizations Express Appreciation at Action of Congress on Pomerene Amendment.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Various organizations and many individuals in California have indicated by letters and telegrams their pleasure at the defeat of the Pomerene amendment to the tariff bill by which the sweet wine industry of the State would have been ruined. The 700,000 Booster's Club of Southern California, S. Chapelle, secretary, has sent its thanks to the California Congressmen for defeating a measure which would have done inestimable harm to the business, and James Madison, president of the California Associated Raisin Company, has added his expression of appreciation to the others.

Senator Pomerene has not withdrawn his opposition to the Californians, but will continue his fight.

CARTRIDGES SEIZED.

EL PASO (Tex.) Sept. 22.—United States government agents tonight seized 54,000 rifle cartridges, said to have been destined for the use of the Federal garrison at Juarez, as they were being moved from a storehouse toward the international border. Ignacio Lopez, said to be a Mexican government agent, and Joseph Ravel, an American citizen, in charge of the ammunition, were arrested.

SAY CAMINETTI IS CUTTING IN.

Raker, Church and Kettner Want to Know Why.

California Democratic Boss Offends Congressmen.

San Bernardino Postoffice Starts Party Row.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] What A. Caminetti, Commissioner-General of Immigration, and big noise in the California Democracy, wants to "cut in" on the San Bernardino postmastership, when he has failed to act as referee on a score or so of postmasterships where action has been urgently required of him, is something that is worrying Raker, Church and Kettner, the three Democratic Congressmen from California.

As a result of the fight between Kettner and Caminetti over the San Bernardino postmastership, T. W. Duckworth, Caminetti's candidate, is hastening to Washington to make a fight for the place.

It carries a salary of $2900 or $3000 and is worth struggling for. But Kettner wants to give the place to his campaign befriender, Editor Ernest Martin, and, in fact, he has pledged his faith that it shall go to Martin, moreover, Church and Raker have indorsed Martin, and Postmaster-General Burleson has assured the Democratic triumvirate from California that their recommendations for postmasters shall be followed faithfully in making appointments; except, of course, in the districts represented by Republicans and Progressives, as to which Caminetti has been named the referee and there are cases where the referee has failed to act.

In the case of E. L. Leake, son of the well-known politician, Ed Leake, the young man wanted to be postmaster of Woodland. The postmaster, W. H. Dungan, wants to be relieved of the office and he has actually bought a newspaper at Oroville and has gone there to run it. Young Leake is reported to have been installed in the office by Dungan's bondsmen, but he can't be appointed because he hasn't received Caminetti's O. K.

"Why, then," asked the three Democratic Congressmen, "is he so busy in our bailiwick?"

"Vale."

GAYNOR'S BODY LAID TO REST.

THOUSANDS PAY TRIBUTE TO HIS MEMORY.

Former President Taft Heads the List of Honorary Pall-Bearers at the Services Conducted in New York City Church and at the Grave in Brooklyn.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The body of Mayor Gaynor was taken at 10:30 o'clock this morning from its resting place in the City Hall to Trinity Church where Bishop Greer read over it the solemn Episcopal service for the burial of the dead.

Many thousand citizens blacked the sidewalk from curb to building line as the funeral train crept along the ten blocks of lower Broadway from the City Hall to the church. The low-lying clouds lifted shortly before the cortege started, and over the march to the church the sun shone fitfully.

Heading the throng of marchers was a single line of eight mounted police. Behind them came the police band, playing the "Dead March," a regiment of mounted police, twelve abreast, and another regiment of police on foot in lines that stretched across Broadway from curb to curb, next was the coffin.

With the official flag of the Mayor draped over its head, the coffin lay, ten feet above the roadway on a catafalque whose somber folds of crepe were unrelieved by color. A great wreath of white chrysanthemums lay on the right of the casket, another wreath of orchids and ferns lay on the left and a third rested at the dead Mayor's feet. Sixteen coal black horses, heavy with black trappings, flanked on the right by a single file police, on the left by firemen, drew the catafalque through the street.

As the coffin passed between the two walls of spectators, held to the curb by an unbroken line of police, every man bared his head and only the blue-capped patrolmen remained covered. Of these there were lines in the line of march or on duty along the way of the funeral train.

The twelve honorary pall-bearers headed by William H. Taft, walked six on each side of the coffin. Behind them came official carriages of the city, two companies of City Hall police—men who had come in daily contact with the Mayor during his lifetime—and the long train of organizations and individuals chosen from the many who applied for places in the funeral train. More than 10,000 had wanted to be in line, but in accord with Mrs. Gaynor's wishes the as simple services and little display as possible, less than half the number were permitted to participate.

So silent stood the throngs of spectators that the tolling of the bell in the tower of Trinity could be heard at the City Hall when the cortege started. Tens of thousands stood silently about the church during the services. The seating capacity of the was insufficient to provide for even a small fraction of the thousands who sought admittance. An overflow meeting was held in St. Paul's Church half a dozen blocks away.

After halting at the church while the body was taken from the catafalque to the chancel on the shoulders of six firemen and six policemen the funeral train marched to the Battery, turning back and standing till the conclusion of the church services. Then the march was resumed to Greenwood Cemetery in Brooklyn.

The city's industries ceased for an hour during the funeral services.

The municipal departments were closed for the day, the New York Stock Exchange did not open its doors, the Consolidated Stock Exchange and several mercantile organizations were closed all day; a million school children participated in services in honor of dead Mayor's memory in every public schoolhouse and thousands of others heeded the request of Mayor Gaynor that business be suspended for an hour.

Arkansas Man to Be Arrested as Result of Confession in Which He Admits All Three Were to Have Died Together, According to the Police.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FORT SMITH (Ark.) Sept. 22.—A warrant was issued today for the arrest of J. G. Farrell on charge of being an accessory to the suicide of Mrs. T. A. Turner and her daughter at Glenwood last Wednesday. According to a written confession to the police say was made by Mr. Turner's husband, she and her daughter were put to death by him by agreement that all three should die in a suicide pact.

It is alleged Farrell induced Turner to deed his property to him and then influenced him to carry out the suicide pact. Both Farrell and the Turners, according to a statement made today by Turner, who is recovering from the effects of poison taken in the suicide pact, were followers of the same cult.

The county prosecutor announced that he would arrest Turner on charges of murdering his wife and daughter as soon as he recovers.

Boils Are a Bad Indication

With S. S. S. You Can Tell Poisoned Blood to Be Gone.

The appearance of boils leads many people to consider them a sign of robust constitution. They are more apt to signify a condition of sick blood.

It sounds queer to take a blood bath, but that is precisely the effect when you use that remarkable remedy, S. S. S. It has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In a few minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities.

And best of all, this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach.

You can get S. S. S. at any drug store. It is a standard remedy, recognized everywhere as the greatest blood antidote ever discovered. TURIN, Sept. 22.—[By A. P.] Chief mourned today for Teobaldo Calisano, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs and the youngest member of the Cabinet. His death occurred in very dramatic circumstances. He was presiding at a banquet given by 300 of his Constituents and was delivering a speech in which he referred to the principal points of Premier Giolitti's platform, denouncing general electoral reform, an war, the introduction of old age insurance, and universal suffrage.

Suddenly he turned pale, his voice faltered, and he collapsed in his chair, his head striking the table while he gasped "water, water." His sons came to his aid but found him dying. A priest was hastily administered the last rites.

The Minister had an engagement to assist at at the opening of a new railroad station at Cuneo, but the function was performed by the Mayor who decided not to disappoint the citizens of Cuneo.

The eastern wine-fakers have the following letter to every me of Congress except the Califo delegation. One of the letters evidently sent by mistake to Re sentative Curry, as none of the California Congressmen received copy. The letter follows:

"Under the Federal law, the C fornia sweet wine producers given an advantage over the eas sweet wine producers in that the mer may fortify with spirits u which no tax is paid while the la must pay a tax of $1.10 upon ev gallon they use. This is a discri ination against which we are ask immediate relief.

"Senator Pomerene has propos an amendment to the tariff bill under consideration to repeal the brandy law so-called, and thus move the favoritism which the w producers of California have enjoy as against the wine producers of East since the year 1890.

"We earnestly ask you to stand a to support this amendment upon principle that all citizens engaged the same kind of business shou stand upon an equality before th law.

"The justice of our plea for re lief is conceded by all. Some the members of Congress, however have asked us to wait until the re ular session, to which we say tha the remedy for an injustice shoul not be delayed.

"Besides, by a delay of two months the United States will lose ten mil lions of dollars in revenue.

"By the 1st of December the win manufacturers of California will have finished this fall's vintage, making nothing but sweet wine fortified with free brandy in anticipation of the promised repeal of the law, making it free.

"The lesson taught by the operations and manipulations of the in famous whisky ring of the sixties should not be forgotten.

"We of the East are willing to pay the tax. The Californians should be made to pay it. For further information upon this important matter we refer you to the speech of Senator Pomerene made in the Senate on September 18.

As the tariff conferees have already rejected the Pomerene amendment, there is hardly a possibility that the belated and latest protest of the wine-fakers will have any effect. But the wine-fakers are bad losers. They intend to keep up the fight to the last ditch.

Senator Pomerene today urged President Wilson to order the conferees to have the Pomerene amendment put back in the tariff bill. The President is reported to have been noncommittal. Pomerene would not talk.

Theodore Bell, who headed the fight here to save the California industry, went to New York last week on his way to San Francisco. He was called here today by wire when the latest move of the Pomerene crowd was discovered. Tomorrow the California wine men will issue an open letter to Congress replying to the communication.

REOPEN FIGHT FOR BRANDY TAX.

EASTERN WINE-MAKERS SEEK TO INFLUENCE CONGRESS.

Send Out Circular Letter Demanding Passage of Pomerene Amendment and Declaring Californians Are Given an Advantage Over All Their Competitors.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ohio and other eastern fake wine-makers are not content with their failure to have imposed a $1.10 per gallon tax on brandies used in fortifying California sweet wines, the tariff conferees having thrown out of the tariff bill the Pomerene amendment providing for the tax.

ANNEXATIONISTS PLAN CAMPAIGN.

ANTIS LINE UP FOR BATTLE IN SOUTH PASADENA.

Board of Trustees Ratifies Ordinance Calling for Election on Half-Million-Dollar Bond Issue—Series of Public Meetings Scheduled. Great Interest Manifested.

The discussion of annexation to Los Angeles or no annexation, bond issue or no bond issue, waxes warmer in South Pasadena and the opposing factions are lining up for a lively campaign. The Board of Trustees of that city, at its meeting last night, ratified the ordinance of intention passed two weeks ago, calling for an election on October 8 on the question of issuing $550,000 in bonds, of which $300,000 is intended for water, $200,000 for sewers and sewage disposal, $28,000 for fire and other purposes, $12,000 for bridge approaches, and $10,000 for stable yards.

A large number of citizens, members of the Citizens' League, which favors annexation to this city with President R. W. Pridham of the Board of Supervisors acting as spokesman, asked the Trustees to call an adjourned meeting for next Monday, at which they wish to present an alternative proposition looking towards annexation. The argument of the annexationists is that the ordinance of intention was very vague in its propositions, failing to state how the money is to be expended, and where the sewer is to go.

A few days ago the Board of Trustees issued a pamphlet in which they stated it as their intention to apply $225,000 to the purchase of the Marengo Water Company, which supplies water to about half the city, and $75,000 to purchase the smaller water companies; also, that the sewer is to run to the "Narrows," on the San Gabriel River, near Whittier, where a sewage disposal plant will be erected.

The Citizens' League asserts that a large number of citizens, owning stock in the Marengo Water Company, and believing that they will be able to sell their stock to the city in case of the bond issue passing, have, in reality, no assurance in the ordinance itself, that that company's plant will be taken over by the city.

The league further points out that the Los Angeles rate of taxation is $3.04, while that of South Pasadena is only 20 cents less than that, and will be increased at least a dollar if the bond issue is made. The league claims 500 signed members who are enthusiastic in their advocacy of annexation and their opposition to the issuing of bonds for $550,000, while the credit of the city is limited to $818,000, leaving a comparatively small margin for other purposes which may call for bonds in the future.

Public meetings will be held, both large and small, between now and the date for the election and the opponents to the issue claim the proposition will not only fail to receive the necessary two-thirds vote, but will not have a majority. The interest taken in the question was attested by the large attendance at the meeting of the Trustees last night, the hall being filled to the doors, and many were unable to gain entrance.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.

Names Representative.

Bernal Dyas has been named the president of the Chamber of Commerce to represent that body at the Porolta celebration in San Francisco, October 22 to 25.

Extra Help Provided.

County Assessor Hopkins was yesterday authorized to employ from twenty to sixty copyists, at $75 per month, and ten extra clerks, at $100 per month, for making up the assessment rolls. All these employees will be appointed from the civil-service lists, to begin work October 1.

Pay for Fire Fighters.

It is expected that the work of preparing and sending out checks to the fire fighters who handled the blaze in the Big Tejunga Canyon will be completed by Supervisor Charlton today. The per diem cost will be about $3600, and transportation and maintenance several hundred dollars more.

Colored Men's Picnic.

W. F. Vernon, former Registrar of the Treasury, addressed a large gathering of colored people at Sycamore Park yesterday on the occasion of the annual picnic of former negro residents of Ohio. A special invitation had been issued to colored people hailing from other States, which was largely accepted.

Alaska-Yukon Reorganization.

The Alaska-Yukon Club will meet this evening at No. 957 West Seventh street to complete its reorganization. A new constitution will be considered and officers elected. Arrangements will be made to properly celebrate Alaska day, October 18. Alaska and Yukon people are expected to be on hand, and an enjoyable time is promised.

Envoy Due Today.

Senor Don Juan Riano y Cayongos, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the court of Madrid to the United States, will pass through here this afternoon on his way to San Diego. The distinguished Spaniard will return here Monday and will be fittingly entertained by a committee of the Chamber of Commerce, headed by Capt. H. Z. Osborne.

Banquet to Retiring Secretary.

A farewell banquet was given at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday in honor of A. Ray Petty, who has been student secretary of the association for two years. It was a very pleasant affair at which C. F. Quinlan acted as toastmaster and General Secretary Luther as the chief speaker. Mr. Petty goes to Temple Baptist Church, where he will have charge of the work among men and boys.

President's Representative.

Hon. R. N. Bulla was named yesterday by President Kinney of the Chamber of Commerce as chairman of a committee to entertain Congressman Robert Lee Henry of Texas, who is to arrive here Monday from San Diego, for a stay of two or three days. Henry is coming West to represent President Wilson at the Junipero Serra ceremonies at San Diego.

To Address Freshmen.

The freshman moot court class of the College of Law, U.S.C., will, Thursday evening at 7 o'clock, have the opportunity of hearing Judge Bledsoe address them. The topic has not been announced. Mattison B. Jones, who is delivering a series of lectures on legal ethics, also will talk on "The Duty of a Lawyer to the Court and to His Client." The Rev. Matt S. Hughes of Pasadena, has been invited to speak.

Entertain Traffic Head.

B. L. Winchell, director of traffic of the Union Pacific system, was entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Athletic Club by Second Vice-President Clark of the Salt Lake. Following luncheon he was taken in charge by Charles Weir, representing the Transportation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and, with Vice-President Munroe and Passenger Traffic Manager Fort of the Union Pacific, was taken on a two-hour tour of the good roads system surrounding the city.

Opening of Occidental College.

Among the speakers at the opening of Occidental College tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock will be Hon. Frank P. Flint, president of the board of trustees; President Baer and Dr. John Balcom Shaw. The public is invited to attend. The 100 or more delegates to Los Angeles Presbytery, which opened its sessions in Pasadena last night, will be brought to the college in automobiles and after the opening exercises will be taken to the new campus in Eagle Rock Valley to view the new buildings which will be dedicated in December.

RIVERSIDE MAN PASSES.

Justice Holton Webb Dies and Cause Is Believed to Have Been Wound Inflicted by Italian.

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 22.—Justice of the Peace Holton Webb, well known in this part of the State for his histrionic ability, died at the Riverside City Hospital this afternoon as the result of an operation, at the age of 60 years.

Recent failing health, Justice Webb ascribed to the fact that he was the victim of an assault two years ago by an Italian, who fired a bullet into the official's breast. The bullet had never been recovered. The physicians, however, do not ascribe to this wound the cause of the rapid decline of the deceased.

Justice Webb came to California in 1876, studying law in the office of Houghton & Reynolds, a leading law firm of the Santa Clara Valley, for four years. He later studied law in San Francisco, and alternately practiced law and taught shcool, for a time being principal of the schools of Lompoc, and after his removal to this city, taking charge of the Arlington schools.

Before his election to justice of the peace, the deceased filled the office of Deputy County Clerk. He was an actor in his earlier years, and was in demand in this county as a campaign orator.

UNIQUE COTTON EXHIBIT.

Five thousand souvenir "bales" of cotton will be a feature of the exhibit to be made by the Palo Verde Valley at the Riverside county fair, to be held October 7-11. These will be given away to acquaint the visitors to the fair with the quality of cotton grown in the valley, declared to be the highest grade produced on the globe.

Criminal Complaints Issued After Odd Deal.

Abstract and Title Concern Charged With Fraud.

Dummy Borrower on No-Good Land, Allegation.

Upon the question whether certain land in the Coachella Valley is productive or is unreclaimable desert depends the outcome of a criminal complaint issued yesterday by Deputy District Attorney Veitch against C. P. and C. D. Walden, composing the firm of Abstract and Title Company, F. E. Tomlinson, who is also suing the Waldens in a civil action to recover money he says he loaned under false representations, is complaining witness in the criminal action, which also charges obtaining money under false pretenses.

The defendants will be arraigned in Justice Reeve's court today. Both deny any criminal intent and declare that Tomlinson was amply protected when he gave Louis Sauter $500 altogether, receiving in exchange a promissory note and a contract for land in the Coachella Valley as security.

Tomlinson lives at No. 738 East Fifty-third street. Sauter's home is at No. 951 East Fifty-second street. The two men knew each other slightly.

TANGLED DEAL.

Sauter advertised he wanted a loan of $350 and promised to pay 2 per cent. a month interest. Tomlinson met him and after various preliminaries accepted the note for $350 and a contract covering some Coachella land as collateral. The Western Abstract and Title Company owned the property, it is said.

Sauter, it is alleged, paid his interest for a time, but later was somewhat remiss. Tomlinson says that after talking the matter over with Sauter he agreed to cancel the old note and accepted a new one for $500 which represented the $350 plus interest and a small additional sum loaned to Sauter.

Later Tomlinson said he went to the office of the Western Abstract and Title Company where he met the Waldens, the principal owners of the concern. He told Deputy District Attorney Veitch that the Waldens induced him to make payments on the contract for several months.

Finally he thought it about time to make some inquiries about the land and obtained letters from a number of Coachella real estate men.

The writers did not speak in high terms of the particular tract for which Tomlinson held the contract. Tomlinson then tried to get his money back from the Waldens and Sauter, he said, but they refused to return it. He brought suit in the Superior Court.

"SIGHT UNSEEN."

It is possible that the committing magistrate will consider the case one for the civil courts inasmuch as the complaining witness by his own testimony did not take the trouble to see the land before making the loan. On the other hand it is possible that the defendants will be held to answer on the ground that both made false representations to Tomlinson concerning the character of the soil.

Deputy District Attorney Veitch said last night that he has evidence corroborating Tomlinson's allegations and that a number of Coachella Valley real estate men are willing to testify that the tract in question is not worth the money loaned upon it.

The Waldens, on the contrary, will probably try to show that the land is worth far more than the Tomlinson loan and that under proper cultivation and with water it can produce valuable crops.

According to Veitch, Sauter is in reality connected with the Western Abstract and Title Company and negotiated the loan for the Waldens and not for himself, though the papers show the Waldens were selling the land to Sauter on partial monthly payments. Sauter, it is alleged, declared his equity was worth $1800.

It is possible that Sauter will be a witness for the State in case the suit is pressed.

Two Men of Same Initials But One's in an Auto Accident and the Other Isn't.

Through an inadvertence it was stated in The Times Sunday morning that the W. H. McMasters who figured in the automobile accident Saturday night at Washington and Berendo streets is the manager of the National Conduit and Cable Company and resident at Glendale. The conduit man stated yesterday that he spent the evening at his home and knew nothing of the mishap until he read the report of it. The address of his name-double, who was in the machine, is not known to the attaches of the Receiving Hospital, where his companion, Mrs. Nora E. Hutchins, was taken after the accident.

Mrs. Hutchins was thrown from the car when the latter collided with an ice wagon and received painful, but not serious injuries. She is recovering at her home, No. 2916 Halldale avenue.

JUMP AS BLACK FINGERS JERK.

Score of White Girls Under Sway of Negress.

Prominent Persons Kneel at Old Mammy's Shrine.

Rabbi Myers Saves Miller Girl for Family.

"She cured me of a headache."

That is the reason Miss Bessie Miller gave yesterday for becoming a disciple of Sister Smith, a negress, and the leader of a "divine healing" cult with headquarters at No. 1425 Edwin street, near Vernon.

Miss Miller, whose infatuation for the new black-face faith was reported to the police Sunday by her brothers, declared yesterday at a department store, where she is employed, that a number of people of prominence belong to the negro religious colony. She named a High School teacher, an attorney, and several other professional men and women of prominence whom she said she had seen at Sister Smith's home.

But laboring with all the persuasive powers of his magnetic personality, and using all the arguments and promises of the Jewish faith to effect his purpose, Rabbi Isidore Myers reconverted Miss Miller to the religion of her fathers after two hours and a half of argument.

Miss Miller has agreed to return to the home of her brother, and to give up all dealings with the black faith until New Year's, at least, and then if she finds consolation in the Jewish precepts and teachings she will renounce forever the influence of the black mammy out Vernon way.

The saving of Miss Miller was the result of the urgent request of the department store managers where she is employed to Rabbi Myers to come and talk with the girl.

"It was the hardest task I ever undertook," said the rabbi last night. "I found the girl hard as adamant in her beliefs. It seemed to me as though she were hypnotized. She vigorously denied such an influence, but I pointed out to her that many persons are so held under control without their knowledge. That seemed to arouse her.

"I found that underlying the whole affair was her desire for some sound faith that would supply her spiritual needs. It seems that she had only given her own religion a perfunctory study, and that when this outside influence came to her she was ready to receive it. She is a lovely girl, and I am proud to know that my efforts saved her, for I believe she will see the right course definitely before the first of the year. Her brother was just as kind as he could be, and I am satisfied they will all be happy."

An investigation conducted by friends of Miss Miller and by police detectives and others yesterday, indicated that about twenty young white women are under the sway of Sister Smith, who seems to exert a sort of hypnotic influence over her disciples.

"The white girls wait on the negro woman as though they were her slaves," David Miller, brother of Miss Miller, said yesterday at his jewelry store, No. 228 West Second street. "She calls them up and orders them to bring her steaks, fruit and various other delicacies and they always obey.

"The young women even go so far as to do washing for Sister Smith. My sister brought one of her aprons home and washed it and ironed it and handled it like it was a sacred thing. I never heard of one person exerting such absolute authority over others. I have concluded from my investigations that the negress has my

REAL GARDEN, LIVING MODELS.

ARTISTIC PROMENADE SEEN AT THE HAMBURGER STORE.

Grass Growing Alongside the Garden Path, and Sure-Enough Grass at That—Lovely Costumes Representing all the Periods of Fashion's History.

A private view was given yesterday of one of the wonderful devices prepared by Hamburgers' for the fashion show.

In the fourth story of the mammoth building a garden promenade has been laid out. There are trees, flowers and all sorts of bosky effects, with a winding path and real grass growing along its edge. This grass was sown in moss over a layer of soil on canvas, a week ago, and already has reached a lawn-like height.

Along this woodsy path with its shrubbery and blossoms and velvety lawn the living models stroll. Seats have been arranged and crowds will watch the promenade of the models in beautiful gowns, wraps and hats.

The private view of yesterday saw a series of costumes representing the progress of the dressmaker's art. We were introduced to the royal robes of early Spain, the ruffs of Queen Elizabeth, the Louix X dress, the hips of Madame Recamier, etc., the Martha Washington dress, the panniers of the Civil War period, the bustles that came later, and then the slit skirt and other devices of the autumn of 1913. The 1913 girl received the heartiest applause, while the imported wraps on the stunning Junoesque model aroused a storm of plaudits. Hamburgers' establishment certainly boasts of most attractive models. Twenty-five will exhibit during the show.

At one end of the garden is a tea-room, and the theater is gorgeous with gigantic clusters of chrysanthemums.

The whole scheme is so artistic, so elaborate and so exquisitely carried out on a grand scale that it makes one marvel at the cleverness, the costliness and the enterprise of it all.

CHARGES COMMISSIONERS WITH ILLEGAL COMPLICITY.

Naturalist Asks Chamber of Commerce to Investigate Island Butcheries and Alleges State Officials Wink at Practices—Both Sides to Be Heard First.

Acting on a communication from Charles E. Davis, a naturalist, detailing the slaughter of seals on the Channel Islands and alleging complicity by the Fish and Game Commission in an act "disgraceful to civilization," Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce addressed a letter yesterday to Assistant Fish and Game Commissioner H. I. Pritchard asking for the commission's side of the case. Wiggins's action was dictated by the board of directors of the chamber, who were stirred to action by a documentary appeal to them by Davis.

After detailing the history of the case and denominating the unknown slaughterers of the seals as cowards, Davis says in his letter: "Contrary to the belief of a few, including our present Fish and Game Commission, our seals do not destroy sea food. In spite of the laws of this State, made to protect them, the commissioners appear to discourage their protection, thereby causing many hunters to take advantage of the seals's disadvantage and helpless condition at certain seasons of the year. During their hauling out or pupping season, which takes place in the early spring, they are cruelly killed and wounded, their pups left slowly starving. All wild life are helpless at such seasons and the slaughter is a disgrace to our civilization."

"We want to get to the botton of this matter," said Wiggins yesterday. "If the Fish and Game Commission is proved in error we will take it up with the government and ask some legislation that will protect these seals. We are moving slowly, however, until we hear both sides of the case."

JUDGE RUDKIN COMING.

United States District Judge Rudkin of Spokane has written Judge Wellborn that he expects to be in Los Angeles, October 29, to take up the work of the court and remain until about November 19. It is expected that during his stay here Judge Rudkin will try the case against those directors of the Cleveland Oil Company who have not already pleaded guilty to the charge of illegal use of the mail.

WHOLE TANGLE TO GRAND JURY.

Altering Books Charged to Corporation Head.

Minority Stockholders After Him With Sharp 'Un.

Alleged Game of Freeze-out Takes Sudden Turn.

Charged by M. A. Dickison, representing the minority stockholders of the California Products Company, with altering the books of the corporation, President J. F. Clark and several of the directors were called before the grand jury yesterday afternoon. With them came a large collection of office books, and when they left the collection was considerably diminished, evidence of their impounding by Deputy District Attorney Veitch, who is acting for the county in the matter.

The summons came as the climax to a fight which the California Products Company and its president has become involved in during the past three weeks. Clark was arrested and tried on two charges of holding out the books from the stockholders. In both of these he was found guilty and fined $50 on the first count and $100 on the second.

Closely following these actions, Attorney F. N. Arnoldy, acting for M. A. Dickison, L. R. Myers and other stockholders, brought action in the Superior Court to enjoin Clark from collecting $36,403 under the stockholders' liability law by assessments against the stock. In the complaint it is alleged that J. F. Clark, acting with Directors W. F. Rau and J. D. Heard entered into an agreement with C. L. Donohie and H. J. Barcelloux to pay them $2500 in cash and $5000 in a note for the claims, contracts and demands of the latter which amounted to $36,403 against the California Products Company.

DECLINE TO PAY.

The allegation goes on to the effect that President Clark and the majority stockholders announced an assessment covering the total sum against the other stockholders of the company, which they in numerous instances have refused to pay, having discovered the alleged facts of the transaction. Their petition to the court is to refuse the defendants more than has actually been paid on the outstanding obligations.

Dickison declares that Clark is seeking to get control of all the stock at the expense of the minority stockholders. "Our injunction proceedings clearly reveals an intention of splitting a profit above the $7500 on the transaction and is merely in line with other manipulations of stock by Clark," he said.

The company was brought into existence about a year ago by Clark after he had organized the Greater American Subdivision Company of San Diego, sold out of that, formed the California American Trading Company and sold his promotion stock to that. The California Products Company was incorporated for $150,000 and, until the recent trouble, according to Dickison, had been doing an excellent business.

STORMY SCENES.

There have been a number of stormy scenes around the offices and plant of the company, at No. 172 Albion street, and when words and threats failed, the law was resorted to and up to the present issues, the minority stockholders have been victorious. The grand jury investigation will be continued tomorrow and the future action of the contestants will be based largely on the outcome.

Clark is practically handling all of the legal matters in which he is involved, having considerable reputation as a corporation attorney. He was a prominent figure in the boom days of Goldfield and his operations there attracted considerable attention. When he came to Southern California he was interested in promotions and in May, 1911, organized the National Home and Town Builders. This company he sold control in to the Orange County Investment Company, himself retaining 400,000 shares of promotion stock over which a lawsuit resulted and in which action he was victorious. Various other suits resulted and the concern is now inactive. Its stock is worth not many cents on the dollar.

Via the Elevated.

FIFTY PER CENT RELIEF FOR TRAFFIC PROMISED.

PLANS for the Pacific Electric's proposed elevated structure from the rear of the Main-street station to grade connection at San Pedro street were gone over thoroughly yesterday by the joint Street and Utilities Committee of the Municipal League in a three-hour conference with President Shoup and other Pacific Electric officials. No definite action, either for or against the granting of franchises for this structure, was taken, though it was hinted by committeemen that something definite will probably result from a joint meeting Thursday.

Everything from the cost of the structure to the probable traffic relief was delved into by the committee, and in every case the Pacific Electric officials were found fortified with either maps or figures to prove their contention.

"What will be the relief on Main street?" was one question persistently asked.

"We will be able to take 50 per cent. of our cars off Main street," replied President Shoup, "but I am not too sure that the people will let us take them off, if they do, you will find the operation of street cars along that street considerably simplified, street intersections less cluttered with traffic, and few, very few, red cars turning corners to block everything from foot passengers to motor trucks from a fraction of a minute up.

"Of course, it is but the beginning of better things, and we must not expect too much from this elevated. Eventually, however, as has been said over and over again, it will be extended further east and a hole cut through Bunker Hill to let out our westbound cars. Then we can do things as they should be done, and promise you something like absolute relief from Pacific Electric cars. All this will take time and money, however."

Some few questions were asked about the "noise" side of an elevated, but Assistant Chief Engineer Johnson was ready with plans and charts to prove that schemes have been evolved whereby the "muffler" will be affixed to the elevated.

"Mr. Johnson has made a thorough study of the noise problem," said Shoup, "and has figured out some very ingenious schemes to make the elevated nearly noiseless. He has just returned from a two months' study of elevated structures in the East."

Following the conference the committeemen accompanied President Shoup, General Manager McMillan, Traffic Manager Pontius and Assistant Chief Engineer Johnson of the Pacific Electric, over the ground to be occupied by the elevated, and were also shown the plans for the proposed changes in waiting-room arrangements which are to be an integral part of the elevated scheme.

Brocaded Velvets Poplins and Crepes

No previous season has shown dress and suit materials so rich and beautiful. This applies not only to fabrics for evening gowns, but to dresses and suits for street wear.

Foremost among the novelties are the brocaded velvets. These are 40 inches wide and range in price from $5.50 to $12 a yard.

Equally interesting are the many brocaded crepes and poplins. They come in floral and conventional figures of every size. Their width is 42 inches and prices range from $3.50 to $5.50 a yard.

In each of these brocaded fabrics there's a color line to meet almost any demand.

Gloves for Street wear Two Especially Good Lines

We are particularly proud of our new street gloves. They have all the elements of style and fit and wear.

Warwick. A one-clasp cape glove with PXM seams and Paris point back, English reds, browns, tans and white. Especially good for school wear, street or driving—$1.25 a pair.

Bacmo, one-clasp cape glove, spear back, black, white, tan, brown and green, $1.50 a pair.

Our complete line of imported gloves for the season 1913-14 is awaiting your approval.

Bag Tops in New And Odd Designs

Hand-made Bags will lead all other presents for the holiday season.

There's character, individuality—even personality, about a bead bag, or one of moire or brocaded silk, representing the handiwork of some friend.

You'll see some unusually smart styles here this season—styles that may be mounted by anyone handy with a needle. Plain or jeweled bag tops in gold, silver, oxidized. Every price from 25c to $5.00.

Towels and Crash Popular Prices

Make a note of these two linen items for Tuesday. They spell economy.

18x36-inch Union Huck Towels; soft finish, good absorbent—18c each.

Charities.

HELP IS ASKED OF VOLUNTEERS.

New Committee Appeals for Trained Workers.

Give Work to Unfortunates, Says Johnson.

Despite Limited Funds, Aid Is Being Given.

Starting in anew, with the old slate washed absolutely clean, the Reorganization Committee of the Associated Charities appointed by the municipal Charities Commission, finished its organization yesterday making its selection of permanent officials. Miss Lillian J. Haley has been made permanent secretary in charge of the office at the old quarters, No. 252 North Main street, and Miss Harriet Borgium will be associated with her.

Miss Haley received her training with the Associated Charities in Boston, and made a special investigation of the salary and loan business for the Woman's Educational Union, a powerful civic organization in that city. She also spent a year in social settlement work there.

Miss Borgium was trained for her work at the Clark Memorial Hospital in Omaha, in which city she did much investigating work. She has been appointed chief investigator for the local association.

The $500 per month which the council appropriated for the Associated Charities work is the total amount of funds at present in sight, but the Reorganization Committee is optimistic and takes up the thread of work which was snapped by the recent upheaval and is investigating all applications as rapidly as possible.

The office is open every day from 9 to 5, but applications for assistance will be heard only from 8 to 11 o'clock in the morning, and from 4 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

The one great need, next to money, and possibly transcending that, is for trained social workers, with the emphasis on "trained," who are willing to volunteer their services, as there are no funds available for salaried helpers, at present, except the two already secured. Untrained service is not desired, and those volunteering must present credentials as to experience. The committee hopes eventually to establish an efficient corps of friendly visitors. Methods of work found effective in other cities will be ascertained by correspondence, and the best of these, so far as they apply to conditions in this city, will be tried out here.

At present the committee is impressed with the plan of the Buffalo Associated Charities in giving a public hearing and discussion to all cases, names, of course, being carefully guarded in such hearings. These hearings are said to be largely attended by charitably disposed persons and the Buffalo organization is "on Easy street" in regard to funds.

The Reorganization Committee appointed by the municipal Charities Commission will consist, as previously stated, of eight persons. Two of these are out of the city and have not yet signified acceptance of their appointment. The six who have accepted are the following: Mrs. Eugene Overton, chairman; Miss Florence Moore, secretary, Mrs. Eugene T. Pettigrew, press agent, and Miss Laura Workman, Mrs. Reinhardt Wernigk and Mrs. Benjamin Goldman.

Dr. Milbank Johnson, chairman of the Municipal Charities Commission, appeals to the people for aid for the indigent affected by the recent ordinance against begging on the streets. All these unfortunates were warned by the police, but in spite of the warning, the drag net thrown out Saturday night rounded up a large number who still were asking alms under one guise or another. Dr. Johnson asks that persons needing help apply to the office at No. 332 North Main street, in person or by 'phone, as many of those affected by the ordinance are willing to do such work as their infirmities permit. Dr. Johnson considers this sort of help more important in many cases than giving money.

FOR SAFER DELIVERY.

Mail Routes Hereafter to Be Handled by Local Office for All Southern California.

Edward McGrath of San Francisco, superintendent of the eighth division, Railway Mail Service, came to this city yesterday to inaugurate a new method of handling the parcel post service. Heretofore parcels have been handled with other mail and in many cases have not been delivered in proper condition. Complaints received on this score have resulted in a change which may become general throughout the country, but first put in effect in this city.

Beginning today post parcels will be handled separately and all parcels originating from San Jose and Stockton and all points south to San Diego and San Bernardino will be handled by the Los Angeles Terminal Railway postoffice and will be made up in separate sacks to insure safe delivery.

New terminal offices were established yesterday at Sacramento, San Francisco, Ogden and Portland to handle parcel post matter. Other terminals will soon be established at El Paso, Albuquerque and Pueblo. The clerks in charge of the Los Angeles terminal are H. E. Pearson and W. R. Walker.

McGrath explained fully the details of the change at a luncheon at Brink's Cafe yesterday noon given in his honor by the clerks of the Los Angeles district of the Railway Mail Service. B. W. Marquis was toastmaster.

AFFIRMS AND REVERSES.

The District Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed the judgment of Superior Judge Finlayson in favor of the defendants in the action brought by the National Lumber Company against the Tejunga Valley Rock Company for $1689.20, alleged to be due for railroad ties. The same court reversed the opinion of Superior Judge Houser, in favor of the defendant in the suit brought by Anton Konde against F. E. Fay, for $500, alleged to be due as a commission in a trade of real estate.

WANTED AT RIVERSIDE.

C. W. Williams, alias C. W. Lebane, 50 years old, was arrested at the Salt Lake depot last night on information furnished detectives by the Riverside authorities. Williams, said to be wanted in various parts of the country for uttering fictitious checks, is held in the City Jail pending the arrival of Riverside officers.

SHE'S NOT CONVINCING.

Woman Who Insists Human Laws Can't Affect Her Sent to Jail by Police Judge.

She insisted that no judge in any court had the right to sentence Mrs. Ruth Joseph to jail, but she is behind the bars. By her religion, she was not amendable to human laws, she maintained, but she couldn't convince the Police Court.

She was up before Police Judge Fredericksen yesterday on the charge of shoplifting. That was no violation of any law, she argued. Why, she said, God owns all things on earth, and she was God's desciple, therefore she owned all things and could take whatever she listed.

But her selection of valuable things was so unerring that the police thought her taste was cultivated above purely spiritual need and haled her into court.

She eyed Justice Fredericksen coldly. "Man," she said witheringly, "do you think because you are sitting up there on a pine porch you are as good as I? Never. You are only a man, a poor, flesh-and-blood man, and you haven't the power to judge me. I dare you to."

Mrs. Joseph was drawing herself into one of the best poses for dramatic intensity as illustrated in the old-fashioned Del sarte books, when the judge winked at her.

"I'll take your dare," he smiled. "Thirty days or $20."

The woman still insisted that he couldn't sentence her, but she is locked up.

EVEN BET HE'LL EAT.

Vegetarian Objects to Hail Meat Foods But Judge Gives Him Five Days of It.

A five-day fast in jail was the sentence given E. W. Howe yesterday for talking in the park. Justice Williams in Police Court imposed the sentence after Howe had insisted that he could not eat the jail fare.

While Howe was making his plea, the trial developed into a controversy between the judge and the defendant about the merits of jail fare. Justice Williams insisted it was good.

Howe is a vegetarian. He could see no merit in jail meals. "All meat," he said, "and I can't eat it. Even the soup is meat soup."

Then Howe proceeded to tell why not to eat meat. Being arrested for orating in the parks, he is a fluent flaunter of phrases, and was active in his defense. He said he would starve before he would eat the meat.

Justice Williams clinched the debate by telling Howe: "All right; starve, and do it for five days."

DODGES FLYING BRICKS.

Policeman Accustomed to Eluding Missiles Sees Them Coming From a New Quarter.

Half a dozen bricks that had been resting quietly in the wall of the Larronde block, First and Spring streets, for a third of a century, grew weary of resisting the tug of a guy rope yesterday, and journeyed into the street.

Below them was standing Patrolman Theodore Mailheu, quietly inspecting the traffic. Patrolman Mailheu heard the squeaking of the bricks as they were made ready for the start and thought it funny that bats should be abroad in the downtown streets. He kept on looking, then thought he saw the sky falling in. Six bricks, all in a flock, fell straight down toward the patrolman's face, but he dodged just in time to have his cap scarred and his head saved.

UNCONVENTIONAL MINISTER.

Believed Stories He Had Heard of the West and Startles Guest of Hotel.

The unconventional manner of the Rev. O. R. Phillips, an elderly minister from London, attracted attention last evening at the Van Nuys, when he appeared in the lobby in his house slippers and reclined full length on a seat while he conversed with a friend. The clerk sent a bell boy to whisper to him.

"I was told that you were informal in America," the guest said to the clerk later. "The rules here do not seem to indicate it. You are almost as formal in this second-class hotel as they are in the great hotels of London.

"I try to be comfortable wherever I am. I think that you are trying to put on airs. I have had on my stiff shoes all day and I supposed that this couch was made to lie on."

BATTLE PROMISES MUCH HEAT.

Redondo Beach Citizens, Like Other People, Are Not Agreed on the Matter of Selling Intoxicants.

REDONDO BEACH, Sept. 22.—An evidence that both the "wets" and "drys" are working hard for the coming election October 14, on the Wylie local option law, is the registration of 2155 voters while the largest registration heretofore has been 1390. Every day for weeks workers for both sides have been canvassing voters to register with the result that nearly 800 additional voters were registered.

A publication entitled "Facts" was scattered broadcast over the city today by the "wets." Although the circular bore no editor's name, no publisher, nor gave the place of publication, on the front page was a statement signed, "The Liquor Dealers of Redondo Beach," in which they asked that the reader decide the matter for the welfare of the city. It is understood "Facts" will be published each day and distributed about the town. In today's edition the Wylie law is given with comments. The "wets" have no local organ while the Reflex is championing the side of the "drys."

The "drys" are equally busy and have an organization of which Harry Meacham is the head. Many women are enlisted on this side at the head of whom is Mrs. W. A. Galentine, a prominent club woman. House-to-house work is being done by this side and the town has been divided into twenty districts with precinct captains and they have the town thoroughly covered. The situation is different from "wet" and "dry" elections in the past as this time the women will vote on the matter and there is much speculation as to the outcome.

Should the "drys" lose at the coming election the leaders say they will bring up the question at the next general election in April, as it can be done through the referendum at that time.

BANKERS' BANQUET.

The Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank employees held their annual banquet this evening at Hepburn & Terry's. Motley Flint, the vice-president of the bank, headed the delegation to this city, which arrived here on a Pacific Electric special. The wives and friends of the employees were guests of the evening. Speeches were made by bank officials and music was furnished by special entertainers.

How Wrong?

FORGES FOR INVALID WIFE.

NEEDS THE MONEY TO SEND HER TO A HOSPITAL.

Unable to Get Work, Man Steals Blank Checks—Detective Sees Through Window Husband Reading Scott's "Lady of the Lake" to Sick Woman.

How wrong is it for a man to commit a crime against property when by so doing the suffering of an invalid wife may be alleviated?

This is the question facing the detectives who last night went into the home of William D. Livingstone, No. 549 East Thirty-third street, and arrested him in the presence of his wife, who, a few hours before, had returned from a long stage in a hospital.

Livingstone was reading aloud Scott's "Lady of the Lake." The eyes of the frail woman reclining in an invalid's chair, with one blue-veined hand resting lovingly on the man's coat sleeve, glistened with pleasure, for of all Scott's poems she loves this one best. There had been no one to read to her at the hospital.

Detective Nick Harris watched the tableau through a window of the house before he entered. He knew that the man before him had passed fictitious checks; that he had realized something like $100 from worthless paper. It was Harris's duty to arrest him. But Harris knew that every cent of that money has gone to keep a loved wife where she could be given the care and treatment that alone would prolong her life.

Livingstone has never been in trouble before. He is not a man who drinks. He says he has simply "been in bad luck." By that he means that, try as he might, he has been unable to get work. He was willing, he says, to do anything, but because of his wife's condition he must have ready money. He tried to borrow but could not. He was afraid to tell his wife he was out of employment for fear that she would worry and grow weaker. Keeping a cheerful countenance when in her presence, he insisted that he was getting along fine and that she must go to the hospital. This was some weeks ago, and the wife consented, not knowing the source of the money which was to pay for her stay.

Livingstone, according to his story, grew desperate. He went into the C. A. Hibbard Company's establishment at No. 3554 Griffith avenue and took some blank checks.

Thereafter he passed fictitious checks at intervals until he had gotten the $100 necessary to his wife's recovery.

Early yesterday morning she came home and they celebrated the joyful occasion by reading. Livingstone was in a daze when taken to the City Jail. He scarcely realized what it was all about.

He had known that sooner or later he must answer for his temptation, but it had not occurred to him that it would come on this day of all days.

The detectives spared the woman. They did not let her know why they were taking her husband. But she knows now and her heart is breaking. She is wondering just how wrong it was for the man who loves her to commit a crime in order that she might live. The detectives, after verifying the man's story in many respects, are wondering, too.

COUNTY BUYS BONDS.

Under New Law Money in Treasury of County Proves Supporter of Local Confidence.

Fortunate is the county that has "rocks" in its vaults with which to purchase school bonds, under the new law. Thereby the school districts are aided by the fairest possible route, and most important of all, the confidence of the county is shown in the securities of its own territory.

Yesterday the Board of County Supervisors purchased the following bonds, being fortunate in having almost $100,000 lying idle in the treasury which may now legally be so used: Glendale High School district, $24,000; Jefferson school district, $10,000; Russell school district, $5000. In the case of the Glendale High School, the board had an option on additional ground to cost $32,000, which was about to expire and no purchaser had appeared for the bonds. Local confidence was shown by the Tropico and Glendale banks, which between them took $8000 worth of bonds, and then the county came to the rescue and enabled the school authorities to take up the option.

ANAHEIM BRIEFS.

ANAHEIM, Sept. 22.—A public improvement of important character is being urged by property owners along the Anaheim-Fullerton road. This is the paving of that thoroughfare to a width of forty-nine and a half feet, to conform to the width of the Los Angeles street. This will leave sixteen feet on each side for adjoining property owners to improve. By doing the work in conjunction with the State commission it can be accomplished at a considerable saving over the expense that would incur should the work be done under separate contract. The movement, it is said, is meeting with considerable favor by interested land owners.

The big tent seating 1000 was filled and many standing last evening at the anti-saloon meeting when Ervin S. Chapman of Los Angeles, head of the State Anti-Saloon League, delivered a lecture. "The "drys" have arranged to have a weekly newspaper in this city which will support their cause. At present there are two newspapers here, one which openly advocates saloons, and the other is neutral. The new temperance weekly is to be called the "Anaheim Herald."

The Anaheim grammar schools opened this morning with a registration of 582 students, the largest in the history of the schools.

FORTUNE AWAITS HER.

The petition of Mary L. Boynton of the Los Angeles Humane Society, to be appointed guardian of Bernice Beazan, aged 17 years, was opposed in the Probate Court yesterday by the latter's stepfather, Axel Anderson.

It developed during the testimony of Anderson that Miss Beazan has expectations from her grandmother, and further that she is too fond of joyriding. An alleged friend, who, it was stated, is not a desirable acquaintance, has been in the habit of taking Mary out on his motorcycle. Anderson objected to her going with him. He slapped her and she left his home and was taken in by the Humane Society.

Anderson stated he is willing to care for the girl if she gives up the joyriding. He also said that her aunt residing in Milwaukee would receive her. Judge Myers continued the case two weeks for further investigation.

Established 1889 Assets Over $3,750,000

6%-and 6% Safety

You all know that carefully selected first mortgages on improved property make "gilt-edge" security.

Then when we tell you that our 6% Investment Certificates are all backed by this "gilt-edge" security you will have some idea of their safety.

But to give you a complete idea of their absolute safety you should know more about these first mortgages. In the first place, they represent only about half the value of the real property. And in almost every case the mortgage is on the home of the borrower, making it a moral certainty that the borrower will repay the loan rather than sacrifice his home. This will explain why we have only about $2500 worth of property taken through foreclosure, although we have nearly $4,000,000 loaned on improved property valued at more than $9,000,000.

From these facts and figures you can easily understand why no one has ever lost a dollar invested with us.

For a safe, sure 6%, invest your money in our $100.00 Certificates. Call or write for complete description.

Making Vagrants?

SAY GOVERNMENT MISREPRESENTS.

AMERICAN MINERS IN MEXICO ARRAIGN WILSON.

Declare Policy of United States Administration Milk Sop and Demand Protection, Not Intervention, for Interests of Foreigners Who Have Property South of Boundary.

"Americans are being rushed out of Mexico through the misrepresentations of their own government," declares O. B. Glover, who, with E. B. Holt, is owner of two rich operating mines in the southern republic, one of them the Sierra de Plata, thirty-five miles south of Nogales, and the other, the Patsy, lying seventy miles east of Magdalena. Glover has just brought his family from Mexico, partly at the instigation of government officials and partly in order to afford his children the opportunities of an education in Los Angeles.

Glover and Holt are recognized among the influential Americans of Northwestern Mexico and at the Alexandria yesterday discussed at length the present situation.

"What the Americans in Mexico need is protection, not intervention, and if it were not for the schoolboy attitude of President Wilson and the milk-sop lecture plank of Secretary Bryan, this would long ago have been accomplished," said Glover.

"The policy of this government has been weak and inadequate. Had the United States, after stepping into the affair and pretending to uphold the Monroe doctrine, proceeded to enforce it by closing a single port, say Vera Cruz or Magdalena, Huerta and his Cabinet would soon be brought to terms.

"When the Americans arrive in this country, after giving up their possessions and find so farcical a situation, they also discover that it is impossible to return, because the government refuses to pay return passages and here they become little more than vagrants, a charge on which they can be arrested should they attempt to recross the line.

"Personally, we are going right ahead with our policy of development despite troublesome times. Our Sierra de Plata property has been raided on several occasions, as frequently by the Federalists as by the Constitutionalists. Of the two parties, the latter is far more friendly to the Americans and with the great land owners, who have closed their haciendas and are residing mostly in Southern California or abroad, would welcome the intervention threatened by this country.

"Mexico is beyond the period of government by the general people. The only manner in which a settlement of present difficulties can come is through a powerful monarchial, one-man rule—dictation—and at present the man seems to be lacking. As for the matter of annexing a part of Mexico for an indemnity charge for outrages, damages and other things committed against Americans, there is nothing definite to be said. Mexican officials have produced maps marked with the territory to be given over to this country, but there is little credence to be given these until official action is taken."

Holt will leave today to return to Mexico, while Glover will remain indefinitely during his purchase of a new mill and other machinery to be placed on his property.

CONDEMNATION SUIT.

An ominous date was selected yesterday for the trial of the condemnation suit of the county against P. T. Sullivan, February 13, 1914. The date was set yesterday in Judge Finlayson's court. The facts appear to be that the county, under the protection of district law, built a ditch from the Rubio wash to Rio Hondo, about five miles long, twelve feet deep and forty feet wide. When the ditch reached Sullivan's place, he got out an injunction, stopping the work.

The construction company had its men and tools on the ground and so that the work should not be delayed the county brought a condemnation suit against Sullivan. A stipulation was entered into between the parties whereby Sullivan was to receive $2216 for the strip through his property. He brought suit later claiming his property by being cut in two by the ditch would be damaged $20,000.

BEATS GASOLINE.

Deputy Sheriff Larimer returned from Ogden yesterday with Louis and George Stevens, who are charged with stealing an automobile and driving it to Ogden, where they were arrested upon a telegraphic warrant.

Many Years' Test of Eckman's Alterative

For several years a large number of voluntarily written testimonials from persons who recovered from Lung Trouble have been received by the makers of Eckman's Alterative, a remedy for the treatment of Throat and Lung Troubles. Surely plenty of time to demonstrate its lasting value. You can write to any of them for confirmation. Here is one:

5323 Girard Ave., Phila., Pa.

"Gentlemen: In the Winter of 1903 I had an attack of Grippe, followed by Pneumonia and later by Consumption. In the winter of 1904 I had cough, night sweats, fever and raised quantities of awful-looking stuff and later I had many hemorrhages; at one time three in three successive days. Milk and eggs became so distasteful I could keep nothing down. Three physicians treated me. I was ordered to the mountains, but did not go. Eckman's Alterative was recommended by a friend. After taking a small quantity I had the first quiet night's sleep for weeks. My improvement was marked from the first, gained strength and weight, and appetite. I never had another hemorrhage and my cough gradually lessened until entirely gone. I am perfectly well."

(Affidavit) ANNIE F. LOUGHRAN.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most effective in cases of severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain narcotics, poison or habit-forming drugs. For sale by The Owl Drug Co. and other leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

MISTAKEN FOR BURGLAR.

Man Attempts to Commit Suicide and His Writhing Body Is Cause for Much Alarm.

Tom Bannon identified himself as a would-be suicide victim yesterday, when mistaken for a burglar in the rooming-house at No. 1519 South Main street, where tragedy still lingers. It was there that Irene Noble met and was courted by Fred Kolb, who later shot and fatally wounded her. In the same house Miss Noble's mother, Mrs. W. B. Guinand, grieved herself into insanity after the death of her daughter. And yesterday the oldest lodger, Bannon, tried to take his life.

After deciding that all the future was worthless if he could not spend it with his wife, who had become estranged, Bannon aware of the former tragedies in the house, made ready to take his life. He piled himself with arsenic until his flesh writhed with the attack of the poison. Down the corridor of the house he staggered, then braced himself in an obscure corner to expend his last conscious thought alone.

As he stood there, the arsenic attacked him with more fury and he went down. As he fell someone in the house thought he saw a burglar and raised an alarm that attracted attention to the fallen figure. Then the man was taken to the Receiving Hospital. He is in a precarious condition.

The keeper of the house is Mrs. Thomas Krelle, who is a sister of Mrs. Guinand.

BEACH SLANDER SUIT.

Wife of Hotel Manager Accused of Having Uttered Words Against Guest in Another's Hearing.

The guests of the Savoy Hotel, Long Beach, are in a flutter of excitement over a slander suit filed yesterday by Mrs. Lucille Ballard, a widow, against Mrs. Seth W. Decker, wife of the hotel manager, for alleged malicious and false remarks made in the presence of Mrs. Bell Foote. The suit is directed against both Mr. and Mrs. Decker and is for $25,000—$12,500 on each of two counts.

Mrs. Ballard was a guest of the hotel, which she declares was crowded on the occasions when she alleges Mrs. Decker slandered her. According to Mrs. Ballard, Mrs. Decker refused to retract her words, although knowing them to be false, and in consequence Mrs. Ballard says she lost prestige among her friends, acquaintances and business associates.

DISPUTE IS AIRED.

A dispute over the will of Daniel O. Davies, who died at Monrovia July 11, last, leaving an estate of $10,000, was partially aired in the Probate Court yesterday and will be resumed today with the examination of Dan Davies, a son, who alleges that a will does not exist. He states that he saw his father throw his will into the stove. Dan's brothers and sisters allege that the will was in his possession and call upon him to produce it.

The question before the court is what became of the will, and in threshing it out an interesting family history is anticipated. The legatees under the will are Dan, Ruth Bulla, Sarah J. Johnson, John R. Davies and Mary E. Griffen. Dan is represented by Attorney O'Brien; the interests of his brothers and sisters are looked after by Attorney Sanders.

Strange Cult.

sister and her other disciples hypnotized. They would stand on their heads if she gave the order."

A negro man called at Miller's store yesterday and told him that Sister Smith had come between him and his sweetheart, and that he hoped that her colony would be suppressed. Several persons, who evidently were of the cult, called Miller over the telephone, and told him that the negroes was sincere in her work and that his sister was not in danger in her care.

"I first went out to Sister Smith's out of curiosity and then I was convinced that she had true religion," Miss Miller said yesterday. "I think that she is the best woman that I have ever known. She believes that she gets her revelations direct from God and I believe that she does, too.

"My curiosity turned to genuine interest when she cured me of a headache. I have been a firm believer in her religion since that time I think that she can cure almost anybody of almost anything, and she does it all by faith."

Miss Miller is back in her brother's home at No. 242 West Forty-third street, where she had been given up as lost.

AN EPISCOPAL CONVOCATION.

Semi-Annual Meetings to Begin This Evening.

Long Beach Man Works for Sunday Observance.

Industrial Smoker Attended by Five Hundred.

LONG BEACH, Sept. 22.—The semi-annual convocation of the Los Angeles district of the Southern California Episcopal diocese, comprising Los Angeles and Orange counties, will convene at St. Luke's Church in this city tomorrow night and continue through Wednesday. Bishop Johnson will preside and deliver the convocation sermon on Tuesday evening, being a message to the people of the parish.

The convocation proper, consisting of the rectors and lay delegates from each parish in the district, will convene Wednesday morning and the general topic of the day will be "The Field Is the World," with a practical conference on how to extend the church area in the district. The morning will be devoted to a business session which includes the election of officers and the submission of reports.

The afternoon will be devoted to reports of missionaries and parish work during which several interesting papers are scheduled. Chief among these are "Opportunities in the San Fernando Valley," Rev. Isaac Bigby; "The Call of the City," Rev. Charles T. Murphy, Jr.; "The City Parish and Parochial Missions," Rev. George Davidson; "The Town Parish and Surrounding Country," Rev. A. G. F. Bode; "An Efficiency Plan for the Connection of Los Angeles," Rev. C. L. Mosher. The evening session will be a missionary meeting with addresses by Rev. Robert Renison, on "The Foreground of the Field," and by Rev. Marcus E. Carver, on "The Field Is the World."

SIX-DAY ADVOCATES.

Rev. G. W. Grannis, injured in a train wreck this morning at Everett, Wash., came here a month ago to reside permanently, and is general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance of the United States, an association organized for its object the cessation of all labor on the Sabbath. He is a Civil War veteran and was formerly a Methodist minister, but for four years has had charge of the field work of the Lord's Day Alliance, and last year pushed the campaign for a six days of rest in thirty-seven States. He was a leader in the campaign for Sunday rest for postoffice employees. He went North to attend the National Rural Carriers' Convention in San Francisco and thence started on a tour through Oregon and Washington. He expected to return to Long Beach October 1.

INDUSTRIAL SMOKER.

The industrial smoker given tonight at the Kennebec by the Chamber of Commerce was a big success and was attended by between 400 and 500 of the business and professional life of Long Beach, who listened with interest to an exposition of the development, magnitude and resources of the industrial features of the city, directly interested in each industry.

A novel feature of the smoker was a surprise and consisted of 3000 feet of motion films showing scenes of each industry, especially those in the harbor district. Another feature of the evening was the singing of the Los Angeles Ad Club quartette. Following the programme a light lunch was served, followed by "smokes" also made in Long Beach.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The failure of the last week to pass a bond issue for a new City Hall will make it necessary for the city to at once provide steel or concrete vaults for the safety of the city records of the Clerk, Engineer, Assessor and Board of Public Works. At present the records are stowed away in every nook and cranny of the hall, and in the event of fire very little could be saved.

The merchants of the city have decided upon October 2, 3 and 4 for the Fall and Winter Fashion show and all are agreed that it will eclipse previous efforts, as the display will be extended to every retail dry goods and clothing store in the city this year—a united effort for the first time.

BUSY YEAR AHEAD.

South Pasadena Trustees Will Do a Lot of Work Along the Line of Street Improvement.

SOUTH PASADENA, Sept. 22.—The Trustees of South Pasadena have a programme for street improvements during the coming year that will be most comprehensive. Last year, South Pasadena spent a large sum on its streets, and for the coming year the city budget allows generously for improvement.

Among the streets to be paved are of course first and foremost, Huntington drive, that has been the subject for some legal contest as to ways and means. The Supreme Court has settled that and work will be started at once. Fair Oaks avenue and Monterey road are to be paved as soon as sewer pipes and gas mains are put in, and other streets are to receive attention.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Louis Humason has been elected head gatekeeper of the High School by the student body. The athletic field of the school has been enclosed by a high wire fence and a regular admission fee will be charged for the more important athletic events on the field. Humason will have a number of assistants. Commodious dressing-rooms, complete with lockers, showers and other necessary conveniences, are located under the bleachers. The High School never before had brighter prospects than now in athletics. Football practice has already been started under the direction of Coach White. Ben Cravens has been elected captain, to take the place of Louis Filley, who resigned on account of going to an eastern college. Twenty-five boys have already signed up for practice.

Those in favor of the proposed bond issue for South Pasadena took definite action in opening an office at the corner of Mission and Fair Oaks avenue, under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce. A committee consisting of William Hazlett, E. O. Wickizer, H. C. Mason and N. Ledgerwood, was appointed by the directors of the chamber to take charge of the campaign for favoring the bond issue. The work was started at once, and a committee meeting was held this evening for organization. Extensive investigations into the sewer and the water questions of other cities, which have had the same problems to solve, will be made. All the people of the city will be given full and authoritative information on all subjects connected with the bond issue, and every question concerning all the phases of the proposed plans, will be discussed fully.

VENITIAN BRIEFS.

VENICE, Sept. 22.—Grammar schools of Venice opened this morning, registering 675 pupils. This number is expected to be increased by at least forty by the end of the week. The enrollment for the first week of last year was 615, according to Principal Thornbury's records. At present there are crowded quarters owing to the fact that the new Central building is not yet completed. This will be ready in three weeks. At the High School, Principal Work reported the registration of 108 pupils.

Next Sunday will be known as Japanese day in Venice. The sons of the Flowery Kingdom will be invited to come here and celebrate. They will be welcomed by the members of the Kinney Company, and by their countrymen in Venice and Santa Monica. Japanese fireworks will be the feature, and Japanese lanterns and decorations will be conspicuous.

Harry Hull and C. J. Billings today commenced the erection of an arcaded business structure on Loreli avenue and Trolleyway. The tearing down of the old frame structure is now under way. Since the advent of the postoffice on that street, Loreli avenue has taken on a busy aspect.

F. W. Rogers, who lives at No. 302 Avenue Sixty-one, Los Angeles, and who is deaf, was riding a bicycle on Washington road late last night when he was run into and hurt about the head. The deaf man turned directly in front of the auto, driven by Mrs. James D. Weeks.

CORNERSTONE IS LAID.

Tropico Methodists After Years of Patient Work Get New Plan of Worship Under Way.

TROPICO, Sept. 22.—For a decade the members of the First Methodist Church of Tropico have labored to secure a new church edifice. At last the hope has become a fact, for this afternoon the cornerstone of a handsome new church was laid with due solemnity. Rev. S. W. Carnes, the pastor of the church, arranged a programme and a number of prominent clergymen and laymen were present.

The block of marble which serves as the cornerstone, was donated by Mrs. Henry Goodsell in memory of a son, who passed away in Oakland in the year 1879, and in the box of papers, documents, Bible, church discipline and other data pertaining to the history of this church, was also placed a picture of Mrs. Goodsell's young son.

The church to be erected will be of pressed brick and is being built at the corner of Central avenue and Palmer street. The approximate cost of the church will be $7000.

MONROVIA.

MONROVIA, Sept. 22.—Monrovia will soon be the "best sidewalked" city in the State, according to plans of the City Engineer, made public today, calling for the improvement of local thoroughfares, with more than twelve miles and a half of sidewalks, to be laid under one contract. The maps, plans and specifications for the work have been recommended to the City Council by a special committee, consisting of Mayor Dorland, Trustee Tifal and City Engineer Gierlich, and the preliminary work will be commenced at Council meeting tomorrow evening. The work will be done under the Vrooman act.

A broken harness strap and slipping harness caused a fractious horse to bolt on West White Oak avenue this morning about 11 o'clock, and resulted in a broken rib for the owner of the animal, R. R. Smith of No. 712 South Ivy, who was driving it to a light buggy. Smith succeeded in turning the horse's head off the street when it started to run, and the buggy was bounced over two high curbs, throwing out the driver upon the lawn of the J. S. Leonard home.

OPPOSES EXTRADITION.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 22.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] J. H. Shreve, brother of two well-known attorneys in San Diego, who is under indictment in Knoxville, Tenn., on a charge of obtaining a large sum of money under false pretenses, will fight extradition, he says. Detective W. E. O'Connor of Knoxville is in San Diego with extradition papers.

It is charged Shreve defrauded a mercantile company in Tennessee out of $1891.20 after submitting a statement to Bradstreet's to the effect that his assets exceeded his liabilities $87,028.

GIANT TREES IN THE PATH OF UNCHECKED FOREST FIRE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA CRUZ, Sept. 22.—The ragging fire, which presumably was started from rays of the sun focused through a bottle, swept without check through a hundred yards of the giants of the forest in Fremont grove big trees this afternoon. Desperate efforts on the part of 500 fire fighters saved the grove, however, although the flames burned unchecked, despite backfiring. The fire by 8 o'clock had extended over ridges and down slopes to the San Lorenzo River, near Rincon, five miles from where it originated.

The fire started a short distance south of Mount Hermon, and threatened that resort, with its scores of fine buildings. A sudden change of wind carried the flames sweeping toward the Felton station for a mile. The fire devastated brush and laid underbrush on the fine timber land of Stanley G. Welch of San Francisco, and scattered over a wide area.

More than 300 men on the property of the Henry Cowell Lime and Cement Company, near the big trestle in the grove, backfired from wood roads and turned the fire southward, saving the grove. It has spread until tonight it is plainly visible from town on the ridges north of the Hercules Powder plant, and every precaution is being taken to keep the fire from getting dangerously close.

Fire warden Walter Welch is directing the fighting. The Southern Pacific Company sent 100 men, gathered from its divisions between Watsonville Junction and San Jose, who are at work under direction of Roadmaster P. W. Bernard.

The Cowell company loses thousands of dollars in cut wood, and Welch loses heavily.

COLORADO RIVER WATER WANTED FOR IMPERIAL.

IMPERIAL, Sept. 22.—Director Oliver O. Hamilton of the Imperial irrigation district has gone to the Colorado River for the purpose of securing 10,000 second feet of water from that river for the Imperial Valley. This contemplates the acquisition by the district of the California Development Company, and is with a view to the people of the valley acquiring their own water system.

At the same time it has been well understood by those interested that the district would take this method of securing the rights of the people of Imperial, and that the papers for the purchase have been in preparation for some time past. They have just been completed, and Mr. Hamilton will file the filing and take the case in hand. It is expected that in the month the directors will have laid before them a definite plan looking to the purchase by the district of the Southern Pacific Company for $2,500,000, the same to be paid for at Riverside, and the company guaranteeing the completion of the irrigation system free of charge against it. Before any bonds can be issued it will have to be approved by the directors of the railroad company, who are to meet soon, and it is said to have approved of the proposition, and it will likely be ratified by them. The honor of meeting the governor of Mexico is not included in the price quoted, because it is agreed that this cannot be controlled by the irrigation district. In the proposal made several years ago by the then president of the Southern Pacific Company to sell to the people of the Imperial Valley for about $5,000,000, the Mexican holdings were included, so the later price does not represent the cut in valuation which appears at the first glance at the proposition. The details of the negotiations have not been made public, but several members of the directorate are agreed that the proposition is very encouraging, and they are waiting for returns from Mexico. The whole matter will be referred to the vote of the people as soon as the negotiations have been completed.

The purchase implies a steady round of improvements to the present system, though there is a question as to whether the Supervisors should call for an additional bond issue to cover them. Some of the directors hold that the bonds should be issued at once and the improvements be made now, while others think that at the present water rate the system will pay a profit and the profit can be used in betterment of the system, the improvements being ample under this system to take care of all future requirements. This question, however, will likely be submitted to the voters separately.

A LONG-FELT WANT.

We are waiting for the man who will invent a deodorant sandwich. Something to eat that would not smell like itself and would not let anything else smell would certainly be a joy to society.

THE WHOLE MENAGERIE.

A lady cat at Oak Knoll is building a big home with fine quarters for her dogs and parrots. We trust that the plumbing and ventilation of the nursery are also adequate. Nurseries are mostly a myth. The poor cannot afford them, and the rich do not need them.

MUCH TALKED ABOUT.

Bryan is a good international joke which it is sometimes hard for us Americans to appreciate because we have to live with him. His lectures this year have only yielded him a little more than $7000. This will hardly pay the taxes on his personal property in one State. The least that California can do is to continue to send him his grape juice free.

WANTED, AN INTERPRETER.

"Corban uncaged a humming bird in the general direction of short and Ernie, being of the Scandinavian and not the Senegambian variety of Johnson, declined to partake of the proffered poultry. Roy Earl Coopered to Pageville, doing the last quarter in nothing and arriving by way of the subway." No, gentle reader, this is neither a cubist poem nor modern profanity, but merely the conventional speech of the baseball fan under normal speed.

A GOOD SIGN.

The first violets came Monday, small and surprised as a new baby, or as a wee bird finding itself out of the nest for the first time. The first violets and the first rain, and now we know that the sun smiled on us last week through an Indian summer haze and that this is the turn toward another spring, with no winter at all between. Violets, rain and green hills for what we call winter, and spring roses for every day in the year. This is California.

A GOOD MOVE.

The Pacific Electric again announces a short line to South Pasadena by way of Fairdstown, which will give beautiful Oak Hill and the ostrich farm under it a direct service at a reduced expense of time and fare and will eliminate the dangerous and often-condemned wooden bridge which spans Arroyo Seco between Garvanza and the ostrich farm at a great height. This improvement will be of value to the railroad company and will provide traffic relief for one of the loveliest districts in Southern California.

REBELLION IN MARYLAND.

In Maryland the Progressive hookworm has seized upon the "innards" of the Democratic party, and the air is thick with the dissolving fragments of the Gorman dynasty, which for many years has ruled the "blue hen's chickens."

Drifting apart among Democrats will be an invitation to Republicans to get together. Democratic dissension will be Republican opportunity. If the two M's—Massachusetts and Maryland—shall follow the example of Maine the day may come when Tobias will no longer whirl upon his Progressive, Socialistic, anarchistic, hostis humanis generis tripod and indulge in the unwarranted reflection that he is IT.

ELECTION IN MASSACHUSETTS.

Today the Republican primaries in Massachusetts will determine whether Congressman Augustus P. Gardner or Col. Everett C. Benton shall be the Republican nominee for Governor. Charles Sumner Bird will be the Progressive candidate. Benton is supported by the irreconcilable, standpat and stand-apart element of the Republican party, as Bird is supported by the Bull Moose, anti-get-togethers in the Progressive party. Gardner is the representative of the reconciliation, protective-tariff, principles-first-and-men-afterwards, Democracy-be-damned voters. Gardner is supported by Progressive Republicans like Curtis Guild, one-time Governor of Massachusetts and until recently Ambassador to Russia.

The outlook of today's struggle in Massachusetts will be awaited with interest.

DEEPENING THE MISSOURI RIVER.

With $2,000,000 in hand the United States engineering office in Kansas City is undertaking to make a six-foot channel in the Missouri River from Kansas City to St. Louis. Several thousand men will soon be at work. "Already," says the Boston Sentinel, "a large number of the shallow spots in the river have been deepened, and the steamboats are carrying full cargoes and many sightseers from one city to the other." More boats are being added to the fleet, and the revival of river traffic is bringing new life to many of the older river towns, while the farmers in the bottoms are profiting. Their wheat and corn, which frequently had to be hauled long distances to the railroads, is now piled up on the bank, loaded on the boats and shipped to St. Louis. Besides the haul to the railroad which they save, they get their grain carried to market for one-fifth less than the railroads charge. From St. Louis to Kansas City the freight offered is frequently in excess of the capacity of the steamers, and it is necessary to divert the cheaper and heavier shipments to the railroad.

THE DOMINATION OF WILSON.

The Washington Star says that "No President of modern times has so potentially influenced—shall it be said dominated?—Congress as the present occupant of the White House."

He is not only as despotic as a country schoolmaster, he is as adroit a hugger-mugger as ever sold a gold brick to an eager victim. He did not seize Congressmen and Senators by the nape of the neck and thrust them into a prearranged caucus. He took them gently by the arm and guided them. His directing hand was mail-clad, but it was covered with a glove of velvet.

Nowhere is the result of his dominance more promiinent than in the sugar schedule. "It does not," says the Star, "reflect the judgment of the leadership of either the House or Senate, but is the President's own."

That it will cause prodigious loss of revenue is incontestible; that it will cripple a vast American industry is inevitable, and that it will in the end not reduce the cost of sugar to the consumer is apparent. "But the President wanted it his way and he got it."

"President Wilson's success in handling Congress," says the Star, "is admitted to be due to the free application of caucus rule. Recourse to caucus domination has been invoked more persistently, more frequently and with larger results in this Congress than heretofore." There is no question that the caucus saved the tariff bill in the Senate, and that without its ironclad application, a combination of Senators from Western and Southern States whose products have been free-listed would have been more than probable.

The best sugar-beet growers and wool producers of Arizona, and Nevada, and Colorado, and Montana, and Oregon are intelligent enough to know and independent enough to proclaim that their business interests have been sacrificed by their Democratic Senators. The motive that induced this sacrifice—that of superserviceable compliance with the wishes of President Wilson—seem altogether inadequate to the sagebrush voters. The prices of wool and of beet sugar and the wages of herders and shearers and ranch hands are of more consequence in Arizona, Nevada, Colorado, Montana and Oregon than all the fine-spun politico-economic, free-trade theories forced upon Congress by the schoolmaster in the White House. The voters in Arizona do not care whether the gentlemen named by Mark Smith and Henry Ashurst get the postmasterships and other Federal offices or not. They do care for a loss of several cents a pound on wool and several dollars a ton on beets.

The Senators who have sacrificed the interests of their constituents to White House dictation can never explain it. Rival candidates for their places both in their own and in the opposing party will pour hot shot into them from every stump and in every newspaper.

TO PROMOTE GOOD ROADS.

The third American road congress, to be held in Detroit, Mich., for a week, beginning September 29, bids fair to be a gathering of unusual character. The place is well chosen, for Detroit is the center of a great automobile manufacturing industry. But it is not to be assumed that the automobile interest will be the whole thing at the congress. On the contrary, while due recognition is given to the importance of having good roads for motor cars, it is seen that the matter is of far wider scope. Farmers and others who use the highways are more deeply interested than the ordinary automobilist, who rides mainly for pleasure. The extent to which the congress focuses public sentiment that favors better highways is seen in the number of organizations in more or less close co-operation. In the congress there will be parties representing twenty-six bodies affiliated with the American Highway and the American Automobile Associations, points out the Times of Troy, N. Y.

So great is the interest in better roads that the American Bar Association, the American Bankers' Association and the National Grange have indorsed the congress and the movement thus represented, and members of these organizations will participate in the proceedings at Detroit. The national government also has lent powerful support to the good-roads cause, and the Secretary of Agriculture will be at the congress and open the proceedings, while the director of the office of public roads, which has become a prominent division of the Department of Agriculture, will have an active part. In response to an invitation Premier Borden of the Dominion of Canada has sent word that officials of his government will attend. This is additionally significant of the interests which the two countries share in common. Canada is moving for improved roads and she will meet many of the highways of the United States at the boundary line and continue them through her own realm. The impetus this must give to the travel and to closer business and social connections is self-evident. The "Quebec-to-Florida" projected highway, for instance, closer relations, a wider communication means more business with us by Canada and more business by us with Canada, already our largest customer, next to Great Britain.

THE MEXICAN PERPLEXITY.

In none of the books on international law that have ever been written, can there be found a page or a paragraph sustaining the right of any government to meddle in the politics of a friendly nation whose sovereignty and the personnel of whose Chief Executive have been recognized by the civilized powers of the world?

The demand of President Wilson that President Huerta shall not be a candidate for the Presidency at the coming October election is an unprecedented demand, and—not to put too fine a point upon it—an unwarrantable impertinence. It is a demand that violates not only the law of nations, but the canons of common sense.

President Wilson closes and bandages his eyes against the actual conditions existing in Mexico. He is wantonly oblivious of the fact that the revolutionary or bandit chieftains who are conducting sporadic insurrections against the Huerta government are either ostensibly or actually animated by a desire to avenge the fate that befell Madero, and that the best elements of the Mexican population look to the Huerta government for the restoration of peace.

President Wilson seems obstinately determined to remain in ignorance of the fact that Huerta five days before Madero was shot was elected provisional President by the Mexican Congress and was subsequently recognized as such by the Mexican Supreme Court. President Wilson refuses to be aware that President Huerta is exercising all the functions of government and has been recognized as President de facto and de jure by all the great powers of the world, with the single exception of the United States.

The noticeable circumstance in Mexican politics is that there is no rival claimant of the Presidency. There is no leader around whom the public sentiment of Mexico has crystallized for President. Carranza, Zapata, Pesqueira, Maytorena, Obregon, Alvarado, Juan Dozal and Bauche Alcalde are fighting among themselves. Obregon at a recent meeting with Pesqueira in Nogales accused the latter of having robbed the public funds and drew his gun against his former companion.

The first proposal of President Wilson sent by Ambassador Lind to the Huerta government was that "hostilities should cease." Who is to "cease" them? With whom are negotiations for a cessation of hostilities to be conducted? There are eight bands of insurrectos in the field, each fighting not only the Huerta government, but the other seven bands as well.

"What," says a New York publication named Mexico, "would be the result of an immediate cessation of hostilities on the part of the Federal government under the direction of President Huerta? That brigandage which is now being suppressed would at once upsurge again everywhere like a terrible Hydra, and anarchy would ensue." The rebel leaders would only cease hostilities if each one individually were assured that he was going to manage the elections.

President Wilson has been insistent in the expression of his desire that a "fair election" be held in Mexico and, at the same time, he demands that there shall be eliminated from such "fair" election the control of the only man in Mexico who has either the power or the disposition to secure fairness—Huerta.

It may not be forgotten that Madero, having secured the departure from Mexico of President Diaz, who gave up the Presidency rather than witness a slaughter of his countrymen, provided for an election while the machinery of government was in the hands of members of his family and close friends. "He was," says Mexico, "the only candidate in the field, Gen. Reyes having been previously eliminated by forcible methods. Madero received an actual vote of less than 23,000 out of 4,000,000 voters. His followers declared that he had been unanimously elected. At the time he ascended to the Presidency there were more armed men in the field than upon the resignation of Gen. Diaz. Madero had not been in power three months when he was confronted by a formidable rebellion in the north led by Orozco and by rebellious movements in fourteen different States and by brigandage overrunning the whole country, and he had not been in power six months before the revolution led by Orozco had full possession of the whole State of Chihuahua, conducting an actual separate government, a condition much worse than the one now confronting the government of President Huerta.

Whatever the future may have in store, it cannot be denied that the Mexican policy of President Woodrow Wilson thus far has been a deplorable failure, and that his ignorance and defiance of international law and his egotistical and assumptious interference in Mexico has worked incalculable injury to American personal and property rights in our sister republic.

SPANKING HIS FATHER.

The Rev. Calvin Hanley, at one time pastor of the John D. Rockefeller Baptist Church in Cleveland, O., has been soundly and sufficiently spanked by his son, President E. A. Hanley, of Franklin College, Terre Haute, Ind. The spanking was supervised by the Rev. Mr. Parker, a member of the executive board of Franklin College.

The spanker justified his unfilial treatment of the spankee by the statement that for twenty-five years he had reluctantly kept his hands off his father; but when he learned that his father had called his mother an unspeakable name and wished she were in hell, he could no longer restrain a weird impulse which had gathered strength every year for two and one-half decades. He recalled the woodshed and back-porch experiences of his boyhood. He hied him to his father's home and demanded of the old clergyman that he apologize to his wife for the remarks and actions accredited to him. This the man of God refused to do and not only repeated his desire to consign the lady to the lower regions, but also his ardent wish that his son might join her there.

The son then proposed to whip the father even as the father had whipped the son in years long agone. The father attempted to reach a gun in the corner. The son baffled him, seized him, pushed him towards a lounge, placed him thereon face downwards—and—the rest may be imagined.

THE SUNDAY BLAZE.

Main street suffered from another big fire Sunday and it would have been worse except for the prompt and effective action of the splendid fire-fighters of this city. Main street seems to have had more than its share of misfortune from the flames lately. Perhaps this is because it is the oldest business thoroughfare in the city and fewer of its buildings are of the modern fireproof type. The old are being replaced by the new right along, and these fires only hasten the work of reconstruction. The change of order ought to be voluntary, however, and not enforced by conflagrations which cost so much in all other directions. It is impossible to fully cover fire loss by insurance because there is no way of estimating the loss in time and opportunity which is brought about by such delays to an establishment. America's total fire loss is something stupendous every year. There is no sure way to avoid many fires, but everybody should use all conscious precaution against a force so destructive.

[Baltimore American:] Thirty-three girls in a straight line of descent, without the birth of a boy, was marked when a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Silas W. Jackson of Lawrenceburg, Ind.

This baby is the eleventh daughter of the eleventh daughter of an eleventh daughter, and should develop some remarkable traits.

The record of the mother, grandmother and great-grandmother, none of whom ever gave birth to a boy, is considered remarkable and perhaps the only one of its kind in the world, or at least that portion of the world where vital statistics are kept.

NERVES A LA MODE.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Nerves are so interesting. And really, one is not in the movement at all nowadays unless they can claim some sort of nerve complaint. It is almost impossible for a woman to be socially correct if she is not "highly strung," "temperamental," and of such delicate timbre that the slightest untoward incident sets her all of a quiver and creates a panic in the family on her behalf.

If you are not nervous you must necessarily be plebian. Your modern society dame is always careful to impress you with her intensely well-bred temperament by explaining, with full details, just how very nervous and hypersensitive she is, poor dear. In order to show you to what a marked extent she is the creamiest of creamy patricians, she will, if you are not very spry, treat you to a series of continued-in-our-next conversations that cannot fail to leave you envious and—er—sympathetic, of course.

Nerves are the recognized burden of the rich and socially superb. And they utter their soft and sublimely-resigned complaints with such charmingly-modulated voices, such attractive little gestures of deprecation, and such exquisite egotism, that we normal females, upon whom the average hotel carpet or the average hotel wall paper makes small impression, feel properly vulgar and shudder at our own blunted sensibilities.

Nothing displays one's inherent bourgeoisie quite so much as calm fortitude in the smaller trials of life. It is thoroughly plebeian to remain unmoved in the face of a common linen tablecloth and a coarse napkin, for instance. Obviously, you must be used to such things if they do not scourge your very soul and set your nerves twittering with unendurable irritation. If you find that you can breathe quite comfortably in an atmosphere of near-Brussels carpets and $1.75-a-pair curtains, you can take it from me that you are wholly lacking in that essential refinement which might some day promote you to the ranks of really high society.

It behooves your flesh to be so delicate that it can endure nothing but the finest of silk stockings and underwear. Until you have learned to shudder miserably in plain cotton I regret to assure you you are no lady. That is how I knew that the chambermaid who recently attended to my superfluous wants was so much more of a lady than I could ever hope to be. A certain wealthy dame, who has every right to patronize me when it comes to the aristocracy of nerves, had been informing me, serially, for some time that she could not endure any hosiery but a certain kind of silk that is imported especially for her from Bengal, and I had been very properly impressed. There was a lady for you! I felt the full force of my inferiority and blushed to recall that I had managed to enjoy life with the utmost plebian vulgarity in the kind that are three pairs for $1 and double trading stamps on Wednesday.

But I could bear that. After all, I could never hope to be as grand as she was, anyway. But my degradation was complete when the chambermaid, whom I suspected of investigating my modest wardrobe beforehand, likewise confided in me her extreme sensibility on the subject of silk stockings. "Oh, yer simply can't wear anythink else, can yer? For my part, if I couldn't have silk stockings, I wouldn't have none." The diction was different, but the sentiments the same, and I wondered miserably if I dared cut out her "fee" at the end of my visit and buy silk stockings instead. But of course I couldn't. After all, her sensitive temperament needed them, and my plebeian one didn't

But apart from that, one must positively have a specified nervous complaint that requires constant treatment. It must necessitate your being held in the utmost consideration on all occasions, being deferred to in all matters that could remotely affect your personal comfort, and effectually prevent you from doing anything that you don't want to do. A properly cultivated nervous complaint can lend an otherwise hopelessly uninteresting person more attention than could be exacted by years of unselfish maternal devotion.

"You don't know how I suffer, dear. I am just a bundle of nerves," they will say with mournful pride—and without further investigation you can place them among the elect of this world's population. None but the "very best people" can afford to be just a bundle of nerves, dear.

In a newspaper article recently a prominent society dame discoursed upon this divine subject of nerves. Husbands, she said, should be taught to understand what nervous, delicate creatures wives are, and what careful consideration is their due. They cannot, she assured us, be treated like ordinary mortals! Man and superman, you see.

But that is just it; the women are not going to be allowed to have a monopoly of nerves, and the men intend to be every whit as highly civilized as women or know the reason why. Every one is busy cultivating nerves and delicate sensibilities, and the time is not far distant when all self-respecting cities will have velvet-piled sidewalks in the best districts.

We must be spared even the smallest shock at all costs, and sensitive feet should not be required to walk upon hard sidewalks, sensitive ears must not hear harsh sounds, sensitive eyes must look upon nothing but the beautiful, sensitive noses must breathe nothing but attar of roses, and sensitive souls must find an express-de-luxe route to heaven.

They will tell you that girls are becoming stronger and more hardened, that outdoor life is making them healthy, athletic and bouyant. I wonder. During the last three weeks I have met several dozen new women acquaintances and they all, positively all, have nerves. No decent female can afford to be seen without them nowadays. And when one talks to the average sol-disant athletic young woman you find that she, too, wallows in the embarrassing luxury of nerves. She golfs, and assures you that she is in a high state of nervous tension with every stroke. She plays tennis, and warns you that she will have to have an hour's rest in absolute quiet afterwards. She swims, and explains that her doctor advised it because of her highly-strung nervous sytem.

We are not really so very far removed from the fainting Amelias of the early Victorian era. We are just as helpless, just as morbid, just as defective, just as unhealthy and puny.

Gary Man's Yard Stolen.

[Chicago Inter Ocean:] Claude V. Ridgely, a Gary (Ind.) lawyer, reported to the police there that thieves had stolen his front yard. Ridgely paid $60 for a carload of black dirt to top off the Gary sand so he could have a lawn. The thieves came with a wagon and scraped Ridgely's yard.

ARIZONA WOMEN SCORE SENATOR.

Declare Smith Is Dodging the Suffrage Question.

Plot to Murder Phoenix Chief Is Discovered.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Sept. 21.—The Civic League of Phoenix, a women's organization, appears to have chased the Arizona Senators into a hole. About a month ago the league addressed Senators Smith and Ashurst, stating that its members, "as qualified voters of the State of Arizona, demand that, as our representative in the United States Senate, you cast your vote for the amendment giving universal suffrage to the women of the United States." Senator Ashurst "came through" with a letter in which, while not actually stating he would vote for the amendment, he said: "It gives me genuine pleasure to say that there are about forty-five Senators who will vote for the joint resolution," that proposing the equal suffrage amendment, and adding, "I really do not know how my colleague will vote upon the question."

SMITH'S REPLY.

Senator Smith's reply was much longer, but seems to have been wholly unsatisfactory to the league. It reflected, "I have been very much worried about this question. Suffrage is only a matter for the States themselves to settle, and I have no doubt that the safest and surest way for the spread of woman's suffrage is by an appeal to each State. Maine, Utah, Arizona and California, with enough other States to carry a constitutional amendment, might be treating very unfairly, Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama, whose people do not desire woman's suffrage. They have awful problems before them in these States, and I have no doubt that by and by, in the ordinary course of events, they, like Arizona and the other advanced States, will have woman's suffrage as a part of their laws. I am extremely desirous of carrying out the wishes of the ladies of Arizona and shall certainly do all I can to bring the question to a vote in the Senate, and hope by that time I may see my way clear to overcome some obstacles which trouble me very personally with you ladies."

So the league has adopted some resolutions, certified to by its president, Mrs. Pauline O'Neill, and its secretary, Mrs. Ruth Biddings, reciting that Arizona has voted, 2 to 1, for suffrage, that the Western States are unanimous for equal suffrage, that the Senators and Representatives should voice the majority vote of their constituents and that "We, the Civic League of Phoenix, do hereby condemn the vacillating attitude taken by Senator M. A. Smith in this important issue for the women of the United States."

CHANGE COURT PROCEDURE.

On October 1, the civil and criminal procedure of Arizona will radically change, in accordance with the provisions of the code passed by the last session of the First State Legislature. Inasmuch as the printing of the code, with a ninety-day delivery clause, has been awarded only during the past week to a Phoenix firm, much confusion is expected to result. The difficulty will be met to a degree by the immediate printing of a pamphlet embracing a number of provisions wherein there have been radical changes. The code will be in two volumes, with a first edition of 3000 copies.

Paving contracts amounting to $134,544 have just been awarded by the City Council, for work mainly upon Jefferson and Adams streets, and First avenue. About a third of the work has been taken by the Arizona Asphalt Paving Company, a local competitor of the Barber company, which has done all paving work in the city heretofore.

MAY ADOPT COMMISSION.

Mayor Christy states his belief that the city will be operating under a commission form of government by March 1, of next year. The charter election will be held October 11, and there is no doubt of popular approval of the plan of a commission form. Gov. Hunt will then pass upon the charter and an election for officials will follow within three months.

Under the operation of a State law that prescribes that no municipality shall increase its tax receipts more than 10 per cent a year, Phoenix is to be cramped for revenue during the coming year, according to the estimates of city officials. The tax to be levied will raise $283,000, declared at least $50,000 less than needed.

Atty.-Gen. Bullard has declared his intention to proceed immediately against the Phoenix Street Railway Company to compel the installation of many improvements and much new equipment ordered months ago by the State Corporation Commission.

The Corporation Commission has granted the Hoover Land and Water Company permission to sell bonds in connection with an irrigation scheme in the vicinity of Phoenix on which $68,000 already is said to have been spent. Water for the development of 10,000 acres is to be secured by diversion from the Hassayampa River and from wells.

MARSHALL COMING BACK.

If Congress adjourns much before December, Vice-President Marshall is likely to be an Arizona visitor, to spend a few weeks, if possible, on the small farm of his father-in-law, Wilbur E. Kimsey, at Scottsdale, twelve miles northeast of Phoenix.

J. O. Dunbar, a veteran Arizona editor, has definitely set October 11 as the date on which he will begin publication in Phoenix of a Democratic weekly, "that will not pander to socialism or demagogism, unbiased by political mendicants or cowardly politician servers." All of which is believed to have some reference to the present Democratic State administration.

By reason of the starting of a local cement factory, the price of cement in the local market has dropped a dollar a barrel, to $2.20 at retail, much lower than known elsewhere in the State. Outside cement companies are now bidding for the cut.

BALL CLUB DISBANDS.

A strong valley league has been cut by the loss of the Tempe baseball club, disbanded for lack of support. It is possible that the team will be taken over by Glendale.

ARIZONA WOMEN SCORE SENATOR.

Declare Smith Is Dodging the Suffrage Question.

Plot to Murder Phoenix Chief Is Discovered.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Sept. 21.—The Civic League of Phoenix, a women's organization, appears to have chased the Arizona Senators into a hole. About a month ago the league addressed Senators Smith and Ashurst, stating that its members, "as qualified voters of the State of Arizona, demand that, as our representative in the United States Senate, you cast your vote for the amendment giving universal suffrage to the women of the United States." Senator Ashurst "came back" with a letter in which, while not actually stating he would vote for the amendment, he said: "It gives me peculiar pleasure to say that there are about forty-five Senators who will vote for the joint resolution," that providing the equal suffrage amendment, and adding, "I really do not know how my colleague will vote upon the question."

SMITH'S REPLY.

Senator Smith's reply was much longer, but seems to have been wholly unsatisfactory to the league. It read, "I have been very much worried about this question. Suffrage is not a matter for the States themselves to settle, and I have no doubt that the safest and surest way for the spread of woman's suffrage is by an appeal to each State. The league has adopted some resolutions, certified to by its president, Miss Pauline O'Neill, and its secretary, Miss Ruth Riddings, reciting that Arizona has voted, 3 to 1, for suffrage, that the Western States are unanimous for equal suffrage, that the Senators and Representatives should voice the majority vote of their constituents and that "We, the Civic League of Phoenix, hereby condemn the vacillating attitude taken by Senator M. KIMBALL COMING BACK.

Congress adjourns much before December, Vice-President Marshall is to be an Arizona visitor, to spend a few weeks, if possible, on the ranch of his father-in-law, Wilson Bennett, at Scottsdale, twelve miles northeast of Phoenix.

Dan Kimball, a veteran Arizona newspaper man, is definitely set October 11 as the date on which he will begin publication in Phoenix of a Democratic paper that will not pander to socialism, unbiased by demagogism, unbiased by sentimentalists or cowardly politicians who preserve. All of which is believed to have some reference to the Democratic State administration.

Judgment of $12,675 damages, secured by a jury at Clifton against the Arizona and New Mexico Railway company, in favor of Thomas Brewer, an engineer, hurt while in the company's employ, has been sustained by the United States Court of Appeal at San Francisco.

As an aftermath of the Mexican Independence Day, not celebrated in Phoenix by request of the police, discovery has been made of a plot wherein four Mexicans conspired to murder Chief John Moore and Railroad Officer Charles Perry. The quartette comprised about all that had not been arrested of a large gang of Mexicans that had been making night hideous in the southwestern part of the city. Forewarned, the officers are looking for the conspirators and already have bagged one.

The Tendency.

AND MEN'S DRESS FOR WOMEN, MERCHANT PREDICTS.

Declares Courts Will Have to Be Invoked to Prevent Sartorial Excesses and Retain Distinctive Attire for Sexes—Less Deadly of the Species Doomed to Plumes.

"With the women imitating the men in dress, and the men imitating the women, something must happen or the natural result will be one style for both women and men," Joseph L. Daube, a wholesale dry goods merchant of Philadelphia, declared last night at the Alexandria.

"I am convinced that the courts will have to be invoked to stop the excesses of the women in imitating men's apparel. The male sex is in danger of losing its distinctive dress. Lately I have seen women in New York, Philadelphia and Washington wearing men's hose and men's garters. I saw the half-hose and garters through the slit in a skirt.

"The swagger stick of the women is our cane abbreviated. The women are wearing our scarfs and linen collars and our hats. One or two of the eastern States have enacted laws to prevent women from appearing in the raiment that is characteristic of men. That appears to be the only way to check the pronounced tendency."

Daube said that the men were showing the influence of women's fashions in their increasing fondness for colors in suits, hats, scarfs and hose.

"Green is increasing in popularity with men the country over," Daube continued. "The men just seem to be taking to green naturally. The green is very much in evidence in fall and winter styles and there will be more of it in the spring offerings. Green is rich in tone, distinctive and classy.

"One of the great advantages of green is that it combines with almost any other color. I think men will wear green for a long time. It is both sensible and stylish. The greens first became popular with men in England. The masses always have worn the dull colors. The classes wanted to be distinctive in dress, and consequently took to colors.

"It is only a short step from the little feather now worn in men's hats to the aigrette. The present tendency indicates that men may be wearing plumes on their hats in a few years. Men, however, don't care to wear skirts. The knickerbocker is increasing in popularity, and shows how women are influencing men in the matter of dress."

Daube owns a 2000-acre ranch near Twin Falls, Idaho. Recently he was elected an honorary member of the Luther Burbank Society of California, his name having been proposed by Senator Borah of Idaho.

LOVER GETS DECISION.

Arrested at Instigation of Girl's Parents. He Finds a Friend in the Visalia Justice.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VISALIA, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Despite the fact that William Tripp had made threats against their life, according to the testimony of Mr. and Mrs. E. Boyer, if he was restrained from taking 18-year-old Blanche Boyer from the parental roof, the young man was discharged today by Justice of the Peace Earl Bagby, before whom he was tried on a charge of contributing to the girl's delinquency. Tripp is engaged to Miss Boyer, but family opposition against the match has been strong, the parents strenuously objecting to him.

Tripp was arrested in Fresno a few weeks ago following an excursion there with the girl. At the time of his arrest, Miss Boyer, who was then only 17, was on the way back to Visalia, having been put aboard the train by her fiancee. The trip was said to have been taken to give the girl an opportunity to have a tooth fixed. The Boyers seized upon the opportunity to have Tripp arrested, but admitted today that they had no evidence tending to show that he had wronged their daughter.

[BASIL KING]

Advertisement

¶ This new novel, "The Way Home," touches greater depths of human nature than even "The Wild Olive" or "The Street Called Straight." It deals with the most important things of life, single life, married life and church life, and portrays the inner motives of a self-centered man. It is the story of the struggle between the spiritual and the material in the average man—a series of tense, emotional situations in which a strong man who was far from being a hero found himself. He found, too, a tower of strength in the love of the woman he had misunderstood.

Festival Choir Popular Concert.

MUSIC FEATURE OF INITIATION.

Festival Choir to Serenade Mayor Made Moose.

Northern Metropolis Deplores Loss of Beel.

Cabaret Singer's Comprehensive Golden Rule.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

Mayor Rose is scheduled to be initiated into the mysteries of the Order of Moose on the evening of October 3. This memorable event will take place in or about the Auditorium wherein the public will be invited to an ambitious musical festival.

It will be given by the Festival Choir of Southern California, which has sent an urgent call for rehearsal tonight, at Moose Lodge, at 8 o'clock.

Sigmund Beel.

It is to be sincerely regretted that since we have at least five violinists worthy of being classed as concert masters, but certainly one of seasoned experience and acknowledged ability, that the Symphony Orchestra could not induce or lasso a local musician for this important position.

It would have reflected more credit on our own musicianship if that could have been done.

But since Herr Adolph Tandler has elected to break through Southern California boundaries, his excellent choice of Sigmund Beel is notable.

San Francisco musical circles are very much agitated by the loss of this eminent violinist, "and concert master of the highest qualifications."

This musical calamity is compared to the recent loss of J. Fred Wolle, the great choral leader, who was permitted to escape and return east.

Beel's leaving the northern city to become the Symphony concert master is considered as great a missed opportunity as the departure of an able Symphony leader, Fritz Scheel, who also deserted San Francisco for Philadelphia.

Sigmund Beel's selection demonstrates the judicious choice exercised by Herr Tandler in selecting the musicians he desires to have about him, chosen for their superior ability regardless of their origin.

When the Orange Trees Are Blooming.

Albert Bader's boosting California song recently noted here as a type of its species, has found many admirers everywhere, through the State. A number of letters indicate that the sentiments expressed in the lyrics truly reflect the popular idea of a native song. "When the Orange Trees Are Blooming," shares the honors of interpreting the sentiments of the Golden West with "I Love You, California."

Cabaret Golden Rule.

Following the study of the cabaret singing which first appeared here, last week, suggesting that performers should remain within the well-defined frontiers of the "Cabaret Carpet," and not wander through the restaurants, the subject has created considerable attention.

Chief of Police Sebastian and Police Commissioner Vincent Morgan have evolved a cabaret singer golden rule which settles the whole question, as there is only one: The unwholesome mingling of entertainers with patrons.

Unless the dictates of the two eminent authors are strictly followed, licenses will be endangered.

"Thou shalt sing to the audience and not to individuals.

"Thou shalt not take tips from admiring patrons.

"Thou shalt not drink with cafe guests, nor hold conversation with them."

This is the text of the Sebastian-Morgan cabaret singer's simple, and comprehensive rule of conduct.

The Modern Tale of

"China Out-of-the-Ordinary"

The modern story of "China Out-of-the-ordinary" tells of many characters, of many scenes, of many reasons and as many results. The illustrations are interesting. Take a glimpse at the synopsis of that story, which is all this space permits of. Then let us show you the wares themselves sometime this week. This week, because a very specially interesting showing is now open for inspection.

The scenes are laid in various parts of the world, amid great factories with high smoking stacks and glowing kilns, with brawny workmen mining clay, deft hands modeling it and artists adding those finishing touches, which make the wares renowned the world over.

"Red" Williams,

A chauffeur who is in the City Jail accused of having robbed a wealthy young New York woman of diamonds and money in a city rooming-house after a joy ride and a wild "time" at the "Vernon Country Club" Saturday night. The gems and cash were recovered. It is understood the woman's millionaire husband sent her here for the benefit of her health.

DAME FASHION'S WHIMS.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

Balloon-like is the season's silhouette.

Remote corners of the Orient have been searched for colors.

The old French courts have contributed the richest of materials.

The animal kingdom has given up its pelts.

The feathered tribe has been robbed of its fine plumage.

The phantom-like in blouses has succeeded to the X-ray in skirts.

Were one to analyze the vagaries of Dame Fashion, put forth under the guise of the newest modes, one would be inclined to say that the dame supreme had gone astigmatic and in testing her eyes for the proper lense had donned many kinds of eyeglasses.

First she tried the effect of far-sighted spectacles and espied, in the far colonial period the skirt distended by a hoop. This she forthwith adopted, but having decreed the "peg-top" silhouette, in order to seem consistent, which this wise dame never is, she used the hoop upon the tunic's edge, a few inches below the hip line.

Through another pair of glasses the prying dame discerned the rich coloring of the Orient, her attention having been fastened there by the Bulgarian warfare. Her glasses dimmed, she at once imported such colors as she saw—not the crude Bulgarian pigments, but those tints as though seen through mist. Then, spying in the open fields the wild flower "nigger head," she adopted this, or a part of it, under the more euphonious name of "tete de negre," for her more sombre fabrications.

Backward to the far imperial courts of France, the days of famous beauties, she next turned her searching gaze. The fabrics of the Louises, the styles of the pompadour, the conceits of the Du Barry, the hundred beauty aids of the court sovereigns which have left their mark upon the mode, were viewed by her and from each of these she has selected something to her fancy.

Then to every corner of the globe she turned her telescopic glass finding in the arctic the furs of animals seldom heard of, and those shining skins which have been unmolested for ages past, she elected to incorporate to add a novel touch to gowns and wraps and millinery, the least usual of these.

Turning her attention to the feathered world, she found little which has not been used in ostrich plumes, and gourah, in paradise and in the aigrette of other birds, so she set about weaving phantasies from the stores which she had used before. The ostrich feather tied in bows and knots, or woven into forms which would make the wisest of the desert birds turn their heads to look; the paradise, stretched into the long "fence," to imprison the brim or crown of the velvet hat or toque; the gourah made into fancy flares and placed jauntily in an elongated outshoot at back or at one side of the head-piece, otherwise most demure. These were the wondrous features which Dame Fashion devised to offset the millinery which she had planned upon lines which were quite severe. Severe for it was mostly black, and everybody knows that black is very trying to the average woman's face; and it was to obviate this that Dame Fashion selected the softer materials, such as fine velvets and velours, plushes and mirrored effects. To further soften the effect of black, she added the transparent brim, made from tulle, lace or chiffons, and the transparent crown, through which the brilliant hair—also of fashion's decree—was allowed to shine.

The transparent skirt, to which her devotees had become inured so that it no longer shocked, she decided to counterpart in the evening bodice and the blouse for general wear. She selected the most diaphanous of materials, lace of the shadow sort, the soft-meshed tulle, chiffonerie of the most filmy kind, and from these im-materials she made the upper part of nearly every costume for day or evening wear.

In conjunction with these aerial "clothes" she decided to place the heaviest of fabrics, and she has decreed that all skirtery must be draped, and as fur would not lend itself well to drapery, she set the factories to making all kinds of "fabric fur." Broad tail, unborn lamb, seal, mole and astrakan were simulated by the modern loom.

When she had selected from every land and clime and period of history what was to her fancy she began to combine in a most reckless mood all that she had gathered. Fur, tulle, velour and velvet; cloth, lace and fur again; beads and wool and chiffon, and again a touch of fur; she used materials from the most widely-diverse regions and encouraged the consorting of fabrics which no one had ever dreamed of relating in the designing of gowns and wraps.

It was as though the phantasy of the last hour of Shrove Tuesday night when the inspish things reign supreme had taken possession of Dame Fashion's mood. She even seized upon the "artistic" craze of the "futurists" and "cubists," and placed a squared wild rose with its squared foliage, upon an otherwise sane hat. She plucked the ermine's tail from this little animal, and made "tail-less ermine" a fad. Then, as though upon second thought, she had decided to be frugal, she used the ermine tails to form a winged ornament for the black beaver hat. Next she went wild over butterflies. She placed them on the hat, she made them into drapery upon the evening gown, she used their wings as sleeves; she even dissected them and posed their bodies, made from heads, upon evening bodices and used them in the hair. Their long antennae topped huge velvet bows and the folding of their wings was reflected in the drapery upon many an evening gown. The heaviest of fur pieces she placed upon chiffon coats, and used chiffon and thinnest silk or diaphanous lacery to wrap the lower limbs.

Even in manner of walking, and as to how we stand, Dame Fashion has her dictum. The "uncorseted" mode has given rise to the present lounging style, called by those who dare formulate a criticism upon Fashion's fads, by the disrespectful title of "the debutante's slouch." Or, is this meant to be respectful, since none save the very young are recognized in the present styles. Another delightful inconsistency that, in this sophisticated age, when babies know all about the "hidden" facts of life, an appearance most ingenuous should be cultivated by the entire feminine sex. The "debutante's slouch" for the slender girl is an advantageous pose, but when the fleshy dame undertakes to copy it some of the charm is lost.

Oh, charming inconsistency, thou are surely Fashion's dame supreme!

Yet, so potent is her sovereign spell that whatsoever glass she looks through, the world is sure to see things through her spectacles. However vehemently it may at first aver that her decrees are ridiculous, absurd, bizarre, insane, even while thus averring, it is preparing to adopt them; and ere long it will declare that there never was such beauty as that of the present mode.

THIRD OF MILLION.

R. D. Wade, who died in Riverside county on the 9th inst., left an estate valued at $323,576.47, according to the petition for the probate of the will filed yesterday by the executors, W. V. Ambrose, his son-in-law; Louise A. Wade, the widow, and A. J. Crookshank. The estate consists of, cash, $4026.47; the Auditorium Hotel, Fifth and Olive streets, $220,000; the lease on the Bumiller building, $25,000; real estate, $52,250; stocks and others securities.

Under the terms of the will the widow receives the Auditorium Hotel and the Bumiller lease. Out of the revenues from these properties, she is desired to pay the debt of $145,000 standing against the hotel property and notes aggregating $27,000. The residue of the estate is bequeathed to the daughter, Anne Louise Ambrose.

Wild Night at Vernon for New York Dames.

Now City Jail Holds One of Their Companions.

"Red" Williams, alias Raymond Russell, chauffeur and alleged capper for disreputable road-houses, is in the City Jail as a sequel to the desire of two apparently wealthy New York women to partake of the doubtful pleasures of a night at the Vernon Country Club. Not content with copious draughts of champagne purchased by his hostesses, and the privilege of "ragging" with them until the early morning hours, Williams capped the climax, according to his own story, as well as that of his hostess, by stealing from her $1000 worth of diamonds and $260 in cash.

The arrest of Williams came early Sunday morning, after one of the "country" club's orgies, wherein the popping of corks punctuated the ribald jests and sparkling wine added zest to the indiscriminate "ragging." Retiring from the club the whole party, two women and several men, engaged adjoining rooms at the Sherman Hotel. Williams discovered the gems and money in a chamois skin bag tucked in the luxuriant tresses of his companion, and without asking her consent annexed his discovery and quietly slipped out. He had packed a suit case and a trunk and had engaged a room at the Santa Rita Hotel, preparatory to leaving the city, when arrested, the officers say. Handsome, despite the all too-discernable effects of the wild night at Vernon, two women, one giving the name of Mrs. M. Rodenbeck and the other Mrs. West, hurried to the Central Police Station when the loss was discovered. Mrs. Rodenbeck, the owner of the stolen gems and money, has every appearance of a woman of means, and told the detectives that she is the wife of a New York millionaire. She refused to give any more definite information concerning herself or her position. According to her story her husband sent her to Los Angeles for the benefit of her health. Mrs. West is understood to be a friend, also from New York. The two women rented an apartment at the Wilhelm apartments, No. 439 South Grand avenue, on Saturday, but efforts to get in communication with them there since failed.

ARDOR WANES.

Apparently extremely anxious to prosecute the person who had stolen her diamonds, her ardor lessened perceptibly when she learned that her jewelry and money had been recovered. The woman used every effort to keep the matter quiet, her reasons, as she explained them, being that she comes of a wealthy and respected family in New York, and is unwilling that her escapade here should become known. Mrs. West, apparently, does not figure in the case except as being one of the party.

The whole story is sordid. The two women, bejeweled and rustling in silks and brocades, stopped the car driven by Williams, a chauffeur for the McKee Taxicab Company, and asked to be taken to some place where they might have a "good time." Vernon was the place selected by the willing chauffeur.

Everything was in full swing at the notorious resort when the party arrived. In lieu of other company, and being strangers in a strange town, the two women invited the chauffeur to sit at the table with them. Nothing loath, Williams accepted the invitation. Soon the champagne was flowing and the whole party entered into the spirit of the occasion.

THEY JOIN.

"It's a shame good-looking women like us have to drink and dance with our chauffeur," one of the women remarked. Such remarks, according to authentic information, are never permitted to go unheeded at Vernon. Two young men seated at a table near by joined the party. One of them suggested buying a drink, but the waiter whispered in his ear that already Mrs. Rodenbeck had spent more than $100 on wine, and the new member of the festive crowd thereafter refrained from offering to buy. Not a dance was missed, however, and in the early morning the party started for Los Angeles.

In the machine with Williams was Mrs. Rodenbeck and one of the men who joined the party. In the other automobile were Mrs. West and the other young man. Both machines went to a garage at First and Broadway. The whole party then went to the Sherman Hotel and rented two rooms. In one, according to Williams and others of the party, were the chauffeur and Mrs. Rodenbeck. Somehow, someway, the chauffeur secured the jewels and the money and got away.

A GIVE-AWAY.

Williams made the mistake of giving two diamond earrings to another chauffeur, a man whose name is Ross. Ross confided in his employer, Harry McKee, who immediately informed the police. Through this means Williams was arrested and all of the gems as well as the money recovered.

Yesterday Williams was taken before Police Judge Frederickson and permitted to plead guilty to a charge of petit larceny, virtually all the facts in the case being kept under cover. He will be sentenced on that light charge tomorrow unless something intervenes in the meantime to change conditions. There was an intimation last night that the chauffeur had been permitted to plead guilty to the minor offense because of the fear that Mrs. Rodenbeck would not appear in court and prosecute him on a felony charge and for the protection of other witnesses in the case. It is possible that in view of more recent developments, a new complaint against Williams may be issued today.

In talking of the matter last night Williams refused to enter into details aside from his attempt to excuse his act by pleading that the members of the party, who are known to the police, were all intoxicated and that he did not intend to steal the jewels, but merely took them. Williams told the police that he intended to call a messenger boy and send the gems back to the owner, but that the arrest forestalled this laudable intention.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.

C. A. Snodgrass was arraigned before Justice Reeve yesterday charged with an assault with a deadly weapon. The hearing will be held today. Snodgrass gave bond.

EXPECTANCY AGOG FOR THE FASHION SHOW'S UNVEILING

ON WEDNESDAY (tomorrow) evening at 7:30 o'clock the windows of the Los Angeles Fashion Show will be unveiled.

This great event is awaited with expectation amounting to excitement by the many who understand what a spectacle the United Fashion Show presents; and by those who have heard and have tried to learn the miracles which are wrought in the window displays on Broadway that is at work trying to solve the possibilities of the occasion.

The fame of the Los Angeles Fashion Show has gone abroad and to adjacent towns many are planning to make an autumnal visit which shall extend from the opening hour to the last day of the show, while many will have prolonged their stay in order to enjoy it.

As this season the fabrications of Dame Fashion are more gorgeous than heretofore, so will the attractions of the show be greater than any before presented.

The luxuriousness of velvets, plushes and velours, the richness of this season's furs, the beauty of the modish millinery, the allure of the latest coloring which Madame la Mode has decreed, will be reflected in the exhibits of the United Fashion Show, making it by far the most brilliant event of its kind.

Not alone will the dry goods houses exhibit their handsome stocks, for this season all other merchandise establishments have decided to join hands and the entire downtown district will be a blaze of glory on the opening night.

Citizens are planning to get an early start and parties have been formed to fill the family automobiles and to get into line early, in order that they may see to best advantage the glorious display which will be offered from end to end of Broadway and its tributary streets.

Nor will the spectacle be confined to the window shows; for in many of the large houses, during the following days, throughout the Fashion Show, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, there will be style parades, in the morning and afternoon, wherein will be shown the latest fashions in garments. These will be presented upon the prettiest of living models, and in many instances the settings within the stores will equal, if not excel, those seen in the windows.

The Los Angeles merchants have spared no pains and have not stinted their expenditures in producing the effects which will dazzle spectators from the earliest moment of the unveiling on Wednesday night until the last hour of the United Fashion Show, on Saturday evening.

The Times will print on Thursday morning a beautiful Fashion Show number in colors, with a complete depiction of the glories of the event.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

Miss Ruth S. Carroll,
A Chicago society girl, who has been visiting friends in Southern California and who will return home today.

ALTHOUGH few large affairs are taking place in the social world just now, it is becoming quite the custom to take one's friends en bloc to one or the other of the country clubs on Saturday evenings, when special arrangements and much music as usually to the fore.

Last week-end there were a number of these informal but highly attractive dinner parties. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Tebbetts were the hosts at a merry affair at the Los Angeles Country Club, where they occupied the large center table with about twenty friends. Everyone had selected pink floral decorations that evening and the dining-room seemed one dainty blush. Also entertained Mr. and Mrs. Walter Perry Story, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kimes and Mr. and Mrs. Gage in that party, Mrs. Gage being, I believe, Mrs. Tebbetts's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Booth were the hosts at another table with a party of a dozen or so. Mrs. K. K. Parrott (known as pretty Molly to her intimate friends) also was one of the company.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gorham were entertaining a party of young and envious people whose gaiety proved highly infectious to the rest of the company, and Mr. and Mrs. Morphy and Miss Gladys Morphy presided at another table. Other hosts of the evening were Mr. Masson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Mason, Mr. Beddell and Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Holterhoof. Mrs. Michael J. Connell and Mrs. Dan McFarland lent their charm to the last-named affair.

Each of the country clubs is busy preparing its winter programme and in a few weeks all the entertainment and house committees will issue announcements for the season.

Going Back Home.

Miss Ruth S. Carroll, who for six weeks has been the house guest of Miss Francis Daly of No. 1734 West Thirty-ninth place, is to leave this morning for her home in Chicago, where she is a recognized leader in the younger social set. She is a young woman of brilliant attainments, the daughter of a well-known contractor of the Windy City.

An ardent believer in the cause of suffrage, Miss Carroll has been one of its forcible advocates. She is an excellent speaker and a talented musician. To these things she adds a charm of personality that in her short sojourn in this city made her a host of friends.

She has been lavishly entertained at theater parties, motor trips, pink teas and other affairs. Among them was a flashing trip at Catalina, a charming dancing party at the Bryson, an auto tour into Mexico, despite troublesome conditions there, and other pleasant and exhilarating amusements.

Guest of Parents.

Mrs. P. P. Post and young son of St. Louis are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Pease of the Burlington apartments.

Mrs. Outlaw Hostess.

One evening this week at her beautiful home on Thirtieth street Mrs. J. S. Outlaw was a dinner hostess when she entertained with a surprise party in celebration of Mr. Outlaw's birthday anniversary. Pink carnations and asparagus ferns arranged in a low bowl decorated the table where plates were laid for Hon. W. T. Vernon, Dr. George H. Taylor, Dr. A. C. Garrott, Dr. Leggett, A. J. Roberts, Eugene Walker, J. L. Holt, W. A. Clark, G. W. Wickcliffe and E. F. Parker.

Home from New York.

Mrs. M. E. Kelley has returned from New York City, where she has been for several weeks.

Eastern Trip Ends.

Brig.-Gen. and Mrs. Macklin have returned from their eastern trip and are settled at the Burlington.

Dinner and Bridge.

Dr. and Mrs. George H. Kress of Hotel Alvarado entertained with a dinner and bridge party Thursday evening. Covers were laid for twelve and the table glowed with Killarney buds.

At Hotel Alvarado.

Mrs. Robert Morley and two charming daughters, the Misses Ruth and Lucille, of San Antonio, are domiciled at Hotel Alvarado for the summer.

To Receive.

Mrs. M. H. La Fetra of Glendora will be at home informally Saturday from 3 to 6 o'clock in honor of her daughter, Mrs. W. Pevear Casey, who was formerly Miss Irene La Fetra. No cards have been issued.

To Tour Egypt.

Under the direction of D. F. Robertson the following Angelenos will leave October 20 on an extended tour through Europe and Egypt: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Doney, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Doak, Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Van Horne and Miss Mary Watson. On arrival at Cairo they will proceed up the Nile to Tuxor, Assonan, Khartum and the White Nile.

Dinner for San Diego Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Porter of San Diego, who are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Porter of Laurel Canyon, were the complimented guests at a dinner party given Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. William J. Wilson at their home, No. 1165 West Thirty-seventh place. A cut-glass bowl filled with enchantress carnations graced the center of the table and harmonizing place cards marked covers for Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Don Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Price, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mann, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Butterworth, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harbert and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson. Music and cards followed the dinner.

To Lake Tahoe.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Seymour and daughter, Miss Dorothy Seymour, No. 1691 West Adams street, have gone to Lake Tahoe for two weeks and upon their return will stop a week in San Francisco, reaching home in time for Miss Seymour to attend Marlborough.

Guest From Ohio.

Mrs. L. B. Dyle of No. 1320 East Fifty-seventh street, who has returned from a delightful eastern trip, is entertaining J. B. Gocke of Ohio at her home.

Bridge Club.

Members of the Jolly Twelve Bridge Club were entertained recently by Mrs. George G. Schmidt, of No. 1388 West Twenty-third street. The guests present were, Mrs. A. H. Ewing, and Mrs. Frank Wiser, who won the prizes, and Mrs. C. H. Dewaide, Mrs. A. H. Hellickson, Mrs. C. B. Sinclair, Mrs. H. H. Ewing, Mrs. C. H. Reynolds, Mrs. Edward Throughgood, Mrs. G. L. Greer, Mrs. F. C. Wiser, Mrs. C. A. Hoven, Mrs. A. K. Merrow and Mrs. Fred Benzer.

Expected Home.

Miss Maude Besang Fischer who has been visiting in Honolulu, is expected home this week. Miss Fischer has been on the island six months, much time having been spent on Kawai, where she was the guest of Mrs. Knudsen. She also visited Bishop Restrick and family of Honolulu. Mrs. Fischer, during her daughter's absence, has been touring the East and after October 10, will be at home at No. 623 Formaso avenue, Hollywood.

Home From Grand Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. George McIntyre, No. 330 South Alvarado street, have returned from an enjoyable week in the Grand Canyon.

Double Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Auspacher of San Francisco, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Babette, to Armin H. Wittenberg of this city. The betrothal of their daughter, Miss Henrietta, to Leo M. Hirshfeld of this city, is also made known today.

Interesting Guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Potter have had as their guest during the week, Bernard Potter, Jr., who has been passing his vacation in the southern part of the State and who is leaving shortly for Culver Military School.

Stella Mayhew and Billie Taylor,
Who are fun-makers of biz proportions at the Orpheum this week.

In Vaudeville.

MAYHEW AT ORPHEUM; M'DOWELL STAR AT "HIP."

THE smiling Stella Mayhew takes up a big share of the stage—literally and metaphorically—at the Orpheum this week. Billie Taylor comes with her, and she allows him and his piano a small space on the platform, but considerable room in the act.

These three, indeed—Stella, Billie and the Steinway—have a lot of musical fun at our expense. (See prices in the advertisement.) The lady's comedy is of that chirpy kind that communicates happiness all around. Not quiet joy, but laughter loud and long. She can sing, but her pose is to pretend that she can't. Billie Taylor also sings in a very beautiful tenor voice. And Stella's gowns are gorgeous—simply but wonderfully gorgeous.

Another unusually good act on this week's bill is that of Ed Flanagan and Neely Edwards, "Off and On," in three scenes. It's a sequel to "On and Off," last year's offering from these clever purveyors of fun. The jokes and situations in "Off and On" are neither old nor far-fetched, but as spontaneous and sparkling as the beads in a glass of champagne. Moreover, Ed and Neely can dance with the best of 'em. Also they can sing.

Fun also follows in the footsteps of Weiland, although it's fun in pantomime, for he is one of the masters of dexterity, ending his clever act with no less than eight dinner plates kept a-spinning at one and the same time.

Our own Gertrude Cohen made her debut in vaudeville yesterday afternoon, making a very attractive stage appearance and a decided impression as a pianiste of brilliant technique and clear and intelligent interpretation. She was, apparently, a trifle nervous on this momentous occasion, but this very natural timidity did not militate against the effectiveness of her work on the piano.

The audience liked the patter of E. Bert Kenney and E. Booth Platt in the singing skit, "Nobody Paid You." Both have excellent voices, and are men of experience, one being formerly connected with "The Red Feather" Opera Company, the other with "The Burgomaster" company.

Maude O'Delle does some good character work in Ruth Comfort Mitchell's latest playlet, "The Goat," which is not a particularly strong dramatic production, though the situation is well conceived. The characters lack consistency. Miss Mitchell's slang is exotic—it was not garnered from her native heath.

W. L. Abingdon and his company repeat this week "Honor Is Satisfied," the interesting playlet of last week, and the Vanias also remain over in their tabloid opera, "A Fisherman's Betrothal."

Empress.

A little musical comedy act, "The Girls and the Jockey" is the chief center of the laughter and plaudits at the Empress Theater this week—unless we except Ryan and Lee, mirthmakers.

The girls that surround the jockey are the prettiest ever, for they live in Kentucky. The jockey himself hails from England. He brings his accent with him, but no aitches. He also brings his master with him, the Earl of Sussex, who has more accent and all the aitches. The earl is in search of an heiress, but does not find her in Mae, the Kentucky belle, pleasingly sung and acted by Eva Olivette. Lew Fullerton plays and sings Jack, Mae's lover. Vincent Erne and R. N. Cory are the funny jockey and the funny earl. These two comedians are delightful, and their rendering of the turkey trot is one of the most screamingly funny things ever seen on any stage. Everybody sings well in "The Girls and the Jockey." The scenery, a Kentucky plantation, is a fine bit of impressionistic painting.

Which brings us back to Ben Ryan and Henrietta Lee, who are really "different" from other makers of fun. Both of them, though small, are the happy possessors of that elusive quality known as personality. Both are chic and clever, pertly and impudently so. Both dance and sing, not, indeed, particularly well, but with a cheerful abandon that carries their audience with them.

"Just a Girl" is a farce comedy given by Bertha Walker and Charles Ill. They do it pretty well. The farce itself is mildly amusing in the manner of plays written for boarding-schools attended by young misses.

On the bill also appear Frank Evans and Will Vidocq, jokers in burnt cork; Mae Francis, cantatrice, who is a pretty girl with a good mezzo-soprano voice; the Lelands, a young man and a young woman who paint landscapes with lightning rapidity.

Hippodrome.

Any question as to whether or not the Hippodrome would be able to maintain the high standard of bills which has been prevalent at that playhouse since its opening was dispelled yesterday when the new bill, headed by Melbourne McDowell and Isabelle Everson, was presented.

The great fourth act from "La Tosca," in which she agrees to sell herself to Scarpia in order to save her lover from the gallows, only to end by plunging a dagger into his vile heart, is thrilling enough in the telling, but as presented by this talented pair nothing is wanting. McDowell, by the way, created the role, and in the years that have passed since then has, perhaps, even improved on his original conception of the character.

Not that the bill is all tragic. There are De Lea and Orma, for example, presenting "six feet of comedy." Orma looks to be more than that, but whether that be so or not, there is enough of her to keep the audience convulsed with laughter, which is all any one could reasonably expect.

In marked contrast is the delightful musical offering of Alsace and Lorraine. They utilize several instruments, including an organ, in selections that have appeal to classes of theatergoers.

Virginia Ware also contributes the melody of the new bill. She is decidedly pretty, full of "pep" and makes a real hit. So, too, do the Okadas, who, styled as king of the ver thread, does some wire feats that are simply hairraising.

One of the best features of the bill is the new playlet presented by Abrams and Johns. It is called "Sheriff and the Girl," and was written by Miss Johns herself. It is different from any of the playlets far given by this clever pair, and is immensely popular with the audiences.

The Light Opera Four make up of no mean proportions. They are presenting the most popular numbers from "Pinafore," and their number scores heavily.

Mozart.

High-class thrillers are the rule presented the Mozart patrons this week. Pathetic, impressive and touching is the story of militant life as told in the historical drama, "The French Spy." This picture, picturing a wife's love and loyalty, is filled with scenes of battle and strife that quicken the heart and fascinate the eye.

An especially attractive educational is encompassed in the film showing the customs and industries of the Pueblo Indians.

Some personally conducted scenics are included in the delightful collection and travelogues on the bill, the former picturesque in effect and pleasing trips to take.

We can safely commend the Mozart reel of comedy this week. It is a continual round of real laughs, well acted and has freshness and snap that makes it go, and while it is laughable nonsense, yet you cannot help laughing heartily.

Harry Butner, the clever pianist at the Mozart, will give you a rare treat in the old classics he plays during the running of the pictures.

Clune's.

"Our Wives," as laughable a comedy as was ever thrown on a moving picture screen, is featured as a three reel headliner at Clune's Broadway Theater this week. The capacity houses which greeted the initial showings of this film yesterday laughed in utter abandon at the farcial situations presented.

It concerns the adventures of two young husbands who decide to invest "angels" to a young opera star. Their good intentions, which are purely from a business way, are misconstrued by their respective wives, as well as by the erratic husband of the actress. All sorts of unusual situations results, ranging from the first foot of film to the last an effective appeal is made to the risibilities of the audience. There are also a number of splendid single reel pictures.

Civil War drama de luxe is headlining the bill of motiography at Clune's Fifth-street Theater this week in "Saved by the Enemy," which is a romance of the early days of the rebellion and in addition to the strong love current which holds the interest throughout, there are a number of splendid battle scenes. This picture was made at a vast amount of expense, but the large audiences which are attending its initial production here seem to prove that the expense was not unwarranted. In addition to this exciting film there are a number of musical specialties and some single reels of unusual interest.

E CARS AND FASTER ONES.

ng Citizens Ask for an Improved Service.

Ordinance Not Giving Universal Satisfaction.

nate of President Wilson Passes Away.

ADENA, Sept. 23.—The ques- improvement of transporta- cilities between Pasadena and ities was discussed at a long nce between President Paul and General Manager J. Mc- of the Pacific Electric Rail- ompany, and the Board of Transportation Committee yes- afternoon. The railway officials at the request of the Board of and listened to the complaint ter had to make that Pasadena receiving an adequate service. end of several hours' talk they ith the promise that there be an improvement and mem- f the committee declared that the conference had been satisfactory.

No details as to an improvement of the service were stated, beyond the declaration on the part of the railway men that there shall be more cars on the line and that they shall run earlier mornings and later evenings. This is to be a temporary relief. Permanent relief from the congested condition is to come with the proposed San Pedro elevated track in Los Angeles.

The Board of Trade members who took part in the conference are W. F. Knight, president; T. P. Lukens, J. B. Coulston, H. C. Hotaling, D. J. Macpherson and A. J. Bertonneau.

"The conference was satisfactory," said Knight last night. "We are told that the proposed short line cannot be established until the San Pedro elevated track is constructed, and Mr. Shoup and Mr. McMillen have agreed to afford the city temporary relief in the meantime by running more cars through the day and by running earlier and later cars. We discussed the transportation question in general."

"I am a good deal like the small boy who was run over by a calf," said McMillen, "I have nothing to say. We came here at the request of the Board of Trade and we have talked things over."

President Shoup also declined to make any public statement as to what will be done.

WANTS CHANGE MADE.

That the traffic ordinance now in effect here is a "vicious" measure; that the City Commissioners are "frittering" their time away and are evidently "afraid to tackle" the matter, and that the thing they had better do is to call a mass-meeting so that automobilists and others may express their views, are a few of the statements made yesterday morning at a conference between the City Commissioners and Benjamin Folsom of No. 727 South Orange Grove avenue.

By the terms of the city charter the commission empowered to amend the ordinance against which many complaints have been made only during this month. Folsom reminded them yesterday that the month is fast vanishing.

"Orange Grove avenue," he said, "is being damaged by speeding automobiles and heavy traffic. The lives of scores of persons are endangered every day, simply because the law is not enforced. Instead of detailing an officer to regulate traffic on the boulevard, the police are kept busy patrolling the streets to nab persons who happen to go over the dead line. I thinks that it is time that something was done to change matters.

"If the ordinance is not changed, I think that the commissioners will have occasion to think that they wish that they had adopted amendments, for it will work a great hardship against the tourists. They will go elsewhere and the business men will suffer."

WELL-KNOWN PASTOR DIES.

Rev. T. Cummings Beattie, a classmate of President Wilson at Princeton University, died yesterday morning at his home, No. 140 North El Molino avenue, after a short illness. He was pastor of the Garvalia Presbyterian Church and was formerly assistant pastor of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church.

He was born in Scottstown, N. Y. He came to Pasadena ten years ago. He was president of the Wilson Republican Club of Pasadena. No funeral arrangements have yet been made.

BIG INCREASE SHOWN.

The public schools of the city opened yesterday with a total of 320 more pupils than were registered on the opening day of the fall term. The total enrollment for the district yesterday was 5677.

The new Polytechnic High School was the chief attraction. The pupils there have been so interested in the new school, with its novel equipment, that for weeks they have been counting the days to go back to school.

CITY BRIEFS.

The Pelicans, as they have come to be known, a party of fourteen Pasadena men who for four consecutive summers have gone on a cruise to the Santa Barbara Islands, held a meeting last night at the office of Plumbing Inspector A. C. Shaver and Assistant Building Inspector F. E. Brenner, two of their number, at the City Hall, to make plans for this year's trip. They will sail from San Pedro next Friday night, to be gone two weeks.

The Santa Fe Railroad has almost completed the installation of wig-wag signals at street intersections in Pasadena. The improvement is to cost the company about $23,000.

Dr. E. L. Conger, president of the Pasadena Humane Society, who is passing the summer in Maine, has written to friends here that he is heartily in favor of the plan broached by C. D. Daggett a short time ago of endeavoring to have the forest reserve near Pasadena declared a national park and the game protected from hunters.

The first Raymond-Whitcomb excursion party of the season arrived in the city yesterday. It is at the Hotel Maryland.

The regular meeting of the Los Angeles Presbytery will open at the Pasadena Presbyterian Church at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Tomorrow there will be morning, afternoon and evening sessions.

FAIR ASSOCIATION MEETS.

El Centro Business Men Making Preparations for Annual Exhibit. Water Figures Are Staggering.

EL CENTRO, Sept. 22.—The first meeting of the directors of the Imperial County Fair Association was held at the Hotel Oregon. The object of the meeting was to elect officers to fill the vacancies made by resignations, and to appoint several different committees to attend to the preparation of the Fair. Two directors, W. E. Wilsie and Frank Reading, were elected to replace R. H. Clark and L. F. Farnsworth, resigned, and a motion was made to refuse the resignation of G. D. Armstead as secretary of the association, in view of his excellent work of past years. This was met with violent opposition on the part of Armstead, and, the question being argued for over an hour, the deadlock was finally broken by the appointment of F. G. Irwin, W. K. Bowker and W. E. Wilsie as a committee of three to select a secretary. The meeting then adjourned.

WATER CONSUMPTION.

It is estimated that the 100,320 acres comprising water district No. 1 will use over 325,850,000,000 gallons of water during the year 1913. This enormous amount of water is carried through 400 miles of canals and laterals and is used principally to irrigate barley fields. Of the 100,320 acres, 77,010 are planted to barley, 19,320 to alfalfa, 5610 to cotton and 3080 to cantaloupes. The remainder of the land is planted to grapes, etc.

MEXICALI STILL CLOSED.

Owing to a delay in the hourly-expected permits which were to again make Mexicali a wide-open town, it was found necessary to call off the bull fight that was scheduled for Sunday. The Americans who attend from curiosity become so nauseated at the sight of the natives howling for joy as some new torture is inflicted on the bull that they became really enthusiastic when one of the matadors appeared to be cornered.

NEWS BRIEFS.

R. C. Griffith, an employee of the Holton Power Company, was severely burned Friday morning when one of the burners under the gas producer back-fired as he was attempting to light it. He was rushed to the St. Thomas Hospital, where his wounds were dressed, and it is thought that he will be about again in less than a month.

Anita Curry, arrested by Officer Henson, Friday, on the east side, for disturbing the peace, was fined $25 and given a six months' sentence. The sentence was suspended on condition that she be out of town by 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The disturbance was the result of her husband's refusal to let her go to Brawley for a few days, at which she attempted first to throw carbolic acid in his face and next to alter his features with a vicious-looking revolver.

TARGET PRACTICE.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 22.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Elementary target practice with the main batteries was begun this morning by the armored cruisers Maryland and Pittsburgh. The navy collier Justin is towing the target rafts. Both cruisers were stripped for action yesterday. The Maryland will sail September 28 for Santa Monica Citizen Visits Tia Juana and Has a Blood Curdling Experience.—News Briefs.

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 22.—Conrad Overstrom, who returned yesterday from Tia Juana, was there arrested as a Madero spy by the Huerta garrison, and released after he had made strenuous protestations that he was a peaceable citizen of Santa Monica. Overstrom said that he entered the barricade of dry goods boxes and galvanized iron, out of curiosity stumbling over two sleeping sentries. Instantly the whole garrison was aroused, and he was denounced as a spy. Spanish imprecations and questions were hurled at him, to all of which he returned the universal "no sabe." He finally convinced his captors that he meant no harm, and he was escorted out of the town at the point of a bayonet.

NEWS BRIEFS.

A gratifying increase in enrollment at both the High and grammar schools was noted today, at the opening of the fall semester. At the High School 401 pupils enrolled, almost 100 greater than at this time last year. The senior class now numbers fifty-eight, or fifteen greater than last year. The kindergartens will open in two weeks.

Officer Holt found 6-year-old Katherine Marie Weiss on the corner of Third street and Arizona avenue. She had lost her way going home from school and was crying bitterly. The officer soon found her mother, Mrs. Margaret Weiss, No. 1368 Fifth street.

Defendants in the long-drawn-out Ocean-front promenade improvement suits surprised Contractor Kneen by appearing and paying the assessments and costs and settling the cases. It was thought that the cases would go to the Supreme Court.

While J. J. Rowe and wife were absent from their home, No. 1325 Seventh street, burglars entered and ransacked the place. However, when a neighbor came over and knocked, wanting to use the telephone, the intruders became alarmed and left before they secured Mrs. Rowe's jewelry.

QUITS AFTER LONG SERVICE.

Ontario Man Gives Up Executive Place on Big Fruit Exchange—Short News Stories.

ONTARIO, Sept. 22.—A. T. Hamilton, for fifteen years actively connected with the citrus fruit industry of this section and for nine years past manager of the Ontario-Cucamonga Fruit Exchange, embracing ten orange and lemon packing-houses of this section, today handed in his resignation at the annual meeting of the exchange held in the local offices.

Hamilton will devote his time in the future to the personal supervision of his own extensive citrus holdings. He will be succeeded in the managership of the O. K. Exchange, as it is commonly called, by H. B. Harlow, who for the past two years has served as assistant manager.

The members of the exchange re-elected the old board of directors and the same officers as last year were again chosen. They include C. E. Harwood, president; H. E. Swan, vice-president; G. G. Laidlaw, C. B. Ford, R. T. Nelson, W. K. Beatty, F. C. Crowell, Charles Motsinger, Isaac Mowrer, F. R. Bartholow and A. T. Hamilton. H. E. Swan also was re-elected as representative on the board of directors of the California Fruit Exchange in Los Angeles.

The manager's report showed that for the "off" season, just closing, 688 cars were shipped, which brought a return of $659,000. Considering the setback by last winter's frost, an especially large crop of splendid quality is anticipated for the coming winter, and extensive plans for the fighting of frost, in case the same becomes necessary, are being perfected.

ANOTHER ELECTION.

Members of the Upland Citrus Association, at their annual meeting, re-elected the old board of directors, including Isaac C. Baxter, president; F. C. Crowell, vice-president; L. E. Moser, William Rohrig and T. R. Woodbridge. E. W. Thayer is secretary and W. G. Mumper was again chosen manager.

During the past year 50,172 packed boxes of fruit were shipped, and members of the association received $67,-704.04. Little smudging was done by the members of this organization last year, but extensive preparations for frost fighting are being made for the coming winter. The association has just installed two reservoirs for oil, with a capacity of 6000 barrels each, and growers are laying in a supply of heaters.

NEWS BRIEFS.

E. W. Robinson, formerly Speaker of the Assembly of the State of Utah, and a traveler in all quarters of the globe, is to address the members of the Southside Improvement Association at the South Euclid-avenue grammar school Thursday evening on "Living Conditions in the Orient." Robinson is a speaker of no little note and was at one time representative of the San Francisco Call in the Orient.

The raising of green chilis in this section is proved by R. H. Salcido, who has been shipping them from his Chino ranch during the past month to Los Angeles markets at the rate of twenty sacks a week.

STORY WITH TWO SIDES.

Automobile Driver Runs Man Down and Tries to Leave State—"Did Not," Says Driver.

ORANGE, Sept. 22.—After running down Charles Thompson, Calvert Duke, in an automobile, started for Yuma, Ariz., to escape responsibility for his act. He left Thompson in the middle of the road with a hip broken, two ribs wrenched from the backbone, and a deep gash in one leg. Duke did not stop. All he knew was that a man whom he had knocked off a bicycle and run over, was huddled in the road, probably dead. He was arrested at Oceanside.

Duke was sent here by Jeffe Shaver, an Orange man at Yuma, for his health, after Shaver's automobile at S. Thompson's place. Last night Duke was riding in the machine with Vernon Thompson, son of S. Thompson and relation to the injured Thompson, and Lants Goddickson. Duke did not intend starting for Yuma until today.

The automobile struck the bicyclist. Duke would not stop. Thompson and Goddickson urged him to go back to the crushed man, but Duke would not. He decided to start for Yuma at once. He let his companions out at Tustin, and went on his way.

Through Thompson, Constable G. L. Jackson found out Duke's plans, and officers at Oceanside stopped the runaway.

Physicians today state that Thompson will pull through, though his condition is critical. He lives with his wife on South Pixley street, Orange.

In jail, Duke declares he went on because he did not believe he had hurt

Rancher Seriously Hurt by Fall of Horse.

Four Mexicans Caught in a Midnight Raid.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 22.—Today William H. Thomas was sworn in as judge of the Superior Court. The occasion was accompanied by unusual ceremonies. Judge Thomas addressed those present, and upon his request Rev. J. A. Stevenson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, in the Sunday-school of which Judge Thomas is a teacher, led in prayer.

Eight or ten were present when County Clerk Williams administered the oath.

"As the first function to be performed by me as judge," said Judge Thomas, "I am going to ask our fellow citizen, my warm, close and personal friend, my pastor, the Rev. J. A. Stevenson, to lead us in prayer, asking the blessing of that God whose help I have invoked in taking the oath, and for the guidance, care and protection and that wisdom that comes from on High, that I may transact and perform those duties and carry out the obligations of this high and responsible position in such a way that my light may so shine before men that they, seeing my good works, may glorify my Father, who is in heaven."

Rev. Stevenson invoked the blessings of the Almighty upon the work to be done by Judge Thomas.

Superior Judge Z. B. West, whose associate Judge Thomas becomes, congratulated the new judge, highly commended his work as an attorney, and welcomed him to the bench.

In his remarks, Judge Thomas emphasized the solemnity of a legal oath, whether taken by one entering upon an office or by a witness entering the witness-stand.

Judge Thomas's first trial will be on Wednesday when he will hear the case of the Security Life Insurance Company against Lena Scott of Fullerton, an action to annul a $1000 policy on the life of Mary L. Young, who died soon after the policy was taken out. The plaintiff alleges that true information was not given by the applicant for the policy.

INJURED BY FALL.

Frank H. Forster, owner of a big ranch at San Juan Capistrano, is in the hospital here badly injured in a fall of a horse into a cement ditch. Forster was driving a bull for Rev. Alfred Quetu at the mission village when his horse fell into the ditch. Forster's shoulder was crushed and several bones were broken. In struggling the horse brought a hoof down upon Forster's leg, which rested against the cement, and cut out a piece of the flesh.

Forster is well known among Orange County Elks, for it is a custom for him and his brother John to give the Elks a barbecue annually.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Today Coroner Winbigler received a wire from J. D. Childers at Snow Flake, Ariz., with instructions to turn the body of his son, Creed H. Childers, who was killed here yesterday, over to the Odd Fellows. Childers will be buried here by that order. He was passing through in an automobile from Albuquerque, N. M., when the automobile was wrecked and Childers was killed. W. Vandersluis, who drove the car, stated today that he thought the front axle broke as the car was going fifty miles an hour. He said he had the car in races in New Mexico, and the axle had been bent two or three times. In his possession was an insurance policy of $1000 made out in favor of his wife, Lurah Childers, from whom he recently separated at Albuquerque.

Last night four men were arrested in a raid on Martin Guerra's house at Anaheim, all Mexicans. Guerra and two others pleaded guilty to gambling and were fined $50 each. Under Sheriff Law led the raid.

WIRE SCRATCH CAUSES DEATH.

Ventura Man Receives Slight Injury But Tetanus Developed—Santa Monica Man Has Head Cut Off.

VENTURA, Sept. 22.—William Stevens, aged 51 years, and a native of Illinois, died yesterday at a hospital in this city of tetanus, after suffering for several days with the dread ailment. Mr. Stevens was an expert engineer and had charge of the pumping plant of the Mound Water Company. The company built a house for Mr. and Mrs. Stevens at the plant and Mr. Stevens several days ago was engaged in painting it, when he fell from the roof and cut his arm on a barb-wire fence.

The wound, which was on a maimed arm (Mr. Stevens was a one-armed man,) healed quickly, and little was thought of it until a few days ago lockjaw symptoms set in and the unfortunate man was hurried to the hospital, where everything possible known to medical science was done for him, but all in vain. It is stated that he was afflicted with a weak heart and this was against him in his fight for life.

Stevens formerly worked on the Los Angeles aqueduct, but came here, and for a time resided with his wife in the Fitzpatrick cottage on the beach, later going to work for the water company. He leaves a widow.

MAN DECAPITATED.

Ed Norris of Santa Monica was decapitated at Camarillo last night by train No. 9. Norris, with a companion, was on his way from Santa Monica to work with a threshing crew at Camarillo. The conductor of the train noticed that the man was intoxicated. As the train neared the station Norris arose from his seat and went to the platform, and attempted to alight while the train was still in motion, according to the report. In alighting he was in some way thrown beneath the train and the wheels completely separated the head from the body. The body was brought to this city by the train. Little is known as yet about deceased, more than that he was about 35 years of age. There was nothing in his pockets beyond a little change, some 50 cents.

DETAILS NOT WORKED OUT.

Plan to Issue Insurance on Orange Crops Presents Many Difficulties. Short News Stories.

POMONA, Sept. 22.—Following the severe frosts of last winter there was considerable talk of insurance companies arranging to issue insurance policies on citrus groves, and the Lloyds of London had investigators in the field. The companies have requested the orange grower to encompass the venture with so many precautions that are expensive, and then charging a large premium for the insurance that the plan has not appealed to local orange men.

A perplexing question is that of the establishment of equable rates, for no so-called "blanket rate" will suffice, some localities being ordinarily much more immune from frost damage than others. The men owning groves in these districts will naturally object to being assessed on a percentage for insurance to cover hazards in the more exposed localities. Thus, the insurance proposition seems to have been abandoned this year, although when this new idea in insurance is considered more maturely and properly worked out, it is reasonable to suppose that some attractive plan may be ultimately devised. Meanwhile the growers, who have deemed best to do so, are providing their properties with heaters and fire pots and putting in supplies of the proper grade of fuel oil. Old residents of Pomona Valley, however, are predicting a mild winter and early rains to follow the recent unusual weather of the past summer and early fall.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The local lodge, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, held a booster meeting at Odd Fellows Hall this evening, at which thirty candidates were initiated into the order. H. E. Miller, Pacific Coast manager, was present and made an address. The evening closed with dancing and refreshments.

B. C. Meyers, proprietor of the Hotel Nicollet here, has purchased of Mrs. A. H. Howell, the cafeteria which is located on the first floor of the hotel building, on West Second street.

Dr. A. R. Reed of East Holt avenue is entertaining his sister, Miss E. M. Reed of Pernambuco, Brazil, South America, for several weeks. Miss Reed is the principal of a large school for girls at Pernambuco, which is located south of Rio de Janeiro.

A resolution has been passed by the horticultural clubs here to the effect that the fruit growers of Pomona Valley urge upon the several school boards of the locality, the importance of providing a course in citriculture in the high schools in the valley.

TAX RATE IS FIXED.

Ventura County Supervisors Make No Change from Last Year—Bean Crop Will Be Short.

OXNARD, Sept. 22.—The tax rate for the coming year will be $1.60 for Ventura county. This is the same as last year, although the levy includes an exposition tax, for the San Francisco exposition, and interest and sinking fund on bonds for the new Courthouse and numerous finely constructed bridges. In 1908 the tax rate was $2.75 in the county.

Bishop Thomas J. Conaty of Los Angeles will lay the corner-stone of the new St. John's Hospital, September 28. The hospital, when completed, will be modern in every detail, and one of the best equipped small hospitals on the Coast. Brick work for the building has now reached the second floor and construction is progressing rapidly.

That Ventura county's lima bean yield will be from 10 to 25 per cent. short of last year is the consensus of opinion of growers here, although many growers report a larger yield per acre than last year. The crop is spotted this season. On 175 acres in the Las Posas, T. F. McFarland is 250 sacks short of last season's yield. F. A. Snyder's crop exceeded last year's on 210 acres by about 246 sacks, with an average yield of about 10 sacks to the acre. C. J. Daily of Camarillo harvested 1265 sacks from fifty acres in 1912 and this year, 1205 sacks from seventy acres. Many others in that section show about the same decrease, which will amount to from 15 to 25 per cent. It is expected that the crop north of the Santa Clara River will be better than that south. The only man who has threshed there got 300 sacks more than last year. The black-eye crop is short in comparison with other years. This year's increased acreage in both limas and black-eyes will help make up the deficiency of the low yield. Threshing of lima beans will be finished by the middle of this week.

The Mound Farmers' Club will soon make awards in its lima bean contest. Entries of the best vine in each field, will be exhibited in the Courthouse, at Ventura, and prizes awarded there.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The Knights of Columbus will give prizes, amounting to $40, to seventh grade students in the county, for compositions on the life of Columbus, to be written in school on his birthday, October 12. A similar offer last year aroused much interest.

Walter Meyers, driver for the Standard Oil Company, was thrown under his overturned wagon and narrowly escaped fatal injuries when a switch train bumped cars against his wagon.

BELVIDERE'S PROBLEM.

Water-Extension Dispute to Be Heard Saturday Before State Railroad Commission.

Belvidere's water-extension problem will have an inning before President Eshleman of the State Railroad Commission Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m.

The case in dispute is that of the Belvidere Civic Association, represented by President N. G. Nations, versus the "Janss Company," questioning the reasonableness of charging $25 for the extension of water pipes from the street to the property line.

UNFATHOMABLE RELUCTANCE.

Visalia Man Shot by Another Shows a Disposition to Let the Matter Go by Default.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VISALIA, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George Sherbaum, held here for the shooting Saturday of Emma Randall and W. Rockwell, was this evening formally charged with assault with a deadly weapon on a complaint sworn to by Rockwell.

Since the shooting both Rockwell and Miss Randall have refused to swear to a complaint against Sherbaum, and the authorities were at a loss to determine what to do to him. Through the efforts of Chief of Police William Devall, Rockwell was induced to swear to the complaint. Had he not done so, the police would have been unable to prosecute their prisoner, although he was arrested with a smoking revolver in a hand a short distance from the scene of the double shooting.

San Bernardino.

WINS A FORTY YEAR BATTLE.

San Bernardino Pioneer Regains His Homestead.

Supervisors Leave on Desert Surveying Trip.

Opens Way to Scenic Wonders of Arizona.

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 21.—After battling for forty years to secure title to his 160-acre homestead ten miles northwest of this city near Verdemont station, Lafayette Meacham, a pioneer of the valley, has at last secured from the Land Office at Washington correcting his patent and restoring to him one half of the tract of which a Superior Court decision some months ago threatened to finally deprive him.

It is a long story and one involving numerous surveys made by State and Federal surveyors of intrigue, and of litigation that cost Meacham thousands of dollars and prematurely aged him.

The real question involved was the determination of the correct line of the old Muscupiabe land grant made by the Mexican government in 1842 to an Englishman named White, and subsequently patented by the United States government in 1860, under a survey made by the State of California.

Meacham took up the homestead forty years ago, and proved up his claim in 1902, asking for a patent. In the meantime the portion of the Muscupiabe rancho adjoining Meacham, had fallen into the hands of J. M. Clapp, a Standard Oil magnate. Meacham claims that Clapp started a systematic campaign of "floating" the line of the old grant by which he would secure an additional strip of land and defraud Meacham out of half of his homestead.

Clapp succeeded in getting Meacham's claim held up by the Interior Department, and a couple of years ago filed a suit in the local court to gain possession of half of the land claimed by Meacham. Before the case was tried Meacham succeeded in getting a patent from the General Land Office, but owing to a defective wording the local court gave Clapp's estate, he having died in the meantime, title to half the land.

But Meacham personally took matter up with the Washington authorities, supported his claim by numerous affidavits and got a hearing. Surveyors were sent by the Land Office, the original survey stakes checked over and now Meacham gets his homestead, the old line being reestablished, and the later surveys discredited.

Charles Cates, another rancher who suffered from a similar situation, but by broke down under the strain, became an inmate of the County Hospital and some time ago sold out his claim.

TO CROSS DESERT.

Members of the Board of Supervisors and the Highway Commission will leave tomorrow morning by automobile for a trip across the desert to Needles to inspect the needs of that portion of the county in the way of roads under the county bond issue. It is probable the commissioners will recommend the improvement of the main highway from this city via the Cajon, to Victorville and Barstow, and then following closely the Santa Fe Railroad through Ludlow, and on to other towns to the Colorado River at Needles.

Such a highway will form a section of the Trail of the Padres between the Grand Canyon and San Diego, and also a highway to the Grand Canyon, Indian villages, and other scenic wonders of Northern Arizona, and New Mexico. This highway is to be greatly improved in those two States by the building, numerous steel bridges and signs. Navajo county, Arizona, has completed three bridges of steel, Pajave county has expended $100,000 on a bond issue on the main highway, while others have used large sums.

The Supervisors and commissioners will be absent two or three days, being piloted on the trip by Supervisor Butler.

The police have commenced an investigation of the early-morning fires, of which there have been three or four serious ones in the past week, two of them being rooming-houses, and the third the city pavilion, and the city armory. In the two rooming-houses occupants had narrow escapes from death. In every case the structures destroyed were of a cheap class, and had been built many years. The officers are almost inclined to believe the incendiary is at work, there being strong evidence in that direction.

SANTA PAULA.

SANTA PAULA, Sept. 22.—The intense heat of the past week has done considerable damage to the walnut crop. It has burned the husks of the walnuts that were exposed to the rays, so that they have taken on a very dark appearance, and has burned into the shell so that what is thought to be a No. 1 walnut will have to be classed a No. 2, causing considerable loss to the growers in this section.

The City Trustees are considering the purchase of a rock crusher, in order that the rocks piled on the streets may be ordered about the city as may be necessary for making better streets.

Because of Santa Paula's "no gambling" ordinance, the Colonial Carnival Company, which came here a few days ago, packed its tents and went away, when informed that the ordinance would not be lifted for the benefit.

THROUGH TO WINNIPEG.

Direct Service Connecting Southern California With Canada; Increased Tourist Business.

Through service between Winnipeg and this city will be established December 2, by the Chicago and Northwestern, Union Pacific and Salt Lake roads. The service as a Pullman will be furnished by a Pullman car, which will leave Winnipeg each Tuesday, and arrive here Saturday.

"A new trough line from Winnipeg to Los Angeles" is the advertising announcement of the new line in connection with the service. Many Canadians, who formerly spent the winter in Florida and the various Dominion resorts, are now coming here for the winter, and the Coast gradually resembles the old-time enjoyments.

Looking for Opportunity?

Young Men Who Listen Can Win Out, For It Is Knocking at the Door Every Day

An Advertisement by Daniel Knowlton

OPPORTUNITY is said to knock but once at the door. Far from it. Opportunity is knocking every day—the trouble is, folks aren't listening.

Energetic and capable young men all over the country are seeking and grasping opportunities all the time. The difficulty is to find equality of opportunity. That's a harder proposition.

Nevertheless, equal opportunity for business success awaits in at least one line of manufacturing, and that the fourth largest in the United States—the shoe industry.

It is the every-day things that really count the most. And shoes are among the every-day things.

You put on your shoes in the morning and you take them off at night with not a thought beyond getting your feet covered for the day. You don't think of the thousands and thousands of people who are engaged in making shoes, of the large amount of money employed in the business of shoe manufacturing, or of the millions of pairs of shoes that are made and sold each year in the United States.

This every-dayness of shoes is truly amazing. For examples:

It is estimated that the factory value of this year's product of footwear in the United States will amount to over five hundred million dollars—over half a billion!

The people of this country, it has been figured, spend each day in the shoe stores the sum of $2,873,260.

Statistics show that 21,068 more pairs of shoes are required to supply the people of this country today than yesterday; and 21,068 more will be needed tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow!

This demand must be met, and will be met, and it will never diminish. Why not, then, be a shoe manufacturer? Surely here is Opportunity knocking.

Elbert Hubbard, in a recent issue of The Fra, said:

"Shoe manufacturers are a prosperous people. There is no 'Shoe Trust,' and there can't be, for there are thirteen hundred shoe factories in the United States, and more are being formed. I know of six shoe factories in Saint Louis, all started by employees, who have come out of one particular factory and embarked in business on their own account. And they are all making money.

"Today, the boot and shoe industry is the one large business left, in the world not run by a so-called Trust, and the United Shoe Machinery Company is responsible for that fact."

Monopoly in shoe-making, as Elbert Hubbard says, is out of the question, and for a very simple reason. Because the United Shoe Machinery Company leases its machines on exactly the same terms to all manufacturers—whether large or small—competition in shoe-making is more free than in any other large industry, and will remain so. Under this royalty system a shoe manufacturer can start in business with small capital, which he can turn several times each year, making a substantial profit himself on the total volume of his business, at the same time giving the consumer the benefit of the narrow margin of profit on each pair of shoes. There is no other big industry of which this is true.

The wonderful growth of shoe manufacturing in this country in recent years has been made possible through the machinery and service to be obtained from the United Shoe Machinery Company. Herein lies both opportunity and equality of opportunity.

This Company equips factories with the best shoe machinery made, at a low and uniform rental—absolute impartiality is the rule, no preference is shown. The average royalty paid by a shoe manufacturer for the use of all machines furnished by the Company in the manufacture of all kinds of shoes is less than two and two-thirds cents per pair of shoes—less than one one-hundredth of the total manufacturing cost. The royalty paid for the use of all the Company's principal machines in making the most expensive Goodyear welt shoes is only five and a quarter cents per pair, a little more than a car fare. On Goodyear turn, McKay, standard screw, and loose nailed shoes (and these lower grades comprise two-thirds of the shoes made in the United States), the royalties average less than one and one-third cents per pair,—less than what you pay for a postage stamp or a yeast cake. This is all that the United Shoe Machinery Company receives for manufacturing its machines, for installing them in factories, for their use by manufacturers, for keeping them in order through its expert service system, and for instructing operatives when required.

All this has a significance, a meaning very much all its own.

It means that a shoe manufacturer does not have to tie up thousands of dollars in the purchase of machinery; it means that he can devote his time and energy exclusively to the making of shoes and selling them; it means that the youngest and smallest manufacturer obtains shoe machinery on the same terms as his largest and richest competitors; it means freedom of competition in the shoe industry and the growth of the small manufacturer.

Many a shoe manufacturer today, among the thirteen hundred who are doing business in thirty-four different States of the Union, acknowledges that his start in business and success as a manufacturer are largely due to these conditions.

And these conditions mean also that any lively manufacturing city or town (and there are many in every State) can add the manufacture of shoes to its successful industries, and that enterprising young men with only modest financial resources have equality of opportunity as manufacturers of shoes.

Yes, it's the every-day things that count, and shoes are very much every-day merchandise. There's money in making shoes, more shoes must be made every day, and Opportunity with a big O is knocking for those who will listen.

AWYER GRILLS CAPT. MERRIAM.

Maj. Murphy Arrives from Paris to Testify.

Wife Strengthens Defense by Friends' Depositions.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After an interruption of several months the trial of the divorce suit of Capt. Henry C. Merriam, U.S.A., against Mrs. Rosalie G. Merriam, was resumed today before Superior Judge Thomas Graham, who has tried in vain to reconcile the warring couple.

In the courtroom was Maj. Clarence Murphy of New Orleans, named by Capt. Merriam as co-respondent, who has come all the way from Paris to refute the charges which link his name and Mrs. Merriam's while she was at Jackson Barracks, near New Orleans, and her husband was with his regiment on the Texas border. Also present was Mrs. Ray, Mrs. Merriam's mother.

Mrs. Merriam is now entirely recovered from the illness which halted the trial early in the summer.

The 10-year-old daughter, Charlotte, for whose custody both parents are fighting, was not present. The child sat in the courtroom last summer until the mother asked that she be removed when the testimony adduced was of a nature not fit for a child to hear.

MERRIAM TAKES STAND.

Capt. Merriam took the stand for direct examination. He testified that since the trial was brought to a halt last summer he had found a letter, of which he had spoken in previous testimony, from Lieut. Halliday, surgeon at Jackson Barracks, who had treated Mrs. Merriam in her husband's absence at the Texas border.

The letter proved to be a reply to one written by Mrs. Frank Schultze, Capt. Merriam's sister, at the suggestion of Merriam's attorney, in which the questions were propounded to the surgeon, all relating to medical treatment given Mrs. Merriam.

The letter admitted nothing of a character that could damage Mrs. Merriam's case.

Several postcards written by Capt. Merriam from Texas, in which he advised his wife to accept the attentions of Maj. Murphy, were introduced. Merriam was asked by Barclay Henley for Mrs. Merriam, why he should not question Murphy's attentions at that time, and object to them later. He replied that that was before he knew of the scandal at Jackson Barracks.

Capt. Merriam then was subjected to a gruelling examination as to his conversation with Maj. Keppard, commander of the post, and Capt. Foster, Capt. Lomax, Lieut. Hanna and Lieut. Williams. He was forced to admit that none of these officers had said more than that there was "gossip" about Mrs. Merriam.

He was asked by Attorney Henley why, if he thought at the time of bringing the divorce suit that his wife had been guilty of infidelity, he had not mentioned that in the complaint. He replied that the complaint spoke for itself.

He denied that he had ever told a man in New Orleans named Andrews that he believed his wife innocent. He also denied, after a sharp tilt between Henley and his own attorney, Walter Linforth, that he had told Mrs. Merriam this summer that he believed her innocent.

MURPHY HEARS TESTIMONY.

Maj. Murphy sat in the courtroom listening to the testimony of Capt. Merriam. Mrs. Merriam and the captain were on the verge of tears during a portion of the testimony.

The marital troubles of Capt. Merriam at previous hearings involved the names of persons prominent in life at half a dozen fortresses of the Atlantic Coast, ranging from the artillery posts at Boston Harbor, including Fortress Monroe at Hampton Roads, Fort Wadsworth at New York and Fort Barracks at New Orleans.

Efforts of Mrs. Merriam to obtain possession of the order of the commandant at Jackson Barracks—the order of Capt. Merriam's suit—directing him to leave that reservation as high as the Secretary of War, who sustained the post commander. It is predicted that similar sensational testimony will mark the examination of the trial.

While the army officer has sought in vain to get his wife to accept a de- tion.

SAN FRANCISCO POL WIND UP BARBA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—By unanimous vote tonight the Police Commission adopted a resolution which means the annihilation of the open-and-shut Barbary Coast of San Francisco.

The resolution provides that after September 30 dancing will not be permitted in any saloon or restaurant where liquor is sold within a certain district named nor any woman entertainers nor employees permitted in such saloons or restaurants.

It further provides that licenses shall not be renewed within the district except for ordinary saloons.

The action of the commission was the culmination of a campaign that has been waged with growing vigor for many months. Early in the year restrictions were placed upon the Barbary section about Pacific and Jackson streets, where dance halls and resorts have flourished for years, growing from the old-time adjuncts of the frontier known to sailors the world over, into the elaborate establishments of today. The new regulations curbed the gayety of the Coast a little and many dance hall proprietors saw the end had come. Ways of circumventing the rules were found, however, and the Coast gradually resumed its old-time enjoyments.

The campaign against it did not abate. With the unanimous vote of the Police Commission has been a chorus of praise from leading newspapers, with a full-page editorial in the Call that the city has been waiting for all. Many of the leaders on the subject of public morality and commissioners of all sides of the question following resolution:

"Be it further resolved, That no women patrons or entertainers shall be permitted within the said district after September 30.

"Be it further resolved, That no license shall be issued for any saloon or restaurant on the street between Stockton and Fillmore streets except for saloons on the ground floor.

The meeting of the Police Commission last night was held in the midst of a suffocation which has overcome various clubs and organizations. The gayety of the present were also there, and a few women

LAWYER GRILLS CAPT. MERRIAM.

Maj. Murphy Arrives from Paris to Testify.

Wife Strengthens Defense by Friends' Depositions.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After an interruption of several months the trial of the divorce suit of Capt. Henry C. Merriam, U.S.A., against Mrs. Bessie C. Merriam, was resumed today before Superior Judge Thomas Graham, who had tried in vain to reconcile the warring couple.

In the courtroom was Maj. Clarence Murphy of New Orleans, named by Mrs. Merriam as co-respondent, who had come all the way from Paris to refute the charges which link his name and Mrs. Merriam's while she was at Jackson Barracks, near New Orleans, and her husband was with his regiment on the Texas border. The present was Mrs. Ray, Mrs. Merriam's mother.

Mrs. Merriam is now entirely recovered from the illness which halted the trial early in the summer.

The 12-year-old daughter, Charlotte, for whose custody both parents are fighting, was not present. The child sat in the courtroom last summer when the mother asked that she be removed when the testimony adduced was of a nature not fit for a child to hear.

MERRIAM TAKES STAND.

Capt. Merriam took the stand for direct examination. He testified that since the trial was brought to a halt last summer he had found a letter, which he had spoken in previous testimony, from Lieut. Halliday, surgeon at Jackson Barracks, who had treated Mrs. Merriam in her husband's absence at the Texas border. The letter proved to be a reply to one written by Mrs. Frank Schultze, Mrs. Merriam's sister, at the suggestion of Merriam's attorney, in which questions were propounded to the surgeon, all relating to medical treatment given Mrs. Merriam.

The letter admitted nothing of a character that could damage Mrs. Merriam's case.

Several postcards written by Capt. Merriam from Texas, in which he admonished his wife to accept the attentions of Maj. Murphy, were introduced. Merriam was asked by Barclay Henley, counsel for Mrs. Merriam, why he should have invited Murphy's attentions at that time, and to object to them later. He replied that that was before he knew the denial at Jackson Barracks.

Capt. Merriam then was subjected to a grueling examination as to his association with Maj. Keppard, commander of the post, and Capt. Lomax, Lieut. Hanna and Lieut. Williams. He was forced to admit that none of these officers had said more than that there was "talk" about Mrs. Merriam.

He was asked by Attorney Henley if he thought at the time of bringing the divorce suit that his wife was guilty of infidelity, he had testified that in the complaint. He replied that the complaint spoke for itself.

He denied that he had ever told a man in New Orleans named Anderson that he believed his wife innocent. He also denied, after a sharp colloquy between Henley and his own attorney, Walter Linforth, that he had told Mrs. Merriam this summer that he believed her innocent.

MURPHY HEARS TESTIMONY.

Maj. Murphy sat in the courtroom during the testimony of Capt. Merriam. Mrs. Merriam and the captain were on the verge of tears during a portion of the testimony.

The marital troubles of Capt. Merriam, previous hearings involved scores of persons prominent in army circles, ranging from the artillery officers at Fortress Monroe, at the mouth of Hampton Roads, to the officers at Fort Hancock at New York and Fort Wood at New Orleans.

Efforts of Mrs. Merriam to obtain alimony on the order of the commanding officer at Jackson Barracks—the latter ordering Capt. Merriam to pay $150 a month—failed, and Capt. Merriam's suit—directed to have that reservation order set aside by the Secretary of War—established the post commander's right to issue it.

It is predicted that similar sensational testimony will mark the concluding days of the trial.

Should the army officer have sought in his suit to get his wife to accept a decree on her cross-complaint for desertion, so that his record as an officer and a gentleman might remain pure, Mrs. Merriam has strengthened her defense against the charges contained in the depositions introduced by her husband, made by army folks at Jackson Barracks, that she was indiscreet with Maj. Clarence Murphy.

Maj. Murphy was a member of the staff of the Governor of Louisiana at the time the Merriams were stationed at New Orleans.

He arrived here a month ago, but was not permitted to give his testimony until the case came regularly to trial.

CALLS WIFE A POISONER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—"She attempted to poison herself many times and gave poison to our child. There is army medical testimony to support that," declared Capt. Henry C. Merriam, U.S.A., today, testifying in his divorce suit. Capt. Merriam already has testified that his wife twice tried to shoot him with his own revolver. Capt. Merriam declared that the women of Jackson Barracks refused to visit his quarters at the post. He noted this on his return from the border, he said.

FIND LOST SON IN PENITENTIARY.

CLAIMS MOTHER'S ESTATE FROM UTAH STATE PRISON.

Man Believed to Have Been Buried Years Ago Writes to San Francisco Probate Court to Acquire Property Left to Woman Now Visiting in Los Angeles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Richard M. Jessop, long mourned as dead by his wealthy mother, the late Mrs. Emma F. McGovern of San Rafael, and his sister, Mrs. Grace F. Smith, divorced wife of Harry Smith, for years manager for Robert Mantell, the actor, has written from the Utah penitentiary to the probate department of the San Francisco Superior Court to lay claim to one-half of the $50,000 in property and cash Mrs. McGovern left. The letter was received today. Jessop was reported long ago to have been buried in the penitentiary cemetery.

For the disgrace he had brought on his family Jessop says in his letter he buried his identity when he became a long-time convict in the Mormon State, letting his relatives think him dead.

In his cell, he read a few days ago of the death of his mother at her San Rafael home on August 11, and that his sister had offered her will for probate in a petition reciting that her only brother and other heir to the wealth was dead.

Jessop says he hesitated to reveal himself, but, believing money might help him, he decided to let the truth be known.

Burglary in the crime for which he is now serving, the same offense for which he served a penal sentence in this State.

But Dick Jessop, as his erstwhile friends in San Francisco called him, is not aware of the contents of the will. Mrs. McGovern in drafting the document, with her own hand, wrote:

"Because of the heart suffering and trouble he has caused me I make no better provision than $1 for my son, Richard Jessop."

The entire estate is left to Mrs. Smith, whose home is at No. 521 North Broadway, Seattle. She is now visiting her aged father, Isaac Jessop, at Los Angeles.

Twenty odd years ago Emma F. McGovern was the wife of Isaac Jessop, a wealthy stock broker. She divorced him, and in a financial settlement received one-half of many acres of land in San Rafael between the west end and Highland Park.

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Elizabeth Chapman Grant of San Francisco today, through her attorneys, filed a demurrer to the divorce complaint of her husband, Jesse Root Grant, youngest son of the late President Grant. There was nothing sensational in the papers, the only allegation being insufficiency of facts stated in complaint to furnish grounds for divorce.

This was the last day such action could be taken and shows that Mrs. Grant will make a fight. Jesse Grant is here, but refused to talk of the case. His divorce complaint alleges desertion.

SAN FRANCISCO POLICE WIND UP BARBARY COAST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—By unanimous vote tonight the Police Commission adopted a resolution ordering the annihilation of the so-called Barbary Coast of San Francisco. The resolution provides that after September 30 dancing will not be allowed in any saloon or restaurant where liquor is sold within the district named nor any woman or female employee permitted in any saloon or restaurants.

The resolution provides that licenses shall be removed within the district for ordinary saloons.

The action of the commission was the result of a campaign that has been waging with growing vigor for months. Early in the year the ban was placed upon the Tenderloin district, where dance halls and other questionable resorts flourished for years, growing to the odorous adjuncts of the district known to sailors the world over. Into the elaborate establishments of today. The new regulations affect the majority of the Coast a number of dance hall proprietors have come. Ways of evading the rules were found, and the Coast gradually resumed its old-time enjoyments.

Opposition against it did not abate. Within the last few weeks it has been suddenly swelled into a chorus of protest. Recently a morning newspaper launched into the fight with a full-page editorial demanding that the city be swept clean once and for all. Massmeetings were held and the subject was kept in the forefront of public notice. Tonight the police commission, after a careful study of all sides of its problem, adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, that after September 30, 1913, no dancing shall be permitted in any cafe, restaurant or saloon where liquor is sold, within the district bounded on the south by Clay east by the bay, on the south by Clay street and on the west by Stockton street.

"Be it further resolved, that no women patrons nor women employees shall be permitted in any saloon in the said district.

"Be it further resolved, that no license shall be renewed upon Pacific street between Kearny and Sansome streets excepting for a straight saloon."

The meeting of the commission tonight was held in a room crowded to suffocation with representatives of various clubs and reform organizations. The great majority of those present were women. In the crowd also were dance-hall proprietors and a few women from the dance halls.

Oakland Authorities Hit Upon a Plan to Reduce the Mortality Rate From Rabies.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A "shooting squad" of police, empowered to shoot all unmuzzled dogs, seen on the streets, is the method by which Commissioner of Public Health and Safety Fred C. Turner hopes to combat the many cases of rabies that have occurred recently.

Today Turner called a meeting of City Commissioners, when the heads of various city departments will be asked to co-operate in the passage of an ordinance creating the desired squad.

Since last Thursday, when the muzzling ordinance went into effect, twenty-eight dogs have been caught on the street unmuzzled. Records show twenty-two cases of rabies in Oakland during the last month.

ALAMO SURVIVOR SUES.

Adopted Son of Kit Carson Once in Napa Soldiers' Home Wants a Divorce.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Capt. Louis C. Schilling, a veteran of the Civil War, 81 years old, filed a suit for divorce here today from Joanna Schilling, now of Seattle, whom he married at Washington, D. C., in 1884. Capt. Schilling was the adopted son of the famous scout, Kit Carson, and also bears the distinction of being the only survivor of the Alamo, escaping death in that massacre by hiding under a box.

It is charged in the captain's complaint that his wife was unfaithful to him, particularly in 1898 at Escondido, Cal., when he was in the restaurant business. Leon Donaldson is named as co-respondent. The aged captain also charges infidelity at Seattle and cruelty. He alleges that when he married her she said she was the widow of John Wilson of Baltimore, when as a matter of fact she was never married to him.

Schilling has been an inmate of the Napa (Cal.) Soldiers' Home.

SAN DIEGO, (Cal.) Sept. 22.—Capt. John M. Elliott, retired, who was relieved of the command of the cruiser Maryland while that vessel was at Controller Bay, Alaska, following the action of the plucking board in selecting him for compulsory retirement, will endeavor to have a bill introduced in Congress providing for his restoration to active duty, according to his friends here. Capt. Elliott's intention did not come as a surprise, as it has been no secret that the "plucked" naval officer has bitterly resented his forced retirement from the sea. He is now in the East preparing the data on which his effort to be restored to duty will be based.

PACIFIC GROVE (Cal.) Sept. 22.—Three cottages were dedicated with appropriate ceremony, to the use of retired ministers at the session today of the California conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. It was voted to hold the 1914 conference in Oakland. Bishop Hughes ordained as deacons Koishi Matsuoka, Yuzura Hamaka, Yasaburo Tsudo; S. C. Thomas and Aristide Malinverni; as elders, W. H. Poole, B. J. Snyder, B. J. Morris and A. Malinverni. The bishop spoke on "Ministerial Balance." State Engineer McClure brought greetings from Gov. Johnson. Dr. W. W. Guth, who will leave for Baltimore to become president of Goucher College, was presented with a silver loving cup. A. N. Sweet withdrew from the ministry. The conference will be concluded tomorrow.

DISALLOW AUDITORIUM BILL.

Controller Declares State Cannot Pay Anything Toward Proposed Building in San Francisco.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.—A warrant for $106,973.72 was drawn by State Controller Chambers today, representing California's proportion of the approved expenditures of the Panama-Pacific Exposition Company for July. The total amount spent thus far by the State is $1,405,057.46.

July disbursements by the exposition directors amounted to $343,-354.45. Of this sum $22,433.28, representing expenditures covering a period from September 1, 1912, to August 1, 1913, on account of the exposition auditorium in San Francisco's civic center was disallowed by the Exposition Commission.

"In the judgment of the commission it is not proper or desirable that the State should contribute anything for the building of this auditorium," it was noted in the voucher system presented to Controller Chambers.

The payment of today's warrant leaves a balance in the exposition fund of $1,138,655.86 out of a total of $2,500,000, collected in two years by the special tax levy.

OUTDOOR JOBS FATAL.

Greatest Number of Deaths in California Among Men in Agricultural Pursuits.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.—The greatest number of deaths in California in 1912 were of men engaged in agriculture, transportation and other outdoor pursuits, so Statistician George D. Leslie of the State Board of Health has discovered.

For 1912, 20,174 deaths of persons aged 15 years or over, were reported, and of these 17,416 were reported in the occupational class. Of those for whom vocations were reported only 1024 were women, all the other women dying having been housewives.

For the males the deaths and occupations are reported as follows:

Agriculture, transportation and other outdoor pursuits, 5208, or 31.8 per cent.; laboring and servant work, 3420, or 20.9 per cent.; manufacturing and mechanical industry, 3349, or 20.4 per cent.; mercantile or trading, 1303, or 8.0 per cent.; clerical and official duties, 1215, or 7.4 per cent.; professional callings, 920, or 5.7 per cent., and all other occupations, 940, or 5.8 per cent.

PRISONERS FIGHT FIRE.

Oregon Convicts Extinguish Flames That Threatened to Destroy the Barriers That Detain Them.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 22.—Thirty-two county prisoners working on the rock pile at Kelly Butte were formed into a bucket brigade by Sheriff Word this morning and fought the flames that were devouring the wooden stockade around their prison. The fire was started by the explosion of the boiler at 8:20 o'clock, Engineer Charles E. Eatchel being blown clear out of the engine room and converted into a human torch. He ran 100 feet to a watering trough where he put out the flames. His injuries may prove fatal.

An alarm was sent to the Sheriff's office several miles away and a number of deputies were rushed to the scene in automobiles. In the meantime the prisoners, many of whom are counted desperate, made no attempt to escape, although there are but few regular guards at the subjail.

The loss is estimated at about $12,000.

SEVERAL STOCKS MAKE GAINS.

UNDERTONE OF THE MARKET IS DISTINCTLY FIRM.

Rumors of an Extra Dividend of Reading Are Revived and Securities Rise Strongly—Bonds Are Irregular, With a Continuance of Pressure Against Rock Island.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A few stocks made good gains today, but in the great majority of cases changes were only nominal. Speculation was languid. The market was closed until noon because of the funeral of Mayor Gaynor, and during the afternoon little interest was shown in the dealings. The undertone of the market was distinctly firm, with evidences of increasing strength until just before the close, when there was a sudden reaction. Rumors of an extra dividend for Reading were revived and the stock rose strongly, eclipsing its recently established high record for the year. Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, New Haven, Consolidated Gas and Third Avenue also were strong. Rock Island stocks and bonds were again weak, reaching new low prices. Bonds were irregular, with a continuance of pressure against Rock Island issues. Rock Island collateral 4's and refunding 4's dropped about 2 points each. Total sales par value $1,075,000. United States unchanged on call.

New York Curb Stocks.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Tobacco stocks were firm today. Many oils were in demand. Coppers were unchanged. North Star was weak and heavily traded in. Boston corners seemed dull, with an inclination toward weakness. In the afternoon the market was quiet, with trading limited. Alaska was strong. The circuit judge in Michigan has issued a sweeping injunction against the Western Federation of Miners regarding the strike in the lake copper region.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Tone Is Firm, but Market Lacks Interest Except for Moderate Activity in Few Issues.

Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury Bldg., Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Despite moderate activity in Reading and a few others issues and a generally firm tone, the session today was uninteresting and marked by a lack of initiative. There has recently been some talk of gold imports, but foreign exchange has hardened considerably. The stock market still appears to be controlled almost entirely by considerations governed by investment markets. It is understood that quite a little new financing is contemplated, and that this, of course, can only be successfully consummated in a firm market. Even so, the unfavorable symptoms observable in certain fields of commercial and industrial endeavor are commanding close attention.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Consolidated Mines Continue Strong. Union Issues Show Better Feeling. Trading Scattered.

Trading was small in volume and scattered. Several stocks appeared on the list, which have not been dealt in for some time. Consolidated Mines was about the only particular attraction. It continued strong. National Pacific opened weak, but closed firm. Midway Northern was up 1¾ points at the close. United Oil and Mariposa Northern were strong. Favorable field developments are the apparent cause of the upward movement of the last three issues mentioned. Associated was a little higher, but Amalgamated, although not traded in, was weak. Union stocks were stronger, but inactive. Jads has been traded in occasionally of late and is about steady. In the bank list Citizens' National attracted some interest, and strengthened. Federal Bank showed some improvement in the bid price. Interest in bonds awakened a little. Edison Electric first refunding 5s and Pacific Light and Power, guaranteed 5s were stronger.

SAN FRANCISCO EXCHANGE.

[Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—North Star was the weakest feature of the Tonopahs, losing 6 points. West End was the strongest, gaining 5. The rest were steady. There were no changes in Goldfields or Manhattans. In the Comstock list Confidence was up 5, and Ophir 1. Outlying-camp stocks were easy. The volume of business was small.

COMMERCIAL.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

There was no advance in the price of eggs yesterday, but they were very firm and an increase is looked for. Receipts for over Sunday were very light, only 235 cases, which was barely sufficient to supply the day's demand. Prices at this time are 3 cents above the market of last year, which was a high water market and indications are that egg prices will be the highest that they have ever been in the history of the city. In Philadelphia the market is up to 31 a dozen on strictly fresh ranch eggs, according to report, and in Los Angeles this winter the market may not be so far from that figure in a retail way. This is due to the cutting down of the storage business throughout the country more than for any other reason. Here receipts have been considerably smaller and there is a decrease of 10,000 cases in receipts of local eggs for the first six months of the year over the same period last year. What is true of locals is still more applicable to eastern receipts and those produced in the northern part of the State and shipped here. The net shortage is estimated at a very close figure at 25,000 cases and as the season advances, this will grow. People are demanding local fresh ranch eggs and they are paying the price for them. Until they realize that storage eggs can be made to serve many useful purposes, the market will continue way up in the air, production being unable to catch up.

The demand for butter was only fair and the market steady. A heavy buying demand for the best quality would send the market up again, it being figured very low at the prevailing 35-cent quotations. Receipts were 24,005 pounds. The cheese arrivals only totaled 654 pounds. Trading in eastern cheese was fair and receipts from there have been heavy, stocking the market well up.

The potato market started out firm and 5 cents higher than the close last week. Highlands are selling up to $1.00 and even $1.05. Sunland are up to $1.75. Receipts were heavy, 5600 sacks.

Onions arrivals were light, only 300 sacks being reported in. Pink beans were held a shade off quotations and other varieties were firm, the market on old stock being well cleaned up with the exception of pinks. Only twenty-four sacks of sweets were shipped in. Apple receipts broke all records for a single day this year and receipts totaled 21,010 boxes. Prices were barely steady under this influx of the fruit.

LA HABRA MEN ARE BUILDING.

NEW PACKING-HOUSE NEEDED TO HANDLE CROP.

Association Organized Two Years Ago Has Prospered to a Degree that the Improvement Is Possible. McKittrick Citizens Have Reconstructed a City on a Pile of Ashes.

WHITTIER, Sept. 27.—The La Habra Citrus Association will have a new packing-house ready in time to handle this year's orange crop, work on the excavation having been started this week.

The La Habra Association was organized about two years ago and during the past season has had a small plant in operation to care for the orange crop while the lemons were packed at Whittier as in the past. Now the La Habra Association has decided to put $12,000 into a good, up-to-date plant and the contract has been awarded. E. M. Wheatland, well known contractor, will handle the job. The new house will have a basement of concrete and this will be surmounted by a frame structure. The whole will be 70x50 feet. The La Habra Valley has many full bearing groves now, but the bulk of its acreage is young, which means that in the near future the production of oranges and lemons will be vastly increased.

FROM ITS ASHES.

McKITTRICK RISES GRANDLY.

The business district of McKittrick has undergone quite a change since the recent fire, which laid in ashes several of the largest buildings in the city, including the Little & Kerr saloon, the McKittrick Operahouse, the general merchandise store of O. H. Tetzlaff, the postoffice, the gentleman's furnishing goods store of G. G. Stewart, the barber shop of N. J. Lewis, the saloon of Ira M. Anderson, Hotel Anderson, and the department store of E. L. Brown & Son.

Last week Messrs. E. L. Brown & Son took possession of a large corrugated iron building, erected on the site of the store formerly occupied by Mr. Tetzlaff and which includes the postoffice. The new structure is one of the most imposing within the corporate limits, and in exterior and interior furnishings compares most favorably with any in the west side oil field. It is in charge of E. M. Brown, who is assisted by Messrs. Ross Hand, C. A. French, B. T. Hagen, W. W. Fletcher, S. W. Beale and Robert McLaughlin, who have charge of various departments. This well-known firm has been engaged in business in the west side for a number of years, and its members have long been identified prominently with the oil interests of Kern county.

Joseph F. Eggil, whose restaurant on the ground floor of Hotel Anderson, was destroyed in the fire, has resumed business on a location owned by Ira M. Anderson, and close to the site of the hotel.

John Hurley has opened a restaurant on Second street. He was formerly located on E street, where he conducted business for a long time, resuming operations upon his return recently from New England.

The lots at the corner of Second and D streets, where stood the saloon of Little & Kerr, the McKittrick Operahouse, the cigar and tobacco store of N. M. Renoud and a restaurant, will soon be occupied by one-story buildings. They are to be of a substantial character, and will add materially to the appearance of the district.

The new postoffice will be ready for occupancy within a short time, and when completed is expected to be one of the best arranged and most complete in this portion of Kern county. It is to be on the site of the former office, regarded as the most central in the city, and the change from the temporary location will be welcomed gladly, as the City Hall, whither the mail was taken immediately after the fire, has furnished quarters inadequate to the accommodations required. The postmaster, O. H. Tetzlaff, and his assistants, Mrs. B. T. Hagen and Miss May Traver, have rendered most praiseworthy service, receiving and forwarding the mail under disadvantageous conditions, but always with a promptness which elicited public approval, and to them the people of McKittrick are indebted for many courtesies shown during the temporary disarrangement of the postal service.

JUDGE DISQUALIFIED.

Relationships in the Oil Withdrawal Suits to Necessitate Naming of a Special Jurist to Preside.

William Denman of San Francisco, special assistant of Atty-Gen. McReynolds in what are known as the oil "withdrawal" suits, was in the city yesterday to consult with Dist.-Atty. Schoonover and Special Counsel McCormick, in reference to the case.

During the day, Judge Wellborn signed a stipulation that, because his son is concerned in some of the corporations affected, he would be disqualified to hear the argument on the motion filed by the defendants praying for the dismissal of the actions.

This will make it necessary for Presiding Judge Gilbert of the Circuit Court of Appeal, to designate some other judge to hear the preliminary motions and preside at the hearings. The choice will likely fall between Judges Van Fleet and Dooling of San Francisco, the last recently named to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge De Haven. The cases are all pending in the Northern District United States Court at Fresno, but will be transferred here for the purposes of the hearing.

Attorney Denman returned to San Francisco last night.

PENSIONS AT SAN FRANCISCO.

The office of Pension Examiner, maintained in the Federal building for some time, has been temporarily closed, and persons having business with Maj. O. L. Sues, who succeeded A. L. Leonard in the management of the office, will be compelled to communicate with him at room 204, Postoffice Building, San Francisco. An effort will be made to transact all business from the San Francisco office, although the personal presence of the examiner is requisite in the most of the cases.

COPPER MARKET; DAILY REVIEW.

LONDON, NEW YORK AND BOSTON QUOTATIONS.

Slump in London Copper Fails to Affect New York Market, but General Easiness Is Apparent. Amalgamated Directors to Take Dividend Action Soon.

London copper opened weak, with spot at £75, off 12s 6d, and futures at £72 17s 6d, off 12s 6d. Tin opened easy, with spot at £191 15s, off 15s, and futures at £192, unchanged. Lead opened firm, 10s off 5s. Copper closed easy, with spot at £72 15s, off 5s, and futures at £73 15s 6d, off 5s. Tin closed easy, with spot at £190 15s, off £1, and futures at £191, off £1. Spelter closed at £20 15s, unchanged.

In New York copper was easy, with spot, October and November at 15.50@16.25; tin was easy, with spot September and October at 41.50@41.87½; November at 41.62½@41.87½. Lead was at 4.70 bid, and spelter at 5.75@5.85.

Amalgamated directors will meet in October for dividend action, and in view of the fact that Amalgamated obtains practically all of its income from Anaconda, no change in dividends of the former concern is likely in the absence of an increase in Anaconda's. On a basis of 17-cent copper, Amalgamated and Anaconda are showing substantial surplus after dividend payment.

Directors of Anaconda met today to take action on dividends. No change in rate is expected.

There has been very little change in copper conditions. A slump of about 12s in copper in London did not influence the local market. Large agencies continue to quote 16¾ cents. Buying has subsided and a resumption of demand will be necessary to force the metal above 17 cents.

Metalliferous mining in Alaska made important advances in 1912. Although output of gold placers was less than in 1911, installation of large plants, notably of dredges, in many districts is encouraging for the future. More important was the progress in lode gold mining, output of which was greater than in previous years. Copper mining also advanced, partly because several large plants increased their output, partly because a number of small mines were developed on account of the high price of copper. The development of coal fields still awaits a definite policy as to disposition of public coal lands. The delay in securing cheap fuel for the territory has now for many years caused a stagnation in many industries. Railway construction and to a certain extent railway operation have stopped and many mining enterprises have been hampered if not entirely abandoned on account of uncertainty as to the fuel problem. Very few Alaskans have any direct interest in coal claims or in mining, but the entire population is desirous of seeing the coal fields developed, because it is believed that this will bring advancement in many other industries. Above all, it will encourage operation and construction of railways, which are all-important to the Territory. Mine production of gold, silver and copper in Alaska in 1913 was $22,285,821, against $20,505,064 in 1911, an increase of $1,780,158. The value of gold production last year is estimated at $17,145,881, that of silver, $316,839. In 1911 the output of gold was $16,653,256. The copper output of Alaska for 1913 was 20,220,491 pounds, valued at $4,823,081, an increase from 1911 of 1,962,613 pounds.

Directors of the Wolverine Copper Mining Company will take no action on semi-annual dividend due for payment early in October. The management has decided to husband its resources until the outlook at Lake Superior has improved. The company has turned all of its copper into cash, having sold every pound of its production on an advancing market. The last sale was at 15½ cents. The company has liquid assets of $700,000, of which approximately $500,000 is cash. The Lake mines could not for months get back to normal production, even should the strike be called off tomorrow. When operations have been resumed, however, Wolverine directors will act on the dividend, although it will probably be at a reduced rate. The spring disbursement was $2.

The Engineering and Mining Journal says of the copper situation: "The copper market has worked itself into a dangerous position, and if consumers should become unduly excited they may develop highly uncomfortable conditions for themselves. The producers are sincerely, we believe, seeking to prevent that, realizing that in the end they always have to suffer from excesses. There will probably be a further advance in price, but it is hoped that there will be no runaway market. In view of the existing financial and industrial situation, which is not what it should be either in Europe or America, there will probably be no runaway market. The gradually increasing business recession in Germany will be a tempering influence, as will be also the absolute absence of any prospect of a boom in this country, where the partial failure of this year's harvest has checked all ideas of business expansion. However, there will, no doubt, be a very strong copper market for some months to come simply because of the restriction of production, the Mexican and Mexican troubles having come to a head just when stocks had already been reduced to a smaller quantity than it was thought a few years ago the requirements of commerce would permit."

The east 1000 level of Superior and Boston is beginning to display evidence of heavy mineralization. At present there are several stringers of ore in the face, one streak of high-grade copper averaging about six inches in width. While ore in commercial quantities may still be a long distance beyond the drift's face, the increased mineralization is encouraging evidence that the ore body will be picked up again on the 1000 level.

Granby Consolidated has taken under a working option the Lame Foot group of mines in the northern part of the State of Washington. The property lies but a short distance from the original Granby mine. The ore carries an excess of iron, which would be of great benefit to operations at the Grand Forks plant. While dickering between the Granby management and the owners of the Lame Foot group has been under way spasmodically for a year or two, little headway was gained, as the price named was always considered too high by the Granby Company. A two-year option was finally taken about two months ago and development work immediately started. It is believed that the Lame Foot property may prove a worthy successor to the Old Granby mine. Two other groups have also been optioned with outlook bright for their purchase.

Tennessee Copper Company produced 1,143,019 pounds of copper in August, against 1,295,804 pounds in July.

Last month's acid production was 16,219 tons, comparing with 18,061 tons in the preceding month. The copper output thus far this year has been (pounds):

January	1,824,637
February	1,660,151
March	1,796,894
April	1,718,188
May	1,687,115
June	1,879,220
July	1,295,804
August	1,143,019

The acid output last year totaled 192,084 tons. This year's production, based on the past two months' yield, will constitute a new high record. The July yield was at the rate of 218,972 tons per annum.

Boston Copper Market.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—The New York Stock Exchange did not open until 12 o'clock on account of Mayor Gaynor's funeral, the result was a loss of interest in the local market. Prices for most part were well maintained, but transactions were small. Shattuck was the only stock to show an advance, with the bulk of sales at 30 1-4.

EMORY WELL FLOWS.

The standard Oil Company has brought in well No. 4, on its Emory lease in Fullerton field, with a production of 2000 barrels. The output of this lease, with four wells producing, is estimated to be about 6000 to 6500 barrels daily. Most of the oil is quite high gravity.

Owing the large quantity of oil produced, the Standard has been under the necessity of doubling a portion of its pipe line from the valley to El Segundo, to relieve the pressure incident to the taking care of the increasing production. It is expected that this work will be completed about October 1.

During the past month the company found difficulty in securing adequate storage facilities to take care of the oil produced and purchased in the field.

"Northern" Output.

Three wells of the Midway Northern Oil Company were yielding over 2300 barrels according to latest advices from the field. No. 3, the latest to come in, was producing 600 barrels a day, with a large quantity of sand, which, it is believed, is interfering with production. It is expected that the yield this month will be about as large as last month. The amount received for August production was $21,109.33. Dividend requirements at the 1 cent a share rate, which is the amount to be paid this month, are $15,000. The company's first declaration was ½ cent regular and ½ cent extra.

The Oil Industry.

GASOLINE IS STILL WEAK.

Prices Are Much Lower Than Last Year.

Continuance of Decline Is Expected.

Big Surplus of Light Oil in California.

With quotations at 14½ cents a gallon as against 19 cents at this time last year, the gasoline market still shows marked weakness, due to the over-production of light refinable oil in all sections of the State, and the continued extension of the manufacture of gasoline from gas. There seems little doubt that prices will be reduced in the near future, as during the winter months consumption is lightest, and the market is naturally weak, even under much better circumstances than at present prevail.

The natural increase in the average consumption which is going on all the time will hardly serve to keep the markets steady for although probably because of low prices, there has been quite a rapid growth in the demand, production is still in the lead, and gaining, as far as this section of the State is concerned.

It is estimated that there is a surplus of nearly 30,000 barrels a day of light oil in the entire State now, and owing to the forward strides which oil production has been making the past few months, it seems not unlikely that this will continue to be added to. Where a few years ago 70 per cent of the oil produced was not suitable for refining; now about the same amount is light refinable oil.

Producers all over the State have been seeking to increase their production of higher gravity petroleum because of the higher prices. Belridge, Lost Hills and those portions of the Midway and Fullerton fields which yield large quantities of refinable oil were virtually unknown in the old days. During the past few years their capacity for putting out high gravity has been steadily increased. The output of Ventura, which yields probably the best refining oil in the State, has also been growing steadily. Nearly all the petroleum developed there in the past few years has proved highly profitable to treat.

The condition which prevails in Los Angeles is not, of course, characteristic of the entire Coast, principally because, in the vicinity of this city, there is the large available supply of casing-head gasoline, manufactured generally from the gas produced by old wells. This has enabled a number of individual companies to compete in the local market by manufacturing gasoline at a low cost, and as a consequence of this keen competition which was started about a year ago—beside the other factors—the price has steadily fallen off.

The loss since the high figure of 19 cents last year was reached amounted to 14½ cents. It is generally understood, however, that the 14½-cent rate does not indicate the true state of the market, because a considerable quantity of motor fuel is selling under that price.

Aside from declining consumption during the winter months, and the large surplus of refinable oil, the further causes for the expected falling off in price may be found in the fact that new casing-head plants are furnishing or will soon furnish gasoline to the local market. The plant on the Amalgamated Oil Company's lease in La Habra Valley is just about to operate, according to latest advices, and is expected to yield some 2000 to 3000 gallons of very high-grade gasoline a day. This will be mixed with about one and one-half parts distillate, and it is predicted that this will mean the addition of about 6000 to 7000 gallons of gasoline to the Southern California supply.

Arrangements have just been made whereby the American Gas Company will use the gas on the property of the Rancho La Brea Oil Company in the Salt Lake field for the manufacture of gasoline. This property yields some 4,000,000 cubic feet a day, and a plant capable of extracting about 2000 gallons of gasoline is projected. When the product is mixed with distillate another 7000 gallons or so will be added to the supply here. The Standard Oil Company has just finished a small plant at its Newhall property, utilizing the gas produced by the old wells in that section. Besides these, the construction of new plants, and the enlargement of old ones is undertaken quite frequently.

What Food shall I give Baby?

Every mother must sooner or later ask herself this question, and it is one which must involve a good deal of anxious consideration. It may be that on the advice of friends various foods are tried to see if baby takes kindly to them.

Now, is it not reasonable to assume that an infants' food that has been in general use for upwards of fifty years, and that has been used, in preference to others, in most of the Royal Nurseries of Europe, is likely to prove a suitable diet for the average infant? Such a food is Savory & Moore's, and all mothers who decide in its favour may be congratulated on the wisdom of their choice.

Infants reared on Savory & Moore's Food are characterised by strong, sturdy limbs, firm flesh, plenty of bone and muscle, easy teething, freedom from infant ailments, and that happy disposition which is the surest sign of perfect health. Ask your Druggist to get you a tin.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Board of Public Works is to adopt a policy providing for construction of cement gutters on more than a thousand miles of streets, that are improved, but not paved. This is to cut down the weed nuisance and prevent standing pools of water.

The Public Service Committee yesterday decided to take up the subject of annexing outside territories at tomorrow morning's meeting, and may appoint a committee of seven in these districts to handle the campaign.

The Loyal Order of Moose at San Pedro was granted a social club liquor permit by the Police Commission yesterday, although there was strong opposition made to this by numerous San Pedro citizens.

Citizens of the southwest appealed to the Mayor yesterday to aid them in getting relief from intolerable conditions of water service in territories served by private water companies.

Boyle Heights citizens yesterday were successful in getting the Police Commission to deny a permit for a poolroom on East First street, and have secured a week's postponement of action on an application for a permit on Stephenson avenue, declaring they will present petitions showing that no pool halls are wanted in Boyle Heights at any place.

The Police Commission yesterday adopted a notice to be sent to all holders of restaurant liquor permits, warning them to observe the proprieties in their cabaret shows.

The Chief of Police of Venice and a justice of the peace there have brought suit against a druggist seeking $100,000 damages for alleged graft accusations.

At the City Hall.

TWO THOUSAND MILES OF GUTTER.

PUBLIC WORKS BOARD SETTLES ON NEW POLICY.

Will Require Property Owners to Lay Cement Drainage Ways on All Improved Streets Not Paved, Thus Helping to Eliminate Weed Nuisance and Standing Waters.

More than 1000 miles of improved streets that are not paved are to have cement gutters constructed in them, this making more than 2000 miles of guttering in conformity with the new policy that is to be adopted by the Board of Public Works.

The board has informally discussed this policy in its own sessions and also with members of the City Council, and all agree that several advantages can be secured by adopting this method of procedure.

The plan of the board is to require the construction of these gutters in streets in outlying districts that have been graded, graveled and curbed, where the weed nuisance has become objectionable or where there are pools of standing water from flushing of near-by paved streets and seepage from lawns. Gradually the work will be extended until all of the city's improved highways are properly supplied with cement gutters.

By this means, besides giving relief from standing waters, the weed nuisance on streets will be cut down to a minimum, as the present cobblestone gutters form favorable places for collection of weed seed and the moisture there keeps weeds growing.

There are 1287 miles of streets in the city and of these there are 160 miles approximately of paved streets. As the proposed cement gutters have to be carried along both sides of the streets it means that more than 2000 miles of guttering must be constructed. It is estimated that this will cost the property owners 20 cents per front foot.

PRELIMINARIES.

ON ANNEXATION MOVEMENT.

A preliminary to the general movement for annexing to the city of Los Angeles all the territory that is to be served with the Los Angeles aqueduct water will be the meeting of the Public Service Committee of the Council tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, in the Council chamber. At that time it is expected that representatives of the various communities directly interested will be present and the project will receive discussion.

Councilman Betkouski, chairman of this committee, stated yesterday that it is probable the Public Service Committee will appoint tomorrow a committee of nine men, representing the outside communities, and instruct them to carry through plans to ascertain the real sentiment of their communities, so that proceedings may be hastened if the big annexation scheme is to be carried through.

MOOSE GET PERMIT.

FOR BAR AT SOCIAL CLUB.

Lodge No. 483, Loyal Order of Moose, gets its social club liquor permit for the [illegible] Sixth street, San Pedro. So the Police Commission decided yesterday, after having continued the hearing on the application a week at the previous meeting.

San Pedro citizens were much in evidence at this meeting of the commission, both sides of the controversy being well represented. Rev. P. H. Hickman led the cohorts who opposed the issuance of the permit. The objections raised were that this lodge takes in members under age and that they should not be subjected to the temptations of a social bar.

The novel plea was also raised by those opposing the bar that the saloons of San Pedro that pay a license fee of $100 per month should receive protection against the social club bar, that would only pay $25 per month. The general plea of the speakers against the permit was, however, that San Pedro is in a "cleaning-up" era and further places where liquors can be obtained are not desired.

Rev. Mr. Hickman produced the records of arrests during the past two months as compared with those of the same months last year and claimed that there had been an increase of eighty over the previous year during the same months, while 123 of these were for drunkenness.

The Mayor declared that minors are no more exempt from the provisions of the law because they take drinks in a social club bar than when they drink in saloons, and that San Pedro does not present as bad a record for arrests for drunkenness as certain other portions of Los Angeles. He declared that he saw no reason for making distinctions between San Pedro and other parts of the city in granting social club liquor permits, and Commissioner Morgan coinciding, the permit was granted.

LIQUOR PERMITS.

ACTION BY COMMISSION.

The Police Commission at yesterday's session granted a transfer of the saloon permit held by B. R. Randolph for No. 250 East Second street, to Martin J. Conroy for No. 527 South Main street.

The retail liquor permit held by Frank A. Ellercamp for No. 111 South San Pedro street was transferred to No. 248 East Fifth street.

The board granted a transfer of the retail liquor permit held by Launer & Wilson for No. 108 West Seventh street to Wilson & Wilson.

John A. Zumstein, who had applied for a No. 1 restaurant liquor permit for No. 111 West Third street and No. 265 South Main street, the old Levy's Cafe location, withdrew the application. The Mayor had publicly expressed his determination not to grant any liquor permit for this location.

A No. 2 restaurant liquor permit was granted to Leon Eyraud for No. 241 Aliso street, and J. S. Gilmore, No. 364 East First street, was granted permission to change his restaurant liquor permit from the No. 2 to No. 1 class.

No. 2 restaurant liquor permits were granted to Christoph Nichols, No. 237 East Fifth street, and Laubach Miluilnovich, No. 1207 East Sixth street.

The application of F. Yukumg for a restaurant liquor permit for No. 363 North Main street was denied. The Mayor declared that he believes the number of liquor permits held by Asiatics in proportion to population is far in excess of what it should be and that no further permits of this character will be issued to them until the conditions are more equalized.

POOL-ROOM FIGHT.

BOYLE HEIGHTS PROTESTANTS.

Bignall & Lockard wanted a poolroom permit for No. 2114 East First street. They obtained the necessary frontage in the block for the petition to accompany the application and presented this to the Police Commission. Then the Boyle Heights citizens who for several years have maintained a constant effort to keep the district free from pool halls, got in their work, and filed voluminous protests. Yesterday the Police Commission denied the application.

At the same meeting an application was before the board for a similar permit for No. 3737 Stephenson avenue, which is about a block inside the easterly city limits. The citizens from Boyle Heights who had gathered to oppose the first petition, remained to make their protest against the Stephenson-avenue application, and asked for a week's delay, in order that protests might be filed against it.

Mayor Rose declared that he saw no particular reason why Boyle Heights should be exempt from poolrooms when similar locations in other parts of the city have them; but the protestants declared they would show by the petitions presented that Boyle Heights doesn't want the pool-rooms anywhere within its boundaries.

MAYOR'S ATTITUDE.

ON BATH CONCERN PERMITS.

The Police Commission yesterday denied the application of Claude N. Pingree for a permit for a bath and massage establishment at No. 307 South Broadway.

The Mayor stated that he is opposed to issuing permits for bath establishments that treat both sexes when they are proposed to be located on second floors. "Such bath establishments will have to be on the ground floors as long as I have anything to say about it," declared the Mayor.

MUST BE PROPER.

The Police Commission yetsterday formally adopted the notice to be sent to holders of restaurant liquor permits where cabaret shows are maintained, cautioning such persons that these shows must be held up to proper levels. These notices, which are to be sent at once to all holders of restaurant liquor permits, read:

Your attention is called to certain phases and conditions existing in the cafes and restaurants of Los Angeles, concerning which complaints have been received by the Police Commission and the Chief of Police.

The complaints concern chiefly the conduct of the cabaret shows and the actions of these entertainers who are permitted to walk in the aisles of tables, singling out certain patrons, and, in some instances, singing directly to individuals in the audience, and engaging in conversation with them.

There is no objection to well-conducted entertainment, conforming with propriety. What constitutes decency and propriety must, to a large extent, be left to the discretion of the proprietor. There is a distinct dividing line between proper conduct and the descent to the vulgar—including undue familiarity between entertainers and patrons.

The Police Commission will expect you, as an experienced proprietor and caterer, to properly regulate the conduct of your entertainment.

PECULIAR CONDITION.

CLOSED BLOCK ON SPRING.

The Police Commission yesterday voted to close to further wholesale or retail liquor permits Spring street, between Second and Third streets. A peculiar condition of affairs arose when the report of the Chief of Police analyzing the street frontage, was presented.

This showed that there are 1202.8 feet of frontage in the block, and that of this total there are 971.2 feet disqualified from taking sides on the petition because of their direct or indirect connection with liquor permit interests. This left but 231.2 feet eligible to sign petitions, and of this, 206.5 feet were represented on the petition for closing, or 88 per cent. of the total frontage available.

SPEED OF VESSELS.

MAY CHANGE ORDINANCE.

The San Pedro Chamber of Commerce yesterday asked the Harbor Commission to amend the ordinance regulating speed of vessels within the harbor, so as to make the maximum speed limit nine miles an hour. This is now fixed at four miles an hour.

The commission decided to inform the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce that the steamship representatives have asked for a maximum of six miles an hour, but that the entire subject will be given consideration. The port pilots are to be requested to file written reports upon the advisability of a change in the speed regulations.

WANTED—MORE WATER.

CITIZENS APPEAL TO MAYOR.

Residents of the southwestern part of the city who have to depend for their water service upon private companies, appealed to the Mayor yesterday for relief from present conditions. They declare they must secure an adequate water supply, and that conditions now are unbearable.

The appeal, which was presented to the Mayor is signed by 177 citizens, and water consumers. It asks that relief be extended to the districts supplied by the Greater Los Angeles Water Company, the Windsor Square Water Company and the Annex City Water Company. The allegation is made that there is not a water supply sufficient for domestic uses and baths, and that as a result the districts are in an unsanitary and unhealthy condition, while the property owners have to pay exhorbitant rates, and that tenants are being lost because of the poor service.

The allegations is also made that appeals were submitted by petition to the Public Utilities Board, Health Commission, Public Service Commission and Mayor, in 1911 and 1912, but no relief was obtained.

Offers Hole in the Ground.

Fred J. Spring yesterday offered the Board of Public Works the use of an old gravel pit, 300x600 feet, and fifty feet deep, at Washington street and Santa Fe avenue, for the purpose of depositing street sweepings and such refuse, and rubbish as it is not necessary for sanitary reasons to otherwise dispose of. Difficulty has been met by the street department in disposing of sweepings in the southwestern part of the city, and the use of this hole may offer solution.

Police Inspection.

Chief of Police Sebastian yesterday notified the Police Commission that the semi-annual inspection of the police department will take place at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of October 20. At that time the police will don their blue uniforms for the fall and winter, and other new features will be presented. The citizens generally are to be invited to attend this inspection.

Run of Bad Luck.

The Police Commission decided yesterday to ask the City Council to grant permission for expenditure of more than the one-twelfth monthly allowance in order to provide for members of the police force, who are in hospitals, suffering from injuries.

A report from Chief of Police Sebastian stated that so many men of the department have been injured recently that the monthly allowance must be exceeded or it would be necessary to take the men out of the hospitals, where they are now being cared for.

Would Close Block.

Property owners on Spring street, between Third and Fourth streets, filed a petition with the Police Commission yesterday, asking that this block be closed to the issuance of further wholesale or retail liquor permits. This was referred to Chief of Police Sebastian for investigation as to street frontage represented.

The petition for the closing of East Fifth street, betweer Los Angeles and Wall streets, was found not to have sufficient frontage, and the petition was filed.

MINER BANKRUPT.

L. A. W. Johnson, a mining prospector, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court, yesterday. His debts amount to $7,703.44 and his assets $100, the value of household goods, all claimed as exempt. His wife, Josephine Johnson, also filed a similar petition, with liabilities amounting to $4,531.14, and a homestead valued at $2000, on which there is a mortgage of $2000. Fred Breymann, a salesman, scheduled debts amounting to $4,531.85, and assets of $1,112.02. The most of his debts consist of borrowed money.

At the Courthouse.

OFFICIALS ASK HEAVY DAMAGES.

CHARGE DRUGGIST WITH FALSE GRAFT ALLEGATIONS.

Suits Filed Totalling Hundred Thousand Dollars by Venice Justice and Chief of Police—Bixby's Defense Started and Time Is Given to Produce Witnesses.

Suits totaling $100,000 were filed yesterday against R. Vance Vaughan, druggist, by Justice W. A. Rennie and Chief of Police George M. Lingo of Venice, action growing out of his charges of graft and embezzlement. Attorneys Earl Rogers, Fred J. Spring, Byron C. Hanna and Charles M. Lyons represent the plaintiffs.

It is alleged that statements made by Vaughan were intended to bring him financial gain, that he intended to terrorize and frighten the citizens of Venice and the property holders there into purchasing property owned by him.

Rennie says that Vaughan charges him with having embezzled $150 by using his fees and powers to illegally extort from him money, and with grafting in his position as Recorder of the city of Venice and with being corrupt. Lingo makes similar allegations in his complaint.

A published interview with Vaughan, in which these charges of graft and embezzlement are made, is quoted in full in the complaints, in which it is stated that the Venice police force faces graft probes growing out of Vaughan's arrest May 25, last, and that Vaughan makes sweeping charge of embezzlement of $150 bail bond.

DEFENSE'S TURN.

BIXBY MAY TESTIFY.

The defense in the Bixby case began yesterday afternoon with the introduction of two character witnesses. An early adjournment was allowed by Judge Bledsoe so that the defense attorneys might secure certain absent witnesses. It it not known whether the defendant will take the witness stand in his own behalf.

The prosecution closed with Mrs. Emma Goodman, alias Josie Rosenberg, refusing to testify, saying that she had pleaded guilty in her own case to escape the publicity of appearing in a crowded courtroom.

Inasmuch as she is now serving a sentence of one year in the County Jail, Deputy District Attorney Keyes could not press the witness to tell about the alleged relations between the defendant and Cleo Helen Barker.

The Barker woman was recalled for further cross-examination. Attorney Davis questioned her as to supposed efforts on her part to find out where Bixby resides and how much money he is reputed to have.

It was reported by several courtroom attaches that she is to be married and be allowed to leave the Home of the Good Shepherd. Her marriage, however, would not affect her testimony.

Judge Bledsoe permitted the prosecution to interrogate a number of young women who were former inmates of the Jonquil apartments. The questions were confined to declarations that they had seen the defendant at the Hill-street house.

The defense did not cross-examine the girls.

A number of women in court yesterday took copious notes of the proceedings, and a clergyman occupied one of the newspaper reporters' seats to get "local color."

The trial will be resumed this morning.

PROF. LOWE'S RELICS.

MEDALS ON THE BLOCK.

Medals given for meritorious services, the sword, scabbard and pistol he wore in the Civil War and other heirlooms of Prof. T. S. C. Lowe were ordered sold by Judge Myers yesterday, on the petition of Attorney Trippet, representing the estate, that the proceeds may be devoted toward liquidating judgments. These judgments approximate $1200. The estate of Lowe is insolvent, although there is a possibility that certain patents he held may prove valuable.

The relics itemized in the petition, which Attorney Trippet stated would be sold at public auction, include two gold medals, valued at $40; one silver medal, $20; one bronze medal, 50 cents; sword and scabbard, $2.50; pistol, $5; watch, $50; coin pocket-piece, $10; two gold-headed canes, $40.

NEW COURTROOM.

GRAND JURY VACATES.

The old grand jury room on the fourth floor of the Courthouse is only a memory. Henceforth it will be known as Department Seven, Judge Shenk presiding. He moved in yesterday and disposed of a heavy law and motion calendar. The quarters he vacated will be occupied by Judge Jackson and are known as Department Nine.

The former grand jury room, where so many interesting inquisitions were held, including the indictment of the McNamara brothers for dynamiting the Times building, has been comfortably fitted up and no longer bears resemblance to the carpetless chamber, the four walls of which for a time keep secret numberless stories of guilt.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

ACCUSES STOOL-PIGEONS. Hanis Ford and Basil Henderson, formerly working under detectives of the Central Station as stool pigeons, passed a bad half hour in Judge Jackson's court yesterday under the merciless cross-examination of Deputy District Attorney Veitch. The men were examined in view of their statement that they intended to leave the State. They were subpenaed by Attorney Carpenter in the interest of Roy Workman, who was arrested and charged with stealing a motorcycle at Long Beach. Ford and Harris testified that the arrest of Workman was caused by their tip to the detectives. Carpenter is seeking to show at the trial of Workman, October 1, that he was made a victim of the stool-pigeons.

SCORES SPECIALISTS. When Mrs. R. N. Fullenwider appealed to Judge Wood, sitting in Department Six yesterday, for an additional sum a week from her husband, it developed that Fullenwider had paid out to cancer specialists on account of his wife about $500. On this showing he had not been tight with his purse. Judge Wood allowed Mrs. Fullenwider $7 a week instead of $5, which she was receiving, and then read her a lecture on paying out good money to specialists who claimed they could cure cancer. He advised her to go to a good physician.

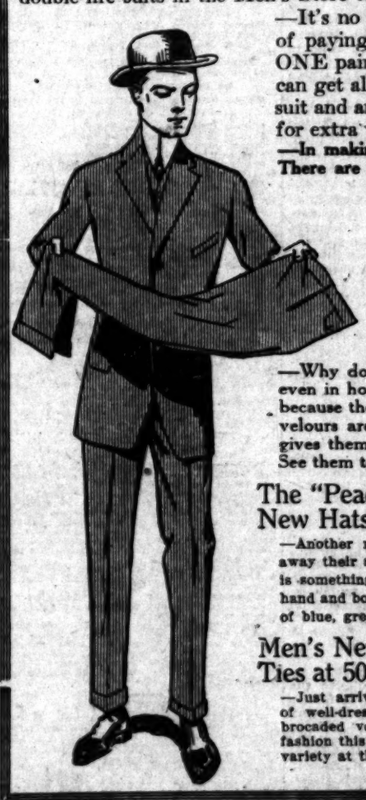
Men's Double-Life Suit

One Coat, One Vest, Two Pairs Trousers $15

—"Why, they are selling suits as if they were neckties," said one man to another as they stood watching the selling of these double-life suits in the Men's Store today.



—It's no wonder, though, after men have been in the habit of paying $15.00 elsewhere for clothing that included ONE pair of trousers and much uncertain value. Here they can get all the $15.00 value that can be crowded into a suit and an extra pair of trousers of same material and color for extra wear.

—In making your selection you have wide range of choice. There are 22 different patterns to select from—all Fall shades. The suits are all wool and finely tailored to suit every type of man—"longs," "shorts," "stouts," "regulars."

—And the price you pay is $15.00. It is the greatest opportunity we have ever offered—it's your opportunity.

Genuine Austrian Velour Hats $5.00

—Why do men of Los Angeles quit wearing straw hats so early, even in hot weather? A good many people have asked us this question because they can't resist the fine fall hats at the Men's Store. These velours are exquisite in their new fall shades. The brim is narrow and gives them a jaunty air and the silk lining an air of refinement. See them today.

The "Peacock," Smart New Hats for Men, $3.00

Men's New Velvet Ties at 50c

—Just arrived to adorn the neck of well-dressed men. Plain and brocaded velvet ties are all the fashion this winter and are here in variety at the Men's Store.

Men's New Button Shoes for Autumn at $3.50

—"The Windsor," a shoe that includes style and quality and moderate price—in tan or black, up-to-date as any high priced shoe.

New Autumn Shirts at $1.50

—Time to change shirts as well as hats. Slip on one of these new French percales with plaited bosoms and attached cuffs—and you're ready for them. All-size necklets and all-size sleeve lengths.

ST. LOUIS WITHDRAWS DRAFT FOR FRANZ HOSP.

Brooklyn Now Has the Privilege of Looting Venice.

Open Season for Minor League Drafting Began Yesterday—Hap Hogan Seems to Have Lost Messenger of the Southern League to the Browns — Hen Berry Won't Put in Any Drafts.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI, Sept. 22.—The National Baseball Commission officially announced today the players from the class AA and class A leagues who were drafted by major league clubs at the meeting of the commission here last week. The list was not announced at that time, as all major league clubs were given time in which to determine the players they desired. The list follows:

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

By New York, from Columbus, O., Cole.

By Chicago, from Baltimore, Roth; Lincoln, Neb., Barbour.

By Detroit, from Buffalo, Mains; Jersey City, Purtell; Montreal, Demmitt; Sacramento, Williams.

By St. Louis, from Portland, Or., James; Atlanta, Bisland; Birmingham, Messenger; Montgomery, Snedecor; Los Angeles, Howard.

By Washington, from Minneapolis, Owens.

By Cleveland, from Chattanooga, Giddo; from Sioux City, Wood.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

By Cincinnati, from Louisville, Niehoff.

By Boston, from St. Joseph, Mo., Crutcher; Milwaukee, Gilbert; Providence, Deal; Rochester, Martin; Mobile, Stock.

By Brooklyn, from Newark, Garnier; St. Paul, Riggert; New Orleans, Kraft; Toronto, Herbert.

By Chicago, from San Francisco, Johnston; Toledo, Bronkie.

By St. Louis, from Denver, Hagerman.

By Philadelphia, from Nashville, Beck.

CLASS AA CLUBS CAN DRAFT NOW.

HOGAN LOSES OUT ON BOB MESSENGER.

Hen Berry, in Deep Disgust, Refuses to Put in Any Drafts—The Rule of the National Commission Changing Draft Method Scrambles Things Up.

The open season for the class AA leagues began yesterday.

Much of the value of the draft privilege was taken away, however, by the freak rule adopted this year by the National Commission. When the season opened yesterday neither Dillon nor Hap Hogan knew which of their own players had been drafted by the big leagues.

The rule of the National Commission this year is that the big league club winning the right to draft from a certain minor league club, can take any player it pleases, whether a draft had been put in previously or not.

Wherefore, Venice is due to lose one player to Brooklyn, but no one knows to a certainty which one Hap will lose. Consequently the Venice manager is unable to see in what position he will most need new blood from the lower class leagues.

Hap has intended all along to put in a draft for Bob Messenger of the Southern League, but he appears to have been beaten out in that regard by the St. Louis Americans. He will probably put in drafts for Cadman, a catcher of the Seattle club; Charley Schmidt, a catcher of the Mobile club.

The Angels will put in no drafts.

M'CREDIE PUTS IN MANY DRAFTS.

Pitcher Brown, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Catcher Kofora, Butte, Union Association, class C.

Pitcher Mays, Portland, Northwestern League, class B.

Drafts on the above players were sent in by the Portland management today as the class AA drafting season starts today. Practically all of the men Walter McCredie wanted were taken by the majors, either in the drafts placed on them one week ago, or by purchase prior to this time.

It will be noticed that there is but one class A in the list, Pitcher McLeary, who comes from Topeka, where Bill Rapps has been playing this year. The other men, with the exception of Pitcher Mays, who are little known in this section of the country, include a catcher, infielder and outfielder.

Mays has been showing so well lately that McCredie decided to take no chances on some other class AA club picking him up in the draft, and he will be given a chance with the Beavers in the spring if he is awarded to Portland.

The uncertainty of whether there will be a Northwestern League club in Portland again next year also kept the McCredies from drafting more men. They are well supplied with talent, as it is, as but one man was drafted from each club by the majors, leaving all of the others for next year, no matter what disposition is made of the colts.

Of the drafted players secured last year, there are two of them who have made good. One is Koree, drafted from the Des Moines club of the Western League, and the other is Hynes, who has been pitching good ball with the Colts. Bancroft is also a drafted player, having been secured from Superior, Wis., in 1911. Bill Rodgers was also secured in the draft from the Connecticut League.

BROOKLYN TO DRAFT HOSP.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As a result of the withdrawal by St. Louis of the right to draft a player from the Venice team, the privilege falls to Brooklyn. Although the management of the team was not ready to make a definite announcement tonight, it is probable that Brooklyn will exercise the draft right. In that case Hosp, the Venice shortstop, will be the player taken.

MITZE TO GO TO ST. LOUIS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Manager Mitze of Oaks was not in final list submitted by commission, but Secretary Cook of Oaks explains that it was likely an oversight, as Leavitt wired him only the other day that St. Louis had drafted Mitze and would take him.

L.A.A.C. FOOTBALL TEAM IS CALLED.

Capt. Mow Mitchell and Manager Bob Weaver, have issued the call for the L.A.A.C. football men and tonight there is to be a meeting at the club for the purpose of forming the squad for the coming season.

As the opening games of the club team's schedule are distant only a few days, it behooves all those who wish to be seen in the blue this season, to appear tonight.

Capt. Mitchell says that he is sure of having all of last season's veterans out this fall, as well as a number of last season's varsity men from Stanford, California and U.S.C. The recruits should materially strengthen the team, as they will probably make possible a first and second squad, thus giving the men more of a chance to get into active scrimmage practice.

HOT SHOT AT SACRAMENTO.

F. W. Trout of Venice, who has just returned from Sacramento, where he took part in the Pacific Coast three-day bluerock handicap tournaments during the State fair, reports that such heat prevailed last week as to nearly prostrate the marksmen. Trout won third place from the twenty-yard distance, but says the heat radiation often obscured the sights on gun barrels, and that he ruined his stomach by drinking ice water in sufficient quantities to furnish adequate perspiration.

An Election.

NEW OFFICERS OF W.A.A. AFTER VANDERBILT CUP.

FRANK A. GARBUTT was re-elected president of the W.A.A. yesterday at the annual meeting at the Athletic Club. Other officers elected for the ensuing year were: Earl Y. Boothe, secretary; W. E. Bush, treasurer; John S. Mitchell and P. E. Greer, vice-presidents; Leon T. Shettler racing manager.

Mr. Shettler, with the support of the other members of the board, intends to make a strong attempt to get the next Vanderbilt Cup race for Los Angeles. It has not been announced at which track it is proposed to run the race if secured, but it will be near Los Angeles.

UP TO THE VOTERS.

The question of the future of the boxing game at Venice is to be decided at the polls November 7, according to the action taken by the Venice Trustees last night, when they set that date for the election. Their action was the result of the presentation of a petition signed by seven hundred residents of the town. The outcome of the election is doubtful.

YOUNGSTER SETS UP NEW RECORD.

Paul Lisle, Jr., a little forty-seven-pound youngster hailing from Redondo Beach, set up a new record for boys of his age by diving from the rafters in the Ocean Park plunge, a distance of 42 ft. 9 ins., on Sunday afternoon.

Lisle is only 6 years old and has never had an instructor, but is absolutely fearless in the water. He has made a dive of forty-eight feet in practice and now wants to make the sixty-foot dive from the Ocean Park dance pavilion into the ocean.

MATHEWSON SHOWS AS A PLAYWRIGHT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At the Apollo Theater tonight Christie Mathewson, the famous pitcher of the New York Giants, made his debut as a playwright in collaboration with Rida Johnson Young. "Fair Play" is the name of the comedy with which "Matty" makes his bow as a dramatist. It is a lively four-act play which tells a story of baseball life and intrigue and has an underlying romantic interest. The principal characters are ball players.

A large audience approved of the bright lines and showed a great deal of enthusiasm over the big baseball scene of act three. In the cast of seventy are: William Courtenay, George Fawcett, Frank Craven, Ralph Stuart, Calvin Thomas and the Misses Lola Fisher and Ethel Stannard.

YANKS TO PLAY GIANTS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] If Manager John McGraw of the New York Nationals is willing, there will be a series of games at the polo grounds between the Giants and the New York Americans next spring before the championship season begins. So says Manager France Chance of the Yankees. Chance would like to play the Giants five games after both New York teams have trained in Texas.

Scandalous.

BAKERSFIELD PROMOTERS OF FIGHTS ARE PINCHED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ezra Rehfeld, one of the promoters of the Dalton-Booker fight, Dalton and Booker and Fritz Holland, Booker's trainer, were arrested today on complaint of Attorney Alfred Siemon, acting for the League of Law and Order, and were placed under bonds of $1000 each by Justice Flourney.

The charge is conspiracy to commit a felony, the felony being the fight scheduled for last Friday night, but which was postponed till next Thursday night, because of threats of Siemon and his associates to have the fighters and principals arrested in the middle of the contest.

Siemon said he would "keep the fighters pinched" all the time, for the purpose of preventing the fight being pulled off next Thursday night. Rehfeld says he will bring a suit for damages against the men who stopped Friday's fight.

WILLIE RITCHIE SIGNS TO FIGHT TOMMY MURPHY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—Negotiations for a fight between Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion, and "Harlem" Tommy Murphy in this city in November, made some progress tonight when Ritchie accepted the promoter's offer of $15,000. The exact date was not fixed. The match was planned for Thanksgiving Day but Ritchie would not say definitely when he would be ready. He will go east this week and expects to meet Leach Cross October 31. If this date is advanced to the middle of October, the Thanksgiving date may suit the champion.

There was some disagreement as to weight, Ritchie insisting on 135 pounds, while the promoter held out for 133. Ritchie said all previous champions with the exception of one or two naturally light men had fought at 135, and that the public would rather see a fighter at his best than have him enter the ring weakened by training. The point was not decided.

English Golfer.

HARRY VARDON HAS WON FORTUNE DURING VISIT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON (Mass.) Sept. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is stated today that Harry Vardon cleared up nearly a thousand dollars on his appearance last week at the Brookline Country Club in the national open championships.

Ray acknowledges that he finished $500 to the good. Besides he lost $600 in side bets that he would make or break sixty-nine while there. He and Ray with Reid will return to England with small fortunes as a result of their tour of eastern golf courses.

They will appear at Chicago in a foursome with Chick Evans and Warren K. Wood and receive appearance money for that, although the two amateurs will not. It is estimated that Vardon will leave America with $25,000 received for appearances and won in side bets, etc.

Tom Stevenson won $1000 in a bet at the tournament Saturday, taking ten to one odds against Ouimet. Five thousand dollars was put up in London against cable bets at two to one that the Britishers would win the championships.

American League.

MACKMEN WIN THE PENNANT.

Shut Out the Tigers in Two Fierce Games.

Stuffy McInnis Shows Up Very Well.

Mack Will Give Veterans a Holiday.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—Philadelphia won the pennant of the American League for this season and its fifth championship in the sixteen years' history of the organization by two victories today over Detroit. It was a day of triumphs for the home team, as the Detroit club was whitewashed in each contest, the scores being 4 to 0 and 1 to 0, not a fielding error marring the afternoon's work of Connie Mack's combination.

Bush held Detroit to eight scattered hits in the opening contest and fooled his opponents when opportunities were presented for scoring. Philadelphia scored two runs in the second inning. Baker singled and Dauss hit McInnis. Both runners moved up on Strunk's bunt and scored on the "double-squeeze" play when Barry was thrown out on a bunt. The other two tallies were secured by bunching hits in the third and fifth innings.

The one run needed to decide the issue in the second game was scored in the second inning. Dubuc gave McInnis a pass. The latter was forced by Walsh, who stole second base and tallied on Lapp's single to right field. Pennock twirled for two innings, during which Detroit got two hits and a pass. Plank pitched the last seven innings. He was in trouble in the third session, when, with two out, Crawford and Cobb each singled and Burns was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Plank then fanned Stanage. In the last six innings Detroit did not get a runner past first base. The scores:

MACK WILL GIVE VETERANS A REST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22. — Now that the Philadelphia club has won the pennant of the American League, preparations will at once be begun by Manager Mack to tune up his team for the world's series next month. The first move toward this end will be the easing up on the Athletics' players, all of whom will be given holidays from time to time until the final series against the New Yorks here on October 2, 3 and 4.

Manager Mack said tonight that he would at once start to put in substitutes.

"I will give some of the veterans a holiday tomorrow," he said. "Each day I will fill the places of some of them with young players until all of the men have had some holidays. By the time we reach Washington for a series which will start next Monday, I may have in an entire team of substitutes. This will depend upon whether I think the regulars will be benefited or otherwise by a lay-off by that time. I intend to travel to Boston and Washington with the team. The hard work of preparing for the world's series will be done in this city in the final series against New York."

For weeks hundreds of applications have been received by Business Manager John Shibe of the club for tickets for the world's series. All of these, however, have been returned to the senders. Now that the pennant has been won, another flood of applications is expected, but all will be turned back until the National Commission meets and announces the arrangements for the big games.

OAKLAND RECRUIT LEADS BATTERS.

W. CARLISLE STILL LEADS.

Walter Carlisle is having the time of his young life trying to stay in front of the procession of run-getters in the Coast League. At the present writing he is still in front, but by a slender margin, and if the wild Swede from San Francisco gets gay on the bases this week Walter is liable to have to take a back seat. Johnston crossed the platter four times last week, while Walter only counted three times and all of them in one game. Maggert was the big run-getter, trotting over the tureen on five separate and distinct occasions. The dope:

Carlisle, Tigers	103
Johnston, Seals	101
Maggert, Angels	98
Moran, Wolves	93
Leard, Oaks	93
Howard, Angels	91
Coy, Oaks	87

A NEW star springs into the limelight in the person of Musky, a recruit catcher belonging to Honus Mitze's gang, the same being the young gent who got up to bat for the first time in his young life in a big league game last Sunday and singled and then stole second, third and home.

Jess Baker hit fairly twice out of four times up last week and continues in front, while Lober remains at 321 with Speas, Doane, Bayless, Johnston and Maggert close behind him.

The most startling accomplishment of the week was the making of a new record by Chadbourne of Portland, who hit safely at least once in twenty-eight successive games, ending the slugging streak on Friday. He fattened his average considerably by making twelve hits in twenty-five trips to the plate last week.

Jimmy Shinn and Jimmy Lewis of the Sacs were very busy with their war clubs during the Oakland series, Shinn getting fourteen safeties out of thirty trips to the platter and Lewis ten out of twenty-five attempts.

Moran and Kenworthy of the Sacs were also very busy grabbing off sixteen hits out of thirty-seven tries and twelve hits out of twenty-nine respectively.

Here in Los Angeles recruits Schaller and Tobin of the Seals and recruit Goodwin of the Angels caused the official scorer the greatest amount of work. Schaller got seven hits in sixteen times to bat, Tobin four out of eleven and Goodwin six out of nineteen.

The averages:

Player and team—	A.	R.	B.H.	P.C.
Musky, Oakland	1	1	1	1.000

JOHNSTON IS STILL LEADER.

Jimmy Johnston of the Seals, the young gent who goes crazy every time he gets on the bases, sauntered past the century mark in stolen bases during the past week, making his total at this juncture read something like 101 pilfered sacks. Harl Maggert continues in second place, with 72, and Leard is third, with 65; but the real dingers on the bases during the past week were Jimmy Shinn of the Wolves and Howard of the Angels, who swiped six and five bases respectively. The figures:

Johnston, Seals	101
Leard, Oaks	65
Howard, Angels	60
Shinn, Sacs	54
Kenworthy, Sacs	48
Moore, Angels	46

Oh, Very Well.

GERMANS SAY THAT OUR METHODS WILL HELP THEM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The German Olympic Commission, which has been investigating the American athletic system for the last month, will sail for Berlin.

The commission, consisting of Carl Diem, general secretary, sixth Olympic games; Lieut. Walter von Reichenau, Dr. Martin Bener and Joseph Waltzer, visited and inspected every large athletic club and university in the East, South and Middle West. Copious notes on the methods and system in vogue for the development of track and field athletics were obtained and an exhaustive report containing the commission's observations and deductions will be filed with the German Olympic committee.

Herr Diem said tonight that the result of the tour could not fail to be of great value in the development of a German Olympic team for the 1916 games in Berlin.

"After seeing the perfect system which you have in this country," Diem said, "I can readily understand why American teams have won at every set of Olympic games to date. It is really marvelous and there is nothing like it at home. I hope, however, that with the help of Dr. Kraenzlein, who has been engaged as German athletic director, we shall be able to undertake the work of preparing our athletes upon modern lines, and thereby produce a formidable team by 1916. We have the material and now know how to get the best results."

Kraenzlein will sail with the commission and take up at once the formation of a corps of German athletic trainers, who will have direct control over club and university athletics. It is not likely that the former University of Pennsylvania athlete and record holder will attempt to train any of the German athletes personally.

Brains.

BILL CARRIGAN A MAN WHO USES HIS "DOME."

WILLIAM F. CARRIGAN, the new manager of the Red Sox, is essentially a product of New England, and his elevation to the managerial berth is a worthy tribute to a player who has long been recognized as one of the most brainy and sagacious in the ranks of professional ball players.

Bill Carrigan is a native of Maine. He was born in Lewiston, October 22, 1883, learned the rudiments of the game on the stubble fields about his native city, advanced to a greater degree of proficiency while a member of the Lewiston High School team, of which he was captain and then entered Holy Cross College at Worcester.

There Carrigan shone first as a football player. He was aggressive, strong and determined. For two years he played football at tackle, but he finally had to quit because of an injury received in a stubbornly contested game.

That injury sustained during his sophomore year, was really the starting of Carrigan's brilliant baseball career, for while he was far better than the average country lad as a ball player, it was not until his junior year at Holy Cross that he devoted himself entirely to baseball, although he had played in his first two years. Because nature endowed him with a heavy, stocky, pudgy physique he elected to try for the position of catcher, and that his wisdom, even as a young collegian, was well developed has been often demonstrated since.

HIS PROFESSIONAL CAREER.

Carrigan's professional baseball career, with the exception of a few months which were spent at Winthrop, Me., and later with the Toronto team of the Eastern League in 1907, where he was sent for a little seasoning, has been confined entirely to Boston. He is the veteran of the present team, preceding all the other members in point of service in a Boston uniform.

One of the youngest managers and admittedly one of the most brainy players in the game, Carrigan has been a consistently great backstop since his advent into major league baseball.

Even as a boy in knickerbockers, when he caught, pitched and played almost every position on the team, he gave promise of developing into a remarkable player some day, and when he concluded his studies at Lewiston High School a brilliant baseball future was predicted for him.

That he fulfilled all these prophecies was proven at Holy Cross, for in his senior year experienced scouts of a number of major league teams cast longing eyes in his direction.

Carrigan, himself, while attending the High School in his home city, had received flattering offers from managers of semi-professional teams, but his mother insisted that he should have a college education, and his father, John E. Carrigan, proprietor of a grocery store, was equally obdurate. William must first have an adequate education to fit himself for the battles of the world and then he could decide for himself.

By the time he had almost finished his studies at Holy Cross, however, Carrigan himself had experienced a change of heart, relative to entering baseball as a profession, and the baseball world, and particularly Boston, nearly lost a brilliant player in consequence.

Besieged with offers to join professional teams, Carrigan steadfastly refused until in February, 1906, it was reported that Fred Lake, then managing the Lowell, New England league team, had signed him for his team and that Carrigan would report at the conclusion of his college term. This rumor Carrigan vehemently denied, and reported to the college authorities that he had no intention of becoming a professional ball player.

Carrigan was a great college player—his playing had bordered on the phenomenal. As a batter he averaged well over .300. His fielding, too, was superb, his average for the college season ranking well up with the catchers of the larger college teams.

It was somewhat of a surprise, therefore, when in view of his continued refusals of flattering offers to join other big league terms, he signed a contract with the Boston American League team, and reported for duty at the completion of his college course.

Just how Carrigan was made to change his mind, or what pressure was brought to bear has long since been forgotten, if indeed those details were ever made public. However, Carrigan joined the ranks of the Boston team, and in thirtyseven games that season he batted for 211.

In the post season series with the New York Giants in 1909 his ingenuity and sagacity were responsible in a great measure for the defeat of New York, and when these same teams, after winning the championships of their respective leagues last fall, prepared for the world's series, it was to Carrigan and Wagner that their teammates looked for inside knowledge of the peculiarities and handicaps of the Giants.

Of how much assistance Carrigan's knowledge was in both undertakings is now a matter of history.

Despite his years of active service, during which he has suffered knocks and bruises, sprains and breaks, he has withal been the same player. A nightmare to the opposing pitcher in tight places, and a monument of strength to his own pitchers and fielders, Carrigan has always been a hard worker, and consequently of invaluable assistance to the team.

Bill Carrigan, not yet 30 years old, has proved his sagacity off as well as on the playing field. One of a good-sized family, he has ever been frugal.

BERKELEY BRIEFS.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Sept. 20.—According to the revised schedule of football games just issued by Manager Donald, the U.S.C.-freshman game is changed from October 8 to October 11. The moving of the date from Wednesday to Saturday will add materially to the "gate."

Because of the refusal of the Olympic Club to allow more than three substitutes in games with the varsity, all dates with that organization have been cancelled. The chief aim of these preliminary games is to allow every man who shows ability, an opportunity to prove his worth. To cut down the number eligible for competition in such games means a serious handicap to the development of a varsity. Other games are being arranged to take the place of those announced with the Olympic Club.

Prof. S. J. Hunkin of orthopedic surgery has resigned from the department of medicine, to resume his private practice. He has been a member of the faculty since 1898.

Twelve national fraternities have announced conventions in Berkeley and San Francisco in 1915. A number of others are forming plans to convene here during the fair. California fraternities will keep open house in 1915.

"Jimmie" Todd, varsity quartermiler, tore off a lap on the oval yesterday that was the speediest since the days of '94. The distance, 317 yards, was negotiated in 35 seconds. Another "Jimmie" is doing some good work this fall. He is "Jimmie" Threlkeld of Los Angeles. His form and speed on the short events have improved since last year and he has the earmarks of a "comer."

A whole school of water polo enthusiasts are practicing daily in the swimming pool. Forty candidates are out for the swimming team, which is to compete in the P.A.A. contests in San Francisco, September 26.

Isben's "Vickings of Helgeland" will receive its first production in America at the Greek Theater. The play was first performed in English by Ellen Terry in London. Its presentation by the English Club will mark a high water point in student dramatics.

TO ESTIMATE HAULAGE COST.

"When the efficiency experts attack the haulage question," states R. E. Paris, manager of sales of the Reo Motor Truck Company, "and the figures are made public, there will be just as big surprises as were produced when the 'bricklayer investigation' was published. But in reality few manufacturers or sellers have attempted to standardize their delivery problem, or to compute the cost.

"We have always found this so, and have made many sales as a result by getting down to brass tacks, working out the individual problems and showing how money could be saved. Scores of firms have been simply amazed to learn how much their transportation was actually costing them.

"The reason why truck haulage in most instances is so much cheaper than horse keep is that there are a score of small savings that only a scientific investigation reveals. For instance, a five-ton truck—which actually does the work of five and one-half teams—is housed in a garage, say, twenty feet square. Ten horses occupy five times the amount of space for stalls, and ten times that space for feed. In other words, interest must be paid upon a housing equipment fifteen times as great as where a single truck is used.

"Pay of drivers is another deceptive item. One truck with two men can do the labor of five teams—but not of ten men, since loading must be a fixed item. In points like these the factory or sales department expert can give valuable information. Then again the amortization (setting aside each year of a sum sufficient to replace the truck or trucks at the end of their usefulness) is something that it requires experience to gauge accurately, since the life of a truck depends largely upon the character of the service it must perform.

"The deadly parallel that results when we line up horse charges against truck charges item for item—Total investment, average per trip, depreciation, amortization, second-hand values, fuel against feed, and so on down the list, is the clinching argument. Every day we are opening the eyes of transportation firms and others with our literature on the subject."

STRIKE DUE TODAY.

Six Thousand Men Likely to Be Affected in Colorado—Operators Say Work Will Go On.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TRINIDAD (Colo.) Sept. 22.—On the eve of the strike of the United Mine Workers of America in district 15, Southern Colorado, called for tomorrow, when 6000 men will be affected, the operators confidently declared tonight that they expected to operate their mines Tuesday, and International Vice-President Frank J. Hayes of the United Mine Workers of America, with equal confidence, asserted that the call would be generally obeyed.

"We have already signed agreements with twelve independent companies," added the strike leader.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Though New York outhit Cleveland more than two to one today, the visitors took the second game of the series, 5 to 4. What the Naps lacked in hits they made up in passes, nine men walking to first. Three of the passes were converted into runs. New York had many chances to win, but after getting runners on the bases could not get them around. The score:

ALEXANDER SHUTS OUT THE CUBS IN FIRST GAME.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Chicago and Philadelphia wound up their season's series today by dividing a double-header. Alexander, who was routed by the locals in the first game on Sunday, was good enough to shut them out in the opener today, timely batting off Humphries giving Philadelphia a 2-to-0 victory. Good control by Pierce and hard batting gave Chicago the second game, 5 to 1. Chalmers proved ineffective. The result leaves the locals three games behind Philadelphia for second place. The scores:

BILLIARD NOTES.

Kempner won from Morse last night in the Brunswick amateur handicap balkline tournament by the decisive score of 250 to 99, making a high run of thirty-four, and average of nearly seven for the thirty-seven innings. Morse was fo play 140 to 250 by Kempner.

Robinson and Andrews are matched for tonight, Ellis and GeBauer tomorrow night, Richards and Morse Thursday, and Kempner and Celaye Friday evening.

George Banks tonight commences a series of games of pocket billiards at Hogan's room, playing any applicant drawn by chance, and paying $5 to the winner, if defeated. He announces that such matches will be played every Tuesday, Friday and Sunday evenings.

CATCHES BIG TUNA.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 22.—Mrs. J. V. Eliot, a prominent Pasadena society matron, is the first woman to become a member of the Coronado Tuna Club, recently organized, which now has a membership of seven. The only qualification necessary for membership is to catch a tuna; there are no initiation fees, dues, constitution or by-laws. Members wear a novel little gold button, one of which Mrs. Eliot is now proudly displaying to envious feminine friends. Mrs. Eliot spent the entire day Saturday fishing, and the party returned in the evening with a total catch of 115 fish, including the seventy-pound tuna which Mrs. Eliot landed, and a ninety-pound shark, also the victim of her skill with rod and reel.
